NORTHCOTT EXECUTED

Father Accused of Killing Collins Lad in Confession; Letter Denies Guilt

BY FLOYD J. HEALEY
"Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Oct. 2. (Exclusive)—Gordon Stewart Northcott paid today for the lives he took—at least three, and probably more boys by going to death on the gallows, leaving behind a welter of confusing and accusatory notes.

All the bravado and dramatic display of the last three days left him as he started his march to the fatal thirteen steps and he had to be assisted to the scaffold. His eyes were bandaged at his own request. It was the first time in the history of San Quentin this has been done.

His father, Cyrus G. Northcott, took charge of the body, and it was cremated this afternoon in Berkeley.

MOTHER DAZED

His mother, Sarah Louise Northcott, serving a life term for confessed complicity in his crimes, sat dazedly in the recreation room of the women's quarters, looking out with unseeing eyes upon the bay while 140 persons watched Northcott go to his death. There was one deviation from her usual conduct in the recreation room. Ordinarily she sews [illegible]. Today she did not sew.

All her protestations on his behalf went for naught, as did the exhortations of two other mothers, Mrs. Christine Collins and Mrs. Nelson C. Winslow, for the word from Northcott that would definitely settle in their minds about the fate of their sons. They remained inside the prison grounds until after the execution and then turned sadly away. Mrs. Winslow went with the [illegible] her two boys, Lewis and Nelson, were killed and she will never see them again. Mrs. Collins clung to the belief her son Walter lives.

Northcott left with the warden a "confession" and several notes to be opened after his death. In the confession he accused his father of killing the Collins boy and Sanford of killing one of the Winslow boys while he admitted killing the other, as well as Jose Gonzales.

While accusing his father, in another note he pours out a seeming [illegible] of love and shouts his father's innocence.

He accuses his mother of complete knowledge of all the crimes and in another note swears she knew nothing.

SUICIDE ATTEMPTED

Earnshaw Wings Red Birds

Athletics Crush Cards, 6-1, to Nab Second Straight Victory in Series

Macks Train Howitzers on Flint Rhem's Pitching to Get Early Lead

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

SHIBE PARK (Philadelphia) Oct. 2. (AP)—Again giving a perfect demonstration of how to recognize old man opportunity and accord him a handsome welcome Connie Mack's Athletics subdued the St. Louis Cardinals today for the second straight time and continued to move rapidly toward another world's baseball championship.

Picking up where Bob Grove left off in the opening game, but adding considerably more fireballing to the proceedings, big George Earnshaw shot the Red Birds down on the wing while his long-range artillery support knocked Charles Flint Rhem out of the box and gave the Athletics a decisive triumph by the score of 6 to 1.

Before another capacity crowd of 32,295 roaring cash customers who contributed to a "gate" of $152,735, exactly duplicating the figures for the first game, Earnshaw overpowered the Cards in decisive fashion, allowing six hits altogether, but only two in the last seven innings, and bagging a total of eight strikeout victims with his rifle-shot speed and baffling curves.

WATKINS HITS HOMER

The only Cardinal run was due to a homer over the right-field wall in the second inning by young George Watkins, in his series debut at bat, after which Earnshaw bore down and easily tamed the St. Louis flock despite a brand of support that fell far below the sparkling standard of the Mackmen yesterday.

Meanwhile the Athletics again cashed in on every opportunity to score. They collected only seven hits altogether, but all of them were gathered off the delivery of Rhem in less than four innings and all of them figured in the run making.

Again it was the heavy artillery that did the damage and struck another severe blow to the hopes of the Red Birds.

Mickey Cochrane, a home-run hero of the first game, led the big barrage with his second successive circuit clout, in the first inning, after which Al Simmons, Jimmy Foxx and Jimmy Dykes, with the helpful bat of Bing Miller, fired the big shots that brought about the downfall of the ill-fated Rhem.

The combination of these heavy howitzers on attack, with Earnshaw's sharpshooting on the de-

THREE DIE, FIVE HURT IN TORNADO

Freak Colorado Twister Rips Path Quarter of Mile Wide Near Pueblo

PUEBLO (Colo.) Oct. 2. (AP)—Three persons were killed, one is missing and five were injured in a freak tornado which swept a narrow path near Fowler, thirty miles east of here, late today. The tornado was about a quarter of a mile wide, reports tonight said, but its originating point and end could not be learned.

The dead are: G. W. Lackey, Mrs. John P. Downing, both of Fowler, and Collie Noble, 58 years of age, of Manzanola, Colo.

J. W. Lawler of Fowler is not accounted for and is believed a victim of the storm.

Mrs. Downey and Lackey were in an automobile in the path of the storm. They sought shelter in a small building near the highway. The storm flattened the building, crushing them both.

Noble was a ranch foreman. He took refuge in a ranch house and the house collapsed, injuring him fatally. He died within a few hours at a Rock Ford hospital.

Cardinal Sees Morals Slump

NEW YORK, Oct. 2. (Exclusive) No less marked than the economic depression is a growing moral depression, the effects of which are not as keenly noted as are those of the materialistic hard times, Cardinal Hayes today told members of the Guild of Catholic Lawyers attending the third annual red mass at St. Andrew's Church.

"A stage that is reeking in filth" is one of the evidences of moral depression, the cardinal declared, adding that the nation is not nearly as sensitive to it as it is to the depression in business and industry.

Gunboat Turns Withering Fire on Marauders in Yangtze River Attack

SHANGHAI, Oct. 2. (AP)—Red marauders attacked the U.S.S. Luzon, flagship of the American Yangtze River patrol, with field guns and machine guns near Yochow, Hunan Province, today but were repulsed when the Luzon opened fire with her three-inch guns.

Rear-Admiral Thomas T. Craven, commander of the American Yangtze patrol, was aboard the Luzon, which was not hit by the rebel cannon fire. The attack came from the shore—a hail of missiles from field pieces and machine guns. The Americans also brought machine guns into action to supplement the fire from the larger pieces. The Reds were silenced.

This is the second time the Luzon has drawn rebel fire in recent weeks. She was attacked by rebel field guns and trench mortars twenty-five miles above Wusueh, Hupeh, September 16, fighting her way past the marauders in a forty-minute engagement.

Red attacks upon river craft were reported steadily increasing. American gunboats have been subjected to nine such onslaughts in the last three months.

FIVE DIE AS BUILDING FALLS

Seven Other Occupants of Rooming-house Hurt as Structure Collapses While They Sleep

NEW YORK, Oct. 2. (AP)—The sagging foundations of a Greenwich Village rooming-house collapsed with a roar today and the timbers crashed in on twelve sleeping tenants, killing five and seriously injuring seven.

Two of the dead were women. The building was a rooming-house for French and Belgian residents. Examination indicated the collapse was caused by undermining of the foundations during the demolition of four buildings adjoining.

Dist.-Atty. Crain ordered the arrest of all officials of the Fein Wrecking Company, which had razed the four buildings.

The first person carried out of the wreckage was Mrs. Marie Sargose, 70 years of age, the landlady. She has a broken arm and possible internal injuries. All her roomers, she said were, abed.

Then in quick succession police recovered the bodies of Frank Bourdon, Carlo Tornaghi and an unidentified man. The injured include Edgar Auenin, Emil Fouet, Frank Nougas, Mark Urcher and George Dando.

Last of all was discovered the unconscious form of Margaret Cortaide, the landlady's granddaughter. She died before reaching a hospital. Mrs. Everist Cortaide, her mother, was found dead under a heavy beam.

Bixby Will Head Investigation

Gov. Young Tells Pasadenan to Sift Gambling Phase of Professional Sport

Campbell-Baer Fatal Bout Has Echo in Grand Jury Report to Capitol

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 2. (AP)—Allen B. Bixby of Pasadena, director of the Department of Military and Veterans' Affairs, was asked today by Gov. Young to make a careful investigation of the professional boxing situation in California. The Governor's action was announced in a statement issued after he received recommendations on the subject from the San Francisco grand jury.

Bixby's investigation will be made, the Governor said, "to determine what steps, if any, may be taken to correct the evils heretofore connected with professional boxing, and to make such recommendations as may appear wise and expedient." The athletic commission is a part of Bixby's department.

GAMBLING CHARGED

Assertions of the grand jury that boxing is "prostituted by the alliance therewith of gambling cliques," if correct, unquestionably point to the doom of legalized boxing, the Governor declared, unless the abuses charged can be corrected.

"Lovers of clean sport will not tolerate a condition where it is to the interest of the gambling fraternity to promote or permit crookedness or brutality in boxing contests," the Governor's statement said.

KEEPS TRAUNG

The San Francisco grand jury action was brought about by the death of Frankie Campbell, boxer, after a recent bout with Max Baer, Livermore heavyweight. Baer was absolved of blame by the court.

Gov. Young declined to request the resignation of Boxing Commissioner Charles Traung as recommended by the grand jury, "until a full and fair investigation shall demonstrate this request of the grand jury is reasonable and fair." He pointed out Traung is an appointee of former Gov. Richardson.

NAPLES, Oct. 2. (AP)—The activity of Vesuvius was increasing tonight, but with no immediate danger anticipated.

The crater had become enlarged 100 feet and a stream of lava twenty feet wide was flowing at the rate of fifteen feet a minute down what is known as the "Infernal Valley." This stream passes to the south of the town of Tersiglio.

Although statements from the Vesuvius Observatory have reassured the population, there are many who point to the fact that the direction of the lava flow is the same as in the catastrophes of 1834 and 1909.

HOOVER SCORES BUSINESS COWARDS IN ADDRESS

Bankers Told America Must Dig Out of World Depression by Blazing Own Trail

The full text of President Hoover's address before the American Bankers' Association appears on Page 13, Part I of this edition of The Times.

PUBLIC AUDITORIUM (Cleveland) Oct. 2. (AP)—President Hoover tonight told the American Bankers' Association that although the current business depression is world-wide, America must go forward independently to recovery and maintain its standard of living.

At the same time, the Chief Executive replied directly to political opponents "who resent the notion that things will ever get better and who wish to enjoy our temporary misery."

"To recount to these persons," he said, "the progress of co-operation between the people and the government in amelioration of this situation, or to mention that we are suffering less than other countries, or that savings are piling up in the banks, or that our people are paying off installment purchases, that abundant capital is now pressing for new ventures and employment, only inspires the unkind retort that we should fix our gaze upon the unhappy features of the decline."

ON RADIO HOOK-UP

The President, making his only major address of recent months just a few weeks before the fall elections, spoke in the large auditorium in which in 1924 Calvin Coolidge was nominated for the Presidency by the Republican National Convention.

His audience was composed largely of bankers and their wives drawn from all parts of the nation for the fifty-sixth annual convention of the association, who had been given preference in the admission tickets to the auditorium seating more than 10,000 persons. Amplifiers, however, carried the address to a supplementary auditorium behind the stage, where a second gathering heard the address, in addition to those who listened in on the national radio hook-ups.

DEFENDS STANDARDS

Retorting in the course of his address to a suggestion in bankers' discussion that American standards of living be lowered, Mr. Hoover said, "To that I emphatically disagree."

"I do not believe it represents the views of this association," he added, "not only do I not accept such a theory, but, on the contrary, the whole purpose and ideal of this system which is distinctive of our whole country is to increase the standard of living by the adoption and the conveniently widening diffusion of invention and discovery among the whole of our people.

"Any retreat from our American philosophy of constantly increasing standards of living becomes a retreat into perpetual unemployment and the acceptance of a cesspool of poverty for some large part of our people."

NEED NOT WAIT

"Because the present depression is world-wide and because its causes were world-wide," he said, "does not require that we should wait upon the recovery of the rest of the world. . . . We are able in considerable degree to free ourselves of world influence and make a large measure of independent recovery because we are so remarkably self-contained. Because of this, while our economic system is subject to the shock of world influences, we should be able in large measure to readjust ourselves. . . .

"I have never believed that our form of government could satisfactorily solve economic problems by direct action—could successfully conduct business institutions. The government can and must cure abuses. What the government can do best is to encourage and assist in the creation and development of institutions controlled by our citizens and evolved by themselves

Guns Thunder Official Salute and Rain of Ticker Tape Falls on Procession

CLEVELAND, Oct. 2. (AP)—In an atmosphere reminiscent of his 1928 campaign days President Hoover came here today to discuss before the American Bankers' Association tonight the business problems of the nation.

Along crowd-lined streets with a mounted military escort leading the procession, the President and Mrs. Hoover rode in an open car. Ticker tape fluttered from windows, draping over their automobile, the Presidential salute of twenty-one guns boomed and many applauded as the President passed slowly along. Smilingly he lifted his silk hat time after time, and Mrs. Hoover, wearing a large corsage bouquet, waved her handkerchief.

Shortly after his arrival the President was the guest of 250 bankers and business men at an informal luncheon at which no speeches were made, while the first lady was entertained by the Women's City Club.

NOTABLES AT LUNCHEON

On the right of the President at the luncheon sat James R. Garfield, former Secretary of the Interior and son of the former President, while to Mr. Hoover's left sat Joseph R. Nutt, Cleveland banker and treasurer of the Republican National Committee.

About the President also were grouped Postmaster-General Brown, Newton D. Baker, former Secretary of War and a member of the President's law enforcement commission; John G. Lonsdale, outgoing president of the American Bankers' Association; Harris Creech, president of the Cleveland Trust Company; Samuel Mather, Cleveland philanthropist, and Mayor Marshall.

In the afternoon, Mrs. Hoover again rejoined the President, and together they were taken on an automobile tour for two hours. They dined quietly with friends before going to the auditorium for the address.

HIGH POINTS IN ADDRESS OF PRESIDENT TO BANKERS

We have had a severe shock and there has been disorganization in our economic system which has temporarily checked the march of prosperity. But the fundamental assets of the nation, the education, intelligence, virility and the spiritual strength of our 120,000,000 people have remained unimpaired.

The depression is world-wide. Its causes and its effects lie only partly in the United States. A perhaps even larger immediate cause of our depression has been the effect upon us from the collapse in prices following overproduction of important raw materials, mostly in foreign countries.

Because the present depression is world-wide and because its causes were world-wide, does not require that we should wait upon the recovery of the rest of the world. We can make a very large degree of recovery independently of what may happen elsewhere.

We are able in considerable degree to free ourselves of world influences and make a large measure of independent recovery because we are so remarkably self-contained.

. . . I have always been, and I remain, an unquenchable believer in the resistless, dynamic power of American enterprise. . . . We have known a thousand temporary setbacks, but the spirit of this people will never brook defeat.

We would need have less concern about what to do in bad times if we discovered and erected in good times further safeguards against the excesses which lead to these depressions.

The income of a large part of our people is not reduced by the depression, but it is affected by unnecessary fears and pessimism, the result of which is to slacken the consumption of goods and discourage enterprise. Any recession in American business is but a temporary halt in the prosperity of a great people.

What the government can do best is to encourage and assist in the creation and development of institutions controlled by our citizens and evolved by themselves from their own needs and their own experience and directed in a sense of a trusteeship of public interest.

Proper co-operation among our people in public interest, and continuation of such institutional growths, strengthen the whole foundation of the nation, for self-government outside of political government is the truest form of self-government. It is in this manner that these problems should be met and solved.

We shall need mainly to depend upon our own strong arm for recovery, as other nations are in greater difficulty than we.

from their own needs and their experience and directed in a sense of trusteeship of public interest. The Federal Reserve is such an institution.

URGES STABILITY

"Without intrusion the government can sometimes give and secure leadership and serve to bring together divergent elements and secure co-operated in development of ideas, measures, and institutions. That is a reinforcement of our individualism. It does not cripple the initiative and enterprise of our people by the substitution of government."

Turning to the possibility of new legislation, Mr. Hoover asserted that an inquiry "might develop that our system of taxes upon capital gains directly encourages inflation by strangling the free movement of land and securities." He also expressed a belief that the railroads have been handicapped by some provisions of the Transportation Act.

"With wider public vision the railways could be straightened into a greater balance wheel of stability," he said. "We have need to consider all of our economic legislation, whether banking, utilities or agriculture, or anything else, from the point of view of its effect upon business stability."

AUDITORIUM PACKED

The auditorium was crowded almost to capacity an hour before the President ascended the platform.

The entrance of the Chief Executive and his wife was the signal for loud handclapping. The band played "Hail To the Chief." After being presented by John G. Lonsdale of St. Louis, retiring president of the Bankers' Association, the audience applauded President Hoover for more than a minute.

The President began his address in a rapid but firm tone and a little later slowed down the speed of his delivery.

REPEATED APPLAUSE

His manuscript was placed on a pedestal slightly above the microphones, making it unnecessary for him to alternate his gaze downward and then upward. The first applause greeted his declaration that "No one can occupy the high office of President and conceivably be other than completely confident of the future of the United States."

A wave of laughter and then handclapping started immediately afterward when he replied to those critics who, he said, "resent the notion that things will ever get better and who wish to enjoy our temporary misery."

The applause resumed when he said, despite these resentments, he is "an unquenchable believer in the resistless, dynamic power of American enterprise," and again with the declaration the banker "is now the economic guide, philosopher and friend of his customers, and his philosophy can dampen our enthusiasm and equally it can lift our courage and hope."

BANKERS VOTE FOR COUNTY-WIDE BRANCHES

CLEVELAND (O.) Oct. 2. (AP)—The fifty-sixth annual convention of the American Bankers' Association closed here today after voting approval of community-wide and county-wide branch banking.

The branch-banking resolution was a departure from the association's long-standing policy of frowning upon the practice. The delegates voted down a resolution to strike out the clause recommending county-wide branch banking and adopted the resolution as it was originally drafted.

Also at its closing session the association heard I. Kent, director of the Bankers' Trust Company of New York, strike back verbally at the Senate lobby investigation committee which questioned his views on the tariff last year.

Kent, who criticised the Senate and Congress for delaying action on the tariff bill, declared "some acceleration was given to the present depression by the long delay in tariff legislation which caused great uncertainty in business, both in America and abroad."

Speaking of the Senate lobby investigation committee, Kent said: "Attempts to tear down the dignity of American citizenship behind he cloak of immunity should be subject to impeachment even in a Senatorial body."

Rome C. Stephenson of South Bend, Ind., newly elected president of the association, in his inaugural speech told delegates the worker "should seek protection against unemployment in a savings account and not in seeking a government dole."

ployees for lunch, the President found Euclid avenue a jostling lane of people peering down the street as his procession drew near.

Along the same route Abraham Lincoln had paraded in 1861 as he went to Washington for his inauguration as President. Since that time fifteen others who have occupied the White House have visited Cleveland, but this was the first welcome extended a Chief Executive since Woodrow Wilson spoke here in 1916 in defense of his policy of neutrality in the World War.

Passing from the station into the business section, the applause steadily became greater, and as the procession reached Public Square a mass of people had jammed every inch of room awaiting the coming of the President.

In order to reach the capital early tomorrow so that he will have three days there before departing Sunday night for Boston and then King's Mountain, in the South, Mr. Hoover arranged for his special train to leave immediately after the conclusion of his address.

REDS BATTLE POLICE IN EFFORT TO REACH HALL

CLEVELAND, Oct. 2. (AP)—A parade of Communists, estimated by police to number 600, was broken up here tonight when it attempted to break away from a police escort and head for Public Hall, where President Hoover was addressing the annual convention of the American Bankers' Association.

James Kehoe, a fireman on traffic duty, was slugged and taken to a hospital, possibly in serious condition. Several other persons were reported victims of clubs or fists, but it is not believed they were badly hurt. Three women were knocked down in the rush. One youth was arrested.

LOS ANGELES RANKS HIGH IN BUILDING

Construction Total Here Exceeded in Nation Only by Greater New York

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2. (Exclusive)—Los Angeles was surpassed solely by Greater New York in construction of buildings during July and August. Only the boroughs of Brooklyn and Manhattan exceeded Southern California's greatest city in the building program.

The estimated construction, according to the Bureau of Labor statistics, for Los Angeles in August was $6,512,867. Manhattan led with more than $13,000,000 while Brooklyn was second with more than $7,000,000.

During the last three months Los Angeles has steadily forged ahead despite the predictions that building would drop off during the so-called depression. In July more than $2,800,000 worth of residential buildings providing homes for 936 families were slated for the City of the Angels. Residential buildings at an estimated cost of more than $2,341,000 housing 811 families were slated for the Southern California metropolis during August.

Nonresidential building for Los Angeles ran to more than $2,164,000 in July and $3,357,000 for August, giving the city a total of estimated construction amounting to more than $5,000,000 for July and greater than $6,000,000 for August.

Edison Takes Ground School Flying Lesson

VALLEY STREAM (N. Y.) Oct. 2 (AP)—Assen Jordanoff, airplane pilot and designer, returned here tonight after a flight to Menlo Park, N. J., where he gave Thomas A. Edison his first lesson in ground school aeronautics.

Observers who saw Jordanoff take off on the trip believed Mr. Edison would go for a flight, but the pilot said the inventor confined his studies to theory and even turned the tables on his instructor by holding forth on inventions for seeing in fog.

Discussing flying in fog, Mr. Jordanoff said an "artificial eye" which could penetrate the mist seemed the only solution of safety problems. Mr. Edison replied:

"Thus far we have converted sound into light and light into sound. There is no reason for not being able to solve the artificial eye."

NAVY SHIP SENDS CALL FOR CONVOY

Two Vessels Dispatched to Help Montcalm in Trouble Off Charleston

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2. (AP)—The destroyer flagship Concord and the steamship Orbita tonight were fighting through heavy seas to the assistance of the U.S.S. Montcalm, naval station ship at Guantanamo, Cuba, which messaged for help from a point 500 miles southeast of Charleston, S. C., late this afternoon.

The Concord in a message to the Navy Department late tonight said rough weather would prevent her reaching the Montcalm before dark tomorrow.

The commandant of the Sixth Naval District at Charleston advised the department he had been informed by the Orbita, carrying mail for Europe, she also was heading for the naval vessel and would stand by to take off the crew if necessary. The position of the Orbita or the time she was expected to reach the Montcalm were not given.

The Montcalm, a small ship, was proceeding from Guantanamo to Norfolk, Va., when she ran into heavy seas and radioed for a convoy. Her message was picked up by the Tropical Radio station at Miami and relayed to the department here.

The Concord, en route from Newport, R. I., to Charleston with the destroyer squadron of the scouting fleet, of which she is the flagship, was immediately ordered to proceed to the Montcalm. Department officials do not believe the latter vessel is in any danger.

FORD LAYS STONE FOR NEW GERMAN PLANT

COLOGNE (Germany) Oct. 2. (AP) The corner-stone of the new Ford automobile factory here was laid this noon by Henry Ford himself, who amused the assembled dignitaries by removing his overcoat in order to seize the trowel and put the stone in place in a workmanlike manner. Many guests were present, including Mayor Adenauer.

WHEELBARROW TREK FINISHED BY VETERAN

BOSTON, Oct. 2. (AP)—Ralph E. Smith of Moline, Ill., who left that city, July 2, last, pushing a wheelbarrow across the country to the American Legion convention which opens here next week, arrived in Boston today. He was greeted by a group of Legionnaires.

Election Bet Losses Decreed Not Deductible

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2. (Exclusive)—An attempt by Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic National Executive Committee, to deduct $1750 election bet losses from his income in computing his Federal income taxes was revealed today in the records of the United States Board of Tax Appeals.

After a bitter fight lasting a couple of years, during which the Treasury sought to collect from Mr. Shouse an asserted income tax deficiency of more than $4440, compromise has been made fixing his unpaid tax bill at $1218.

Mr. Shouse contended he should be allowed to deduct his election bet losses from his taxable income because if he had won his gains would have been properly taxable. The Treasury, however, refused to countenance the losses "since they were the result of an illegal transaction."

INDIANS ON RAMPAGE ON PERUVIAN BORDER

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 2. (AP)—Peruvian Tuchauas Indians have been on a rampage on the frontier of the January River region for several weeks, killing, robbing and carrying off persons from the Brazilian side, says an agency dispatch from Manaos. The reason for the Indian activity has not been learned. The dispatch said an organized relief party attacked the Indians and rescued nine Brazilians, including one girl.

FIRST LADY MAY RULE FUNCTIONS

Indications Are She Will Not Have Social Secretary

Two Women Given Vacation Fail to Return

Mrs. Hoover Believed Ready for Full Season

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2. (AP)—The possibility that Mrs. Herbert Hoover may choose to steer her own ship of state functions, instead of being guided by a social secretary, has become a subject of speculation in social Washington.

Many wisps point to such a solution of the present situation.

Miss Mary Randolph, White House social secretary during the past winter, resigned early in the spring. All summer long the White House had no social secretary. Miss Helen Greene, a Stanford University friend, came to Washington, but it was announced that she was to take the places of Mrs. Hoover's two private secretaries, Miss Mildred Hall and Miss Ruth Fessler, when they were on vacations.

VACATION SEASON PAST

The vacation season is well past and Miss Greene still lingers. The watchful are beginning to wonder if that does not mean her position is to be continued permanently with no vacancy existing for the woman expert in Washington's intricate social usages and diplomatic red tape employed for several administrations past to guide the White House hostess through the maze of manners.

It has been pointed out it would be quite "in character" for Mrs. Hoover to dispense with a social secretary and go back to the simpler scheme of an earlier day when White House hospitality reflected only the spirit of the hostess.

She has, on occasion, dispensed with the liveried chauffeur and driven her own car. She has seized upon opportunities to appear informally with her own friends, dispensing with the close watch of the secret service.

The tentative social schedule for the coming season is in process of formulation, but no sign of a special social secretary to arbitrate it has yet appeared. It is generally understood Mrs. Hoover is free to choose whether she shall accept such a service, though there are those who argue it would be impossible to run the heavy social program without one.

INNOVATIONS PLANNED

Under previous administrations the President's wife had but one secretary, the authority on social usage, paid by the government. But Mrs. Hoover's varied interests have commanded the services of two others, not salaried by the government.

Early in the social scheme the Hoovers planned innovations in the official program of state functions, increasing the number of functions to include more groups; cutting down their size to make them more informal and to give guests a better opportunity to get acquainted with each other.

The deaths of Secretary Good and Chief Justice Taft, the trip to Florida and Mrs. Hoover's injury greatly curtailed this program. But now, after a summer spent largely at the Rapidan camp, Mrs. Hoover is said to be in the best of health and spirits and apparently ready to swing into a full official social season.

And her friends say she will be quite capable of engineering it herself with the aid of a young woman accustomed to carrying out her ideas back in the S-street days.

TUTTLE NOT FOR STATE DRY ACTION

Candidate Says He Would Not Approve Measure to Enforce Prohibition

NEW YORK, Oct. 2. (AP)—Charles H. Tuttle, Republican candidate for Governor of New York, said today if elected he will not approve a State-wide law "following the provisions of the Volstead Act." His statement answered a question put by Gov. Roosevelt in an address at the Democratic State convention last week.

Mr. Tuttle gave three reasons for his stand:

First, he said, the United States Supreme Court has held the Constitution and laws of the United States are as much a part of the law of every State as its own local laws and constitution.

Second, he called attention to the State Public Nuisance Act, which furnishes "immediate and effective means of dealing with resorts where crime and vice breed upon the illicit sale of liquor."

Third, he favored enactment of legislation which would give to counties or other political subdivisions "full power within their own borders to use their local courts and police in the enforcement of prohibition."

Elderly Farmer Slays Minister

SEARCY (Ark.) Oct. 2. (AP)—Rev. M. S. Mason, 50 years of age, Springfield (Mo.) evangelist, was shot and killed last night by John Miller, 75-year-old farmer, who surrendered.

The slaying occurred at the home of Miller's son in the Bethel Grove community in which the minister had been a guest while conducting a revival. No motive was revealed.

TRAINING GIVEN DRY PERSONNEL

Picked Agents Finish Course at Washington

Men Return Home to Teach Brother Officers

Three Results Expected by Director Woodcock

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2. (AP)—Lessons learned by a corps of picked prohibition agents in a month's schooling at headquarters here are now being taught to the rank and file of the enforcement organization throughout the country.

The thirty men who made up a student body are now teachers. Two were chosen from each of the twelve administrative districts and they are now back in the field to conduct schools of their own. The six others are being held in reserve to act as substitutes when needed.

WOODCOCK HOPEFUL

Prohibition Director Woodcock, who is counting heavily upon this educational system to improve the general efficiency of the enforcement personnel, is watching it expectantly. Primarily he is hopeful of three results: A vigorous and effective warfare against violators of prohibition laws, conducted in a lawful way; a vastly increased public respect for the enforcement service; and the creation of an esprit de corps within the service itself.

In the course of their month's training here the teacher-agents were drilled in the principal policies of the enforcement bureau, the basic points of law involved, methods of investigation and the preparation of evidence.

NO THIRD DEGREE

They were told to inform their students the law must be enforced lawfully; that strong-arm and third-degree methods will not be tolerated, and that the personal conduct of the agents must be beyond criticism at all times, whether they are on or off duty.

In addition Col. Woodcock made it clear the bureau is no longer interested in test cases, that it wants clear-cut cases of commercial violation, so thoroughly investigated convictions will follow.

To suppression of commercial violation he assigned the military term "first objective." If that is reached, he said, a "second objective" may be set; but, he added, that is for the future.

1930 IS REWARDING CAREFUL SAVER

Looking at Loa Through Savers' Ey

What concern have you in the loan policies of the institution in which you have, or plan to place, your funds?

A very real concern. For conservative loan policies contribute basically to the strength of institutions for savings.

A fundamental factor in Pacific States Savings' conservative loan policies is our loan rate, outstandingly lower than the going rate in our field. We established this lower rate as the surest means of bringing to us the "pick of the loan crop"—the choicest first lien real estate collateral offered to any California building and loan association.

This select security is an important factor of protection to our savers . . . one which ranks with these factors, distinguishing our financial structure . . . the largest non-withdrawable invested capital of any building and loan association in the West . . . the largest voluntary cash reserve . . . a Statement free from real estate, furniture and fixtures and bank indebtedness.

On the basis of such distinguishing conservatism and liquidity, we solicit your consideration of our 6% and 5¼% facilities for savings.

Harry L. Clark Accidentally Shot on Oakland Ferry

Suspect Tells About Plans to "Get" Former Partner

Gun Discharged When He Touches It in Pocket

OAKLAND, Oct. 2. (AP)—Victor Russo, on his way, he admitted, to "get" a former partner against whom he had a grievance, accidentally shot and killed a man identified as Harry L. Clark, Los Angeles business man, aboard the ferry Yerba Buena as it left the Oakland slip this afternoon.

Police quote Russo, who is 65 years of age, as saying the weapon was discharged accidentally as his hand encountered it in his pocket. Clark was standing in front of him and received the bullet in his back.

The ferry turned back. Clark's body was taken to the Oakland Morgue as the boat proceeded to San Francisco, where deck hands identified Russo as responsible for the shooting. The revolver, with one cartridge discharged, was found in his pocket.

Clark, whose address was given as 735½ South Mansfield avenue, Los Angeles, was a representative of the Scott Press Company. He formerly was mechanical superintendent for the Los Angeles Express. A son, John M. Clark, is a student at St. Mary's College.

Russo said his former partner, whom he planned to "get," is Guido Fornaciari of Oakland.

WIDOW PROSTRATED AT FAMILY HOME HERE

Harry L. Clark, 50 years of age, had been a resident for Los Angeles for the past fifteen years. He was mechanical superintendent of the Evening Express for nine years, and for the past few years had been the western representative of the Scott Press Company of Chicago.

Mrs. Anita Clark, his widow, was prostrated at her home at 735½ South Mansfield street last night, and declared that she had never heard of her husband's slayer.

In addition to his widow Clark leaves two sons, John, 18, a student at St. Mary's College, and George Sheron, 19, a student at the University of Southern California; two sisters, Mrs. Evelyn Sutherland of Reno, Nev., and Mrs. W. Solenberg of Alameda, and a brother, George Davison of New York, who is now living in Los Angeles.

Her husband, Mrs. Clark said, left here last Monday on a business trip that took him first to Stockton He then went to Oakland for a visit with his son, and expected to call on some business concerns before his return home next Tuesday. She leaves tonight for Oakland.

Clark was born in Auburn, and spent his entire life in the West. He traveled extensively in the past few years covering territory for the press concern in all Pacific Coast and western States. He was a member of Arlington Lodge of the Masonic Order.

DEMOCRATS BELABORED BY WATSON

Fallacies of Campaign Attacks Against Tariff Cited by Senator

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2. (Exclusive)—The fallacies of the Democratic campaign attacks against the tariff were enumerated today by Senator Watson, Republican floor leader, via the radio.

He belabored the Democrats, charging that their Senatorial campaigners who so bitterly inveigh against many of the rates in the new tariff were largely responsible for the rates with which they find so much fault. He asserted they are trying to "fool the people," indicated them as the "party of obstruction" and charged their Senate leaders and those of their allies, the insurgent Republicans, with keeping American business uncertain as to its future for more than fourteen months.

The Indiana solon urged his millions of listeners to give President Hoover a "square deal" and rebuke the "croakers of calamity, the rockers of the boat, the politicians who, with no program of their own but denunciation and criticism, no record of their own in national affairs which would cause anyone to believe that their prescriptions for prosperity are more than quack nostrums now seek to bushwhack the President while he marches forward to accomplishment of the mighty tasks committed to him by the American people."

Motor Delays Boy Aviator

AMARILLO (Tex.) Oct. 2. (AP)—Robert Buck, boy flyer, ran into hard luck today in his effort to beat Eddie Schneider's junior transcontinental record and was forced to return to Amarillo for his second night, after a bad start for Albuquerque, N. M., and points west today.

Leaving the field here at 6:45 a.m. (C.S.T.) he was forced down at Glenrio, N. M., seventy miles west of here, because of motor trouble. A mechanic was sent from here. It was necessary to install a new cylinder in Buck's motor.

LEAGUERS FAIL TO REVISE PACT

Subcommittee Votes Down Covenant Amendment

British and Chinese Envoys Only Two in Favor

Question Likely to Hold Over for Year

GENEVA, Oct. 2. (AP)—Efforts to amend the League of Nations Covenant in a form that would outlaw all war, thus making it harmonious with the Kellogg-Briand antiwar pact, failed tonight in the League Assembly's judicial subcommittee by a vote of ten to two.

Heated discussion preceded the balloting with the final tally showing only Lord Cecil of Great Britain and Dr. Chao Chu-wu of China in favor of accepting immediately amendments to that end.

MAY GO OVER

Now the question likely will be held over for another year, since a resolution adopted by the subcommittee earlier in the day provides the amendments be referred to the member governments in view of further discussion by the Assembly in 1931. The resolution will go to full committee tomorrow and probably will be taken before the Assembly Saturday.

Debate in the subcommittee appears to have been of warm character at times. The Norwegian delegate raised a question whether existing treaties such as the Locarno pact would not fall to the ground if the League covenant were amended, since it and others like it are based on the possibility of war occurring.

HEATED DEBATE

Several jurists on the subcommittee, including Limburg of Holland, said that if war were ruled out such treaties would be useless, while Rene Cassin of France and Henri Rollin of Belgium also protested, saying in that case the Council sanctions must be increased.

Lord Cecil argued heatedly, asserting he considered the other treaties military conventions and even against the spirit of the Covenant and the Kellogg-Briand pact. He insisted the amendments should be adopted at once.

This question has been troublesome since the Assembly opened, delaying its adjournment. The body hopes to close its sessions Saturday.

The budget committee of the Assembly today adopted the report on next year's estimated cost of League operation, providing for the expenditure of 31,687,501 Swiss francs (about $6,327,000.)

TREATY CELEBRATION

The League today celebrated with some degree of emphasis the conclusion of a treaty described as a "fire extinguisher" for war flames, and especially welcome to the smaller and weaker nations of the world.

The treaty is a convention of financial assistance which provides loans to a state signatory if attacked by another power. The loan would be awarded only on unanimous vote of the League Council, this body being empowered to determine which state is the aggressor.

Representatives of twenty-eight states—twenty-two of them European—signed this document.

The value of the convention to small states was emphasized by Nicholas Politis of Greece, chairman of the committee which concluded it. "Material financial assistance," he said, "is extremely important for small states in order to aid them in defending themselves against war or the menace of aggression.

The significance of the treaty was much diminished, however, by the fact that Great Britain in signing made her adhesion dependent on the realization of a general disarmament scheme.

RESTRICTION MEASURE TO BE REVIVED

Harris Will Bring Up Mexican Ban Proposal at December Session

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2. (AP)—Asserting the Hoover administration made little effort to enforce the immigration laws on the Mexican border until his measure to put Mexican immigration on a quota basis passed the Senate, Senator Harris, Democrat, Georgia, today said he will renew efforts to obtain final legislative action on the measure at the December session.

Harris said the State Department recently announced a sharp decrease in immigration from Mexico, indicating a more active interest in enforcing the law. He added, however, he feared that if his measure failed of passage in the House the administration would "become lax in enforcement."

There is no doubt, he said, that administration leaders in the House prevented placing the bill before the House for a vote at the last session. He said he is confident it would have been approved by that legislative branch although he doubted whether President Hoover would have signed it.

"We need to exclude the cheap Mexican labor," Harris said. He asserted Mexican labor in Texas is responsible for a 2,000,000-bale cotton surplus this year, which made it impossible for the cotton farmers of the South to receive a suitable price for their product.

GENOA ENRAGED OVER COLUMBUS

City Up in Arms Against Peruvian Professor

Latter Says Navigator Was Catalonian Corsair

Genoese Demand That He Go and Prove It

GENOA (Italy) Oct. 2. (AP) — An avalanche of indignation has swept over this citadel of Columbus, stirred by the recent statement of the Peruvian professor, Luis Ulloa, that the navigator was a Catalonian corsair, was not born in Genoa, and accompanied Danish corsairs to America years before 1492, by way of Iceland, Greenland and Labrador.

Genoa is pointing the heavy guns of her battery of documents, historical records and references at Prof. Ulloa, and demanding he come to Genoa himself to search out the truth.

Marquis Giuseppe Pessagno, Italy's foremost Columbian expert and director of the archives of Genoa, has charge of Genoa's defending forces.

He outlined his defense to the Associated Press correspondent.

"I have invited Prof. Ulloa here," he said, "to examine the hundred attested documents in the state archives regarding the Genoese citizenship of Columbus. Prof. Ulloa claims these documents are false, but he has never examined them."

"Your own Bostonian scholar, Henry Harrisse, whose books are treasured by the city of Genoa, made a serious research of all the Columbian data, affirming that Columbus was a Genoese.

"Leaving aside all legend and tradition there exist fifteenth-century documents of notaries, known and unknown, and the registered documents of the Bank of St. George.

SACRAMENTO VICE BLAMED ON POLICE

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 2. (AP)—Sweeping charges that "bootlegging, gambling and prostitution" are prevalent in Sacramento because of the "passive knowledge of the police" were made in a grand jury report filed tonight with the City Council. The report represents the result of more than a year's investigation into vice conditions on the part of the grand jury, whose public morals committee was aided through secret operatives hired to determine the extent of local vice.

for Warden Holohan, to be opened after death, which provides that official, for whom Northcott had expressed the utmost friendship and regard, with the problem of determining if his recent prisoner actually tried to poison himself, as he asserted and attempted to prove in his final dramatic gesture. A few hours before leaving the death cage, he dashed a small vial upon the floor and declared he had taken poison and still would cheat the noose. No trace of poison was found in a medical investigation which followed immediately but Warden Holhan is left with the problem of where Northcott obtained the vial.

The memory of Northcott's ego is preserved in a line of one of the two last notes he wrote his father. It concludes:

"Please, I want white roses on my coffin."

At the funeral in Berkeley, white carnations were substituted for the roses he requested. Rev. Larry Newgent took one to present to Mrs. Northcott in San Quentin tomorrow.

HIS CONFESSION

Northcott's confession left with the warden follows:

"Cyrus Northcott brought Collins boy to ranch, used him for two days, then shot him, made Gordon Northcott and son, Clark, bury him. First they tried to burn him but gave up. Then buried him in hollow.

"Winslow boys came to ranch and were killed by Sanford Clark. He killed the young one first, then the oldest one, the old one did not die so Gordon Northcott shot him.

"Cyrus Northcott did not have nothing to do with Winslows, but knows all about their being burned and buried, also Mrs. Northcott.

"All of them (four) were killed in the house.

"Were hid in hole in garage when anyone came.

"March 10, Collins boy brought to ranch; killed Saturday, April 16.

"Winslows came to ranch, killed May 20.

"Jose Gonzales, Mexican, tried to stab Northcott in fight. Mexican boy killed on February 1, killed by young Northcott, shot through heart by .22 automatic; came from Los Angles.

"October 2, 1930.

"GORDON STEWART NORTHCott."

TWO FOR FATHER

Northcott also left two notes to his father, one to his mother, one to Mr. Newgent, his spiritual adviser.

The first note to his father read:

"Dear old daddy of mine:

"Your letter was wonderful. I am your lonely, frightened boy.

"I love you so. Don't leave my body be cut up or left behind prison walls."

NOTE TO NEWGENT

The note to Newgent said:

"As God above is my judge I am not guilty. The police worry me and make me say things, but the truth is I am innocent. God pity me and save my life. You have been a real friend in need. May God bless you.

"Lovingly,
[Signed]
"GORDON NORTHCOTT."

"It's from an art collection," explains advertiser, suggesting the importance of the opportunity, now presented, to buy Spanish shawl.

In the second note to his father he said:

"Dear daddy:

"Please give me an outside funeral. I love you, mother and daddy. Only you did not carry on as I hoped, but then, anyway, I love you. Maybe you have done all you can. Anyway, God bless you. Anyway, Mr. Newgent has fought hard for me. May God richly bless you all. Good-by mother and daddy, I love you both with all my love. Please, I want white roses on my coffin."

(Signed)
"Lovingly,
"GORDON NORTHCOTT."

NOTE TO MOTHER

The note to his mother read:

"Dear Mother:

"I see M. C. and M. W. (Mrs. Collins and Mrs. Winslow) and I talked to them and I said that I was guilty so that it would clear you. But Mrs. C. knows that I was lying, because I couldn't tell her anything about Walter, for I have never seen him. I guess I did wrong in lying. I hope God will forgive me. Mr. Newgent has been so kind to me and has told me what to do. I know Jesus will save me. Don't worry, I love you. I got some poison from one of the men on the row and tried to kill myself this morning but I am sorry. I have prayed and ask that His will be done, and I hope you and I know that you and daddy are both innocent. Mrs. Newgent brought me a lovely record when I was in the death house.

EXPERT'S DIAGNOSIS

Dr. S. M. Marcus, Los Angeles psychiatrist and somnotherapist who examined Northcott several months ago, declared the youth possessed three of the nine classifications of the constitutional psychopathic inferior. He was a pathological liar, Dr. Marcus said, a criminalistic individual and a sex deviate.

Northcott came through the door from the death chamber a few seconds under three minutes from the time of his plunge to the end of the rope. His face was chalk-white, almost as much so as the cloth across his eyes. He stumbled against the two lower steps of the scaffold stairs and then appeared to collapse utterly.

The two guards who walked at his side, supporting him, had to throw their combined strength under his armpits and they literally carried him to the level of the trap, where they braced themselves to hold him erect while the black hood was slipped over his head and the noose adjusted. The instant it was accomplished, the hangman's signal was given.

INCOHERENT MUMBLING

As he was held on the trap, with Newgent praying, Northcott mumbled incoherently. Some of the witnesses professed to make intelligible words out of it. Newgent's version was:

"Don't hang me. Don't hang me."

The most others could make out of it was: "Don't."

Only one spectator appeared to have suffered a fainting spell and that occurred when the body was cut down.

As the witnesses filed through the outer prison gate several minutes after the execution, Northcott, Sr., came in. He had been on the grounds earlier in the morning, aloof as usual, but had gone out about 9:35 a.m. He made certain the hanging was over before he returned.

Mrs. Northcott, because of her condition, was not informed of the hanging until noon. She immediately collapsed and had to be carried to her cell.

NO ATTENTION TO BE PAID TO "CONFESSION"

Inquiry by Riverside county officials into statements and confessions of Gordon Stewart Northcott ended yesterday when the boy slayer died on the gallows. No attention will be given the charges made by Northcott just a short time before he died that his father, Cyrus Northcott, took the Collins youth to the ranch and killed him. Neither will the authorities take cognizance of the accusation of the condemned that Sanford Clark murdered the two Winslow boys.

Closing the case as far as Riverside county authorities are concerned, Dist.-Atty. Ford yesterday said: "Riverside county is through with the infamous Northcott case. We have investigated many confessions made by Northcott and have found them a mass of lies. On several occasions he accused his father of the Collins murder, and has continually made various charges against young Clark. None of these have been found to have any basis of truth. We are content with the final ending and completion of the case."

Early return of young Clark to Canada was indicated by Ford yesterday, when he let it be known that the young lad who started the inquiry that sent Northcott to the gallows is in the United States illegally. Clark has been an inmate of the State Industrial School for Boys at Whittier since the conviction of Northcott.

"Now that the case is ended," Ford said, "I expetct to take the necessary steps to send young Clark back to Canada. He was brought into the United States illegally by Northcott, and has no business here. His further retention as a ward of California is not proper. He will go to Canadian relatives as soon as legal moves can be made."

EVANGELIST TO MAKE PLEA FOR MRS. NORTHCOTT

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2. (Exclusive)—Larry Newgent, evangelist who furnished religious consolation for Gordon Stewart Northcott during the last several weeks of the slayer's life, plans a new appeal to Gov. Young, it was learned tonight. This time, however, it will be for Mrs. Sarah Louise Northcott, mother of the youth who died on the gallows at San Quentin today.

Newgent believes that Mrs. Northcott, now that her son is gone, will embrace the opportunity to tell the true story of the Wineville murder farm if there is any chance of profiting it. In other words, the possibility of obtaining even a distant parole might prompt her to reveal things her son has declared she knows.

When the evangelist's plea will be made is not known definitely. He will be supported in the action, if it is taken, by Cyrus G. Northcott, her husband and the father of the slayer.

CONFESSION WILL BE CHECKED, SAY OFFICIALS

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2. (AP)—Investigation of the Riverside ranch murders, for which Gordon Stewart Northcott was hanged today, has not closed, Los Angeles deputies indicated here tonight as they prepared to return to the south.

The last confession of the murderer, shortly before he went to his death, will be fully investigated before authorities consider the case closed, southern officers said. In this confession Northcott implicated his father, his mother and his nephew.

The father, Cyrus G. Northcott, is going back voluntarily with the officers, Deputy Sheriff Crane said.

"He is not under arrest," Crane said, "nor are any charges filed against him. But we intend to check that confession."

Results From Sargon Amazed Her, Says Nurse

"I've been a practical nurse for many years and think I know something about medicine, but I never in all my life saw anything like Sargon! The way it overcame my stomach trouble of five years standing, and filled me with new strength and vitality is amazing," recently stated Mrs. Orpha Porter, 3651 Alabama St., San Diego.

MRS. ORPHA PORTER

"Indigestion made my life miserable. I had very little appetite, and nearly everything I ate disagreed with me. I'd get so bilious and nauseated I couldn't stand the sight of food. My liver was sluggish and I was continually bothered with constipation. There was a bad taste in my mouth, and I felt tired all the time. My disordered kidneys kept me from getting restful sleep, and my back was so weak, and hurt me so at times I could hardly stand up.

"So many San Diego people were being benefited by Sargon I just decided to try it, and I began to improve almost at once. My appetite came back, my digestion is perfect, and I sleep fine because my kidneys and back no longer bother me.

"Sargon Pills are the most dependable laxatives I ever took. They toned up my liver and overcame my constipation in the easiest, most natural way imaginable, and those bilious attacks and the bad taste in my mouth are gone. I'll always bless the day I made up my mind to take Sargon!"

Sargon may be obtained at all Owl Drug Stores and Liggett Drug Stores in Los Angeles and other cities.—[Advertisement.

Today's the day to switch to Winter Super Union

Get it wherever you see the Blue and White UNION pumps

BEGINNING today the UNION OIL COMPANY offers you the finest winter gasoline within the reach of science.

First—WINTER Super UNION is 26% quicker starting than the average of other gasolines. Tests in the laboratory—on the block—and in the ice chamber of a great ice plant, prove this.

Next, it gives you instant acceleration, on hills, in traffic, or on the boulevard—in low, intermediate or high gear.

Third—special attention has been given to reduce disagreeable odors sometimes noticed at high speeds. This is important to you in winter when the car is often entirely closed—especially so if rings are worn considerably.

Also, WINTER Super UNION overcomes the slow speed bucking that you've noticed in other so-called Winter fuels. The secret is a special refining process.

Yet all these advantages have been obtained with no loss of mileage. The same high heat unit content that accounts for the extra mileage of previous Union Gasolines is fully retained in this Winter Super fuel.

Switch NOW!

Early mornings and late evenings are getting chilly. Winter has sounded its warning blast. Heed it by switching NOW to WINTER Super UNION—the Gasoline that gives you 26% quicker starting without loss of mileage.

Get it wherever you see the blue and white UNION pumps.

As a final check cars are run into the cold room of a great ice plant. Then choke tests are made to verify its 26% quicker starting ability.

Finally, WINTER Super UNION is tested on the road to prove that it gives you 26% quicker starting, with no loss of mileage.

TOKIO, Oct. 3. (Friday) (AP)—Because Harold Gatty, navigator and co-pilot, is still ill and suffering from the effects of noxious gases breathed during the flight of the monoplane City of Tacoma toward America September 14 at 1:15, another trans-Pacific attempt this year is believed impossible.

Harold Bromley, pilot, is considering the possibility of attempting the non-top flight from Japan to Tacoma, Wash., alone, but this is not considered likely. However, he hopes to reattempt the flight in 1931.

CENSUS KEEPS SECRECY VOW

Mitchell Rules Director Should Deny Requests

Quotes Hoover Assurance of No Disclosures

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2. (AP)—An opinion by Atty.-Gen. Mitchell today that Census Director Steuart should not comply with requests for lists of names for employment and illiteracy studies was interpreted by the director as indicating a general tightening up of the strict secrecy policy.

"Pressure has been increasing on the bureau from many organizations and business officials for information to aid them in individual research problems," said Director Steuart. "The opinion of the Attorney-General that the bureau should not deviate from its promise to consider confidential all information furnished enumerators will stiffen the attitude of the bureau."

NAMES SOUGHT

Mitchell's opinion was asked as to whether the director had authority to furnish the women's bureau of the Department of Labor with the names, addresses, occupations and status of employment of workers in the city of Rochester, N. Y., for use in a contemplated survey to ascertain economic effects on family and community life of employment of women in industry.

His opinion also was asked on whether the director had authority to furnish various individuals and associations interested in eradication of illiteracy with names and addresses of persons in given sections and communities who are unable to read and write.

HOOVER QUOTED

Atty.-Gen. Mitchell pointed out that the census from its earliest history has consistently stressed the fact that its information was gathered "for statistical purposes only." He also quoted at length President Hoover's proclamation of November 22, 1929, in which he said: "There need be no fear that any disclosure will be made regarding the individual person or his affairs."

The Attorney-General then declared it the duty of the Census Director to decline to furnish the woman's bureau and the individuals and associations interested in illiteracy the names and addresses they asked.

JUDGE STRICKEN ON IDAHO VISIT

F. S. Dietrich Falls Dead From Heart Disease

Jurist Was on Federal Bench at San Francisco

Fatal Attack Occurs on Auto Trip From Boise

BOISE (Idaho) Oct. 2. (AP)—Frank S. Dietrich, judge of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at San Francisco, died suddenly here today of heart disease as he was starting on an automobile drive to San Francisco.

He had spent several days here and last night attended a wedding of a socially prominent young couple.

HEART DISEASE SUFFERER

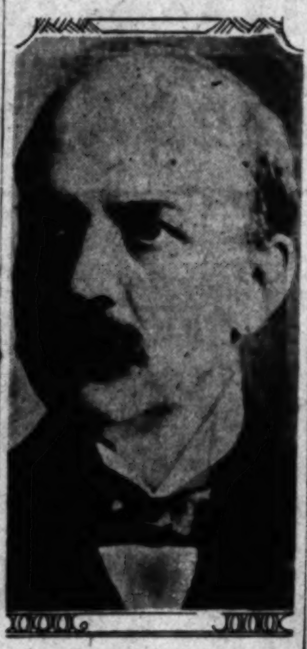
His death drew messages of regret from Idaho bar and court circles, from the Governor of the State, from Senator William E. Borah and from prominent figures in many parts of the country.

Although it was known the judge had suffered in recent years from heart trouble, the seriousness of his condition was not realized until he slumped over the wheel of the automobile he was driving and the car rolled off the side of the road and came to a stop.

HELP SUMMONED

Mrs. Dietrich and their daughter, Mrs. Isabel Granger, Salinas, Cal., were riding with the judge and when they noted his condition immediately summoned help. Two physicians were rushed from Boise, two miles away, and the fire department pulmotor crew also was sent out but he was beyond help.

JURIST SUCCUMBS TO HEART ATTACK



Frank S. Dietrich

Judge Dietrich came to Blackfoot, Idaho, to practice law more than thirty years ago. He served in three law partnerships and as an attorney for the Oregon Short Line before his appointment in 1907 as United States District Judge for Idaho. At that post he served until 1926 when he was appointed to the Circuit Court and moved the scene of his activities from Boise to San Francisco.

Friends of the jurist here said he was offered the post of Attorney-General in the Cabinet of President Harding, but declined it, feeling his ambition of a seat in the Supreme Court could be achieved more rapidly through the route he was following.

YRIGOYEN PLANNING FIGHT FOR RELEASE

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 2. (AP)—Former President Yrigoyen announced today from aboard the cruiser Buenos Aires that he will undertake legal proceedings to win his release. It is understood his action will take the form of a habeas corpus plea. His announcement followed exchanges yesterday in which the deposed President asked to be allowed to go to Spain to reside. The government raised no objection to his request but insisted that he make the trans-Atlantic trip aboard a warship and remain in Europe until the situation in the Argentine is settled.

INQUIRY DECIDED IN CANNON CASE

Bishop Ainsworth Reported Ready to Pick Committee

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2. (AP)—Bishop W. N. Ainsworth of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, was understood here tonight to have definitely decided to appoint a committee of twelve churchmen to investigate charges filed against Bishop James Cannon, Jr., by four ministers of the denomination.

Bishop Ainsworth held a brief conference today with Bishop Cannon and left immediately for Birmingham.

If the committee decides a church trial is necessary, the accused bishop can be suspended until the next meeting of the general conference of the church in 1934 before which the trial would be conducted.

CUBA AND HAITI POLICY DECIDED

"Hands Off" Course Fixed by American Government

Stimson Explains Position on Havana Situation

State Department Statement Discusses Island Poll

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2. (AP)—Definite policies of noninterference by the United States in the present situation in Cuba and complete neutrality in the forthcomnig elections in Haiti have been determmed upon by the American government.

After many weeks in which the State Department has maintained an outward complacency toward the political situation in Cuba, it became known today the policy of the Hoover administration is the same as that enunciated by Elihu Root while Secretary of War under President McKinley.

This pronouncement in 1901 embodied an interpretation of the Platt amendment controlling Cuban-American relations, stating the amendment did not contemplate American "intermeddling" with the internal affairs of Cuba. Only such acts as would maintain an adequate government to protect lives and property and fulfill American obligations under the Treaty of Paris, concluding the Spanish-American War, would be justified under the declaration as communicated at that time to the late Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood, then in Cuba.

ATTITUDE MADE CLEAR

At a conference with newspaper men today, however, Secretary Stimson was careful to point out that, while the United States has never intervened to maintain any Cuban government in power, each case must be looked upon according to its merits and a case might arise in the future which might distinguish it from those which the American government uses as precedents for its present policy.

The State Department declaration on the forthcoming elections in Haiti said the elections are "entirely a Haitian affair" and American officials in Haiti have been instructed to maintain "a strictly neutral attitude."

COVERED BY TREATY

"The United States government's activities in Haiti are covered by the treaty of 1915 and subsequent protocols for agreement. None of these provides for the United States lending assistance at any elections," the statement continued.

"Consequently, the United States will exercise no supervision over the elections and will not instruct its officials in Haiti to assume responsibility in any way in the holding of said elections. . . .

"On election day all members of the United States forces on duty in Haiti (Cape Haitien and Port Au Prince) will be maintained in barracks. Any disorders will be handled in the usual manner by the garde of Haiti as a Haitian police force."

MACHADO TO CALL SPECIAL SESSION TODAY

HAVANA, Oct. 2. (AP)—President Machado tomorrow will convoke Congress in special session and ask for permission to suspend constitutional guarantees in Havana and suburbs until after the November elections.

The President made his decision after a conference with political leaders. It is understood he will request the right to suspend constitutional guarantees in other parts of Cuba should he deem this necessary.

Dry Insurance Group Formed

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2. (Exclusive)—Working on the theory that a man who doesn't drink is a better life insurance risk than the man who does, a group of men prominently identified with the prohibitionist groups in the capital and in other sections of the country have formed an organization committee for an innovation in the American insurance field, the American Temperance Life Insurance Company of the District of Columbia.

MORTON LOSES FIGHT FOR TOWNSHIP OFFICE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2. (AP)—The State Supreme Court today denied the petition of J. Russell Morton of Los Angeles for an order which would have compelled the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors to issue him a certificate of election as justice of the peace of Pasadena township. Morton, an unsuccessful candidate at the primary election, contended a correct count of the vote would give him the plurality necessary instead of the second-place vote with which he was credited.

HUGE POWER PROJECT ASSURED FOR CANADA

VICTORIA (B. C.) Oct. 2. (AP)—The West Kootenay Power and Light Company will harness the hydroelectric powers of the Pend Oreille River with a dam nearly 400 feet high, the greatest of its kind in Canada. The last known obstacle in the way of the gigantic development was removed when the Reeves McDonald Mining Company withdrew its application for power rights on the river.

NORRIS INDORSED BY RAILROAD UNIONS

LINCOLN (Neb.) Oct. 2. (AP)—Spokesmen for five Nebraska railroad brotherhoods in joint session here with officials of the State Federation of Labor today indorsed the candidacies of Senator Norris and Gov. Weaver, Republicans. Both seek re-election.

POPE MAKES APPOINTMENT

VATICAN CITY, Oct. 2. (AP)—The Pope today appointed Cardinal Bonaventura Cerretti as protector of the Sisters of St. Joseph with the mother house at Orange, Cal., diocese of Los Angeles.

NOTICIAS MUNDIALES DE ULTIMA HORA

NOTAS TELEGRAFICAS

Vuélvese Fascista el Monumento a Garibaldi

ROMA, Octubre 2.—Los romanos que viven en la Colina Janicula encontraron, al despertar hoy, que el monumento ecuestre del libertador italiano Garibaldi había sido despojado de sus insignias masónicas y lucía flamantes insignias fascistas. En el curso de la noche, unos obreros le habían borrado las primeras y le habían esculpido las segundas.

Ese monumento ha sido motivo de numerosas controversias, pues sobre él se levanta la estatua de Garibaldi mirando con ceño hacia el Vaticano. Garibaldi, como se sabe, fue quien consiguió, tras larga lucha, arrebatarles a los papas el poder temporal.

Irigoyen Formula un Plan para Gestionar su Libertad

BUENOS AIRES, Octubre 2.—Hoy ha anunciado el presidente Irigoyen, desde a bordo del crucero "Buenos Aires", que va a incoar diligencias judiciales para conseguir su libertad. Tiénese entendido que va a interponer recurso de amparo. Su anuncio vino ayer a raíz de las gestiones hechas por el presidente derrocado para irse a residir a España. El gobierno no opuso objeciones a su petición; pero insistió en que hiciera el viaje transatlántico a bordo de un barco de guerra y permaneciera en Europa hasta que se resuelva la situación argentina.

El Japón Estampa el Sello Real en el Tratado

TOKIO, Octubre 2.—El emperador Hirihito ha firmado hoy el tratado naval de Londres. Púsosele al documento el sello real, en señal de que es completa la ratificación japonesa de ese importante documento. Se hallaban presentes en la ceremonia el primer ministro Hamaguchi y el conde Makino, guardasellos del imperio.

Son ya dos naciones las que han dado su aprobación a ese tratado: el Japón y los Estados Unidos. Si bien el gobierno británico lo ha aprobado también, el Estado Libre Irlandés y la India no lo han hecho, dejando así la ratificación británica incompleta.

Los Teutones Proyectan un Monumento Conmemorativo para Stresemann

BERLIN, Octubre 2.—En vísperas del primer aniversario de la muerte del doctor Gustave Stresemann, se congregó hoy una comisión representativa de los más destacados negociantes, hombres de ciencia y políticos, para promover una "academia de paz" en memoria de la obra realizada por Stresemann en pro de la amistad internacional.

En dicha comisión figuran el sabio profesor Albert Einstein, el gran fabricante Carl Duisberg, y el ministro de lo Interior Joseph Wirth. Mañana se descorrerá el velo de un monumento levantado a la memoria de Stresemann en el cementerio Luisen, donde está enterrado el famoso internacionalista.

Mueren Cinco en un Desplome Ocurrido en Nueva York

NUEVA YORK, Octubre 2.—Los vacilantes cimientos de una casa de huéspedes de Greenwich Village se desplomaron hoy con estrépito, y las vigas del edificio cayeron sobre doce huéspedes dormidos, matando a cinco de ellos y lesionando gravemente a siete.

Dos de las personas muertas eran mujeres. La casa era de huéspedes franceses y belgas. Previa investigación, se averiguó que el siniestro fue causado por haberse minado los cimientos del edificio durante la demolición de cuatro inmuebles adyacentes.

La primera persona sacada de los escombros fue la señora Marie Sargose, de 70 años de edad, quien resultó con un brazo quebrado y con probables lesiones viscerales. Todos sus huéspedes, dijo esta señora, que es la patrona, se hallaban en la cama.

NOTAS LOCALES

El Defensor Público Da Cuenta de sus Labores

A 19,498 personas residentes de Los Angeles se les brindó consejo judicial gratuito por el personal de la oficina del defensor público Frederick H. Verco durante el año fiscal que terminó el 30 de Junio último, según el informe anual de ese funcionario presentado ayer a la Junta de "Supervisors". Fueron asimismo defendidas por Verco y sus ayudantes 1835 personas acusadas de delitos penales.

Durante el año citado, se les denegó ayuda legal a 3587 personas en el departamento civil, porque había pruebas de que podían pagar abogados particulares, o porque sus asuntos no eran de la competencia de la oficina del defensor público.

Charlas Infantiles para Chiquillos de Escuela

X.

A los diez años de edad mandaron a Clara a una escuela de internos de la vecina población. Sus padres creyeron que con esto se aliviaría de la timidez (When she was eight, Clara was sent away from home to a boarding-school in the next town. Her father and mother thought that this might cure that bashfulness of hers). Pero en vez de ello, le aumentó más y más. Las salas de su nueva escuela se le hacían inmensamente largas y anchas a la pobre Clarita; los días le parecían semanas, y se veía rodeada de mucha gente extraña (But, instead, it grew worse and worse. The rooms at the new school seemed miles long and wide to poor timid Clara; the days were as long as weeks, and there were so many strange people around her). No se atrevía a comer en la mesa su carne, sus patatas, ni su budín, porque le parecía que todos la estaban observando; por más que esto, claro está, era pura imaginación (She did not dare to eat her meat and potato and pudding at the table, because she thought that every one was watching her, although this, of course, was a very foolish idea).

Lovell Scheduled for Talk in "Times" Forum Period

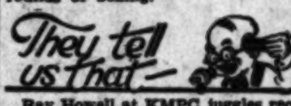
The Times Forum, KHJ, 1:30 p.m.: Anton Chris, steel guitar, and Dr. Phillip M. Lovell, editor "Care of the Body" department of the Sunday Times. World-Wide News, 12:30, 4:45 and and 10 p.m.

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

Night football via radio should prove a welcome change for the tired business man this evening. Two games will be presented, KECA broadcasting the clash of the Los Angeles Fire Department and the Olympic Club of San Francisco at the Coliseum, picking the play up at 9 o'clock and KFWB shooting the play-by-play account of the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena between Caltech and the University of Arizona.

If you take cold easily or find it difficult to attend either of these games, you can be accommodated at home. The publicity man of KFWB, comments: "The season's too young, of course, for the 'boys to be playing for any large stakes, but it should be a right smart game to listen to. There's always this here gal, Alma Mater, for whom the youngsetrs are willing to fight at the drop of the hat."

While dealing with a night of sports—for one hour at 9:45 KNX will broadcast the main event from the Hollywood Legion Stadium. The feature will consist of thirty-two rounds of boxing.



They tell us that—

Ray Howell at KMPC juggles records every night. From winding that music box he has developed a perfect rotary swing.

The playing of Mischa Gegna, 'cellist, and Max Dolin, violinist, on the Shell Ship of Joy yesterday morning warmed the cockles of Capt. Dobbsie's heart as well as the hearts of countless thousands.

"He's off—tearing down the field —10, 20, 30, 35 yards—no' Sorry—he was thrown for a 5-yard loss." Ain't life grand when that happens.

"The California Caruso," has been asked to sing "Only a Rose," "Happy Days" and "Moonlight on the Colorado" on the California Walnut Growers' Association program over KHJ at 8:30 tonight.

Incidentally, this association recently telephoned a request for the rendition of "The Nut Cracker Suite."

You can learn more about radio from one suburbanite than from forty in the metropolis. It is an institution out yonder—here it is, more or less of a film—in for idle moments between traffic tags.

"Lads and lassies of Radioland" should tune in KMTR tonight at 6:30 for the Fanchon and Marco Miniature Radio Idea by Ethel Meglin and her juvenile artists. Give the kiddies a hand.

The Ranch Hour over KTM, 8 to 9 p.m., must cost a lot of money, but can the station stand the expense of an auditorium large enough to accommodate the crowd that clamors for admittance? They sure are popular.

Incidentally, they have a gang of thirty-five entertainers out at KTM, who have solved the all-American problem of co-operation—just one big family.

Pep and youthful spirit should mark the second KNX football rally as a prelude to a Saturday game at 6:30 tonight. It is to last only thirty minutes but the Trojan Glee Club alone could fill the time. Tom Wallace will be the announcer.

Ploughing through radio programs makes a radio editor long for for a full-page section. Newspapers have space brakes the same as automobiles. Today they are four-wheeled and tightly adjusted.

"Oh! Oh!" Doug Douglas, who generally gives the 10 p.m. World-Wide News from The Times Tower, is on a two weeks' vacation.

Street Attack Laid to Wife

A street attack by his wife was charged yesterday by William M. Hawkes, salesman, in divorcing Alta M. Hawkes.

"When we met on the street after our separation she attacked me," testified Hawkes. "She pulled my hair, slapped my face, knocked off my glasses and kicked my hat into the gutter."

Judge Archbald granted him a decree. Mrs. Hawkes failed to appear to press her cross-suit asserting cruelty.

QUARREL PATCHED UP, HUSBAND SIPS POISON

Declared by deputy sheriffs to have attempted suicide by drinking poison a few hours after a reconciliation with his wife, Gray Price, 33 years of age, 5950 South Central-avenue, late yesterday was in the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital. Price, according to a Sheriff's report, mixed some powders in a glass, drained the contents and dropped to the floor. He was accompanied to the hospital by his wife, Mrs. Eileen Price, with whom he had become reconciled about three hours before after a week's separation. His condition was pronounced not serious.

TWO ORDERED HELD

Accused of transportation and possession of liquor, Warner W. Tweten and Roger Brown, alias E. C. Carter, were ordered held for the Federal grand jury yesterday by United States Commissioner Head.

Perfumes

GREAT among aesthetic pleasures is that derived from fragrances. The faintest scents, hardly perceptible, often are responsible for reviving the memory, or for stirring imagination, as well as affording a pleasant sensation in themselves.

Based upon this close association are the perfumes of Elizabeth Arden, accordingly named Mon Amie Elizabeth, La Joie d'Elizabeth, La Reve d'Elizabeth, and L'Amour d'Elizabeth.

Mon Amie Elizabeth, a delicate fragrance, is available in bottles of two sizes, at $9.50 and $27.50. The other odors at $6.00, $15.00 and $25.00 are chosen to express various moods and personalities. The Twin Package, at $6.00, contains two perfumes, one for daytime and another for evening.

DOMINIONS ASK GREATER POWER

Larger Share in Choosing of Governors Sought

Australia Leads Protests at Empire Parley

Ireland Kicks Up Dispute Over Appeal Tribunal

LONDON, Oct. 2. (AP)—Dissatisfaction with the present method of appointing governors-general for the dominions was expressed by Australia today behind the closed doors of the Imperial Conference.

During discussion of constitutional questions about the relative status of Great Britain and her dominions, some dominions delegates urged the dominions should have chief voice in choosing their own governors and not merely approve the central government's nomination.

This feeling is particularly strong among the Australians. Prime Minister J. H. Scullin ardently believes a native-born Australian should be the Governor-General of that Dominion.

PLEA MADE TO KING

Since the Governor-Generalcy now is vacant, Mr. Scullin is urging the appointment of an Australian and visited King George yesterday. So far the British government has made no declaration of its attitude. The Australian claim is not considered in danger of strong opposition.

In the background of the constitutional discussion was the speech yesterday by Patrick McGilligan, Irish Free State Minister of Foreign Affairs and chief delegate, in connection with creation of an empire tribunal of appeal.

"For us, the recognition of our position as a free and sovereign state comes before all other considerations," he said. He objected that while "certain elements of the old system of imperial control were maintained, even though it was only in form, the will to co-operate was correspondingly weakened."

CAUSE OF CONCERN

This statement recalled the fact many Irishmen, even those warmly approving the imperial connection of the Free State, resent the ascendancy as the empire's supreme legal authority of the privy council of England through its judicial committee.

Mr. McGilligan said further "we most earnestly urge upon the conference the need for removing finally those last obstacles."

Though Mr. McGilligan's speech was chiefly in the past tense, it is assumed the Free State delegation is hoping for a clear-cut ruling on the relations of the privy council and the Supreme Court of the Free State.

The problem before the conference is how to give effect to the recommendations of the report of the 1926 imperial conference, which left the question pending.

A subcommittee to consider the establishment of an empire tribunal was recommended today. Under the presidency of the distinguished jurist, Lord Sankey, it will study means for referring to a single body differences of opinion on certain matters between the countries of the empire.

EX-FOLLIES GIRL DIES IN CHILDBIRTH

Kay Laurell's Death in London in 1927 Explained; Son May Share Estate

NEW YORK, Oct. 2. (Exclusive) Kay Laurell, beautiful ex-Follies girl and estranged wife of Winfield R. Sheehan, Fox Film magnate, died—not as believed until today—of pneumonia, but while giving birth to a baby boy.

The tragic curtain was lifted when the child, Joseph Kay Boyle, 2 years and 8 months of age, loomed as a possible contestant for his mother's American estate valued at more than $80,000. The matter will come up before Surrogate O'Brien the 14th inst.

With the fact that Miss Laurell left a son was revealed the last romantic chapter in her life—her love affair with Joseph Whiteside Boyle, a business man of London with interests in Canada.

Her will, made in London on January 31, 1927, a few hours before she died, left her possessions in England to Boyle.

No mention was made in the will, signed with her maiden name, Kay Leslie, of her American estate, of her estranged husband, Sheehan, nor the expected child.

Whether she knew that the English law previous to January 1, 1927, disinherited children born out of wedlock is not apparent. The child, now living with a Miss Ethel Anderson at Bagnor, Eng., must be included among the heirs to the English estate under the new law; but whether the change of status affects the infant's interest in his mother's American estate has not yet been determined.

A. Welles Stump, an attorney of New York, has accepted citations for the child and may be appointed guardian ad litem.

Tammany Men Obtain Delay in Graft Inquiry

NEW YORK, Oct. 2. (AP)—Six Tammany district leaders who hold city positions failed to appear today before the extraordinary grand jury investigating office-buying charges against former Magistrate George F. Ewald. Yesterday Mayor Walker decreed they must withdraw within twenty-four hours their earlier refusals to waive immunity before the grand jury.

When they failed to appear today the Mayor announced he had given them an extension of time of twenty-four hours because of the Jewish holiday, Yom Kippur.

The Mayor insisted the leaders must agree to testify or relinquish their jobs.

BABY PRINCESS CHEATS BOGEY

Margaret Rose of York Escapes Registration as Number 13

GLAMIS (Scotland) Oct. 2. (AP)—The birth of little Princess Margaret Rose of York was registered by her father, the Duke of York, at the little village postoffice today. She just escaped being baby No. 13 on the village registration list.

Registration was delayed longer than is usual. The delay is generally explained as due to the desire of the Duke and the Duchess to avoid having the baby Princess entered as No. 13.

Had her name been put down soon after her birth early in the summer, she would have gone into the thirteenth place inevitably. Another child, however, has since been born in the village.

JAPAN WILL MAIL NAVAL PACT SOON

Ratified Treaty to Reach London Late This Month; Navy Minister Resigns

TOKIO, Oct. 3. (Friday) (AP)—A copy of the London naval treaty bearing the Emperor's signature and seal will be dispatched with diplomatic mails on the liner Hikawa Maru, sailing from Yokohama for Seattle on the 10th inst.

Crossing America, the treaty should reach London late this month. Ambassador Matsudaira will formally deposit it. The Emperor signed the treaty yesterday.

Minister of the Navy Takeshi Takarabe, who was a delegate to the London Naval Conference, tendered his resignation to Premier Hamaguchi today.

Baron Koyokazu Abo was appointed his successor.

Takarabe's resignation was the outgrowth of the lengthy naval treaty controversy in Japan. Standing between his cabinet colleagues on one hand and fellow navalists on the other, the Minister of the Navy's course while a delegate to the conference and since his return to Japan has been the target of bitter criticism from both sides.

Takarabe wanted to resign previously, but remained until the treaty was ratified in order to avoid embarrassment to the Hamaguchi Cabinet.

SEA POWER PLANT HELD SUCCESSFUL

Inventor Satisfied With First Operation of Ocean Water Turbines

HAVANA, Oct. 2. (AP)—Prof. Georges Claude this afternoon started up for the first time the turbines in his laboratory for the production of cheap industrial power from the waters of the Gulf Stream.

In a telegram to the Associated Press, he pronounced the results "satisfactory for a first experiment."

At 4000 revolutions per minute, the turbines generated ten kilowatts of power. However, more than the amount of power produced had been used in getting the machinery under way.

The turbines were started at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, at the laboratory of the French scientist on Matanzas Bay, where he has been quietly working on his experiment. He hopes to utilize the thermal differences between surface and deep water of the gulf.

Curtis Opens State Campaign in New Jersey

WILMINGTON (Del.) Oct. 2. (AP) Vice-President Charles Curtis opened the Republican State campaign tonight in an address in which he declared the American Congress has the right to enact such tariff laws as it thinks best for the interest of the people of this country without regard to the "self-interested wishes" of other countries.

Mr. Curtis spoke at a Republican rally on behalf of the candidacies of United States Senator Hastings and Representative Houston.

He dwelt at length on the opposition to the tariff bill by Democratic leaders. He said there were some objectionable features in the act; that perhaps some rates were not justified, but the beneficial provisions far outweighed and outnumbered the others.

Airplane Crash Fatal to Three

CUMBERLAND (Md.) Oct. 2. (AP) Three men were killed late today when an airplane in which they had taken off from the Cumberland Airport, nine miles west of here, crashed into a field.

The dead were William Skelly, pilot, who was observing his twenty-eighth birthday anniversary; Fred Lease, 37, and Glendon Huff, 24. Lease was instantly killed and Skelly and Huff died a few hours later at the Allevany County Hospital here. Skelly lived at Cresaptown, near the scene of the accident, and Lease and Huff at Cumberland.

POWER RULING BRINGS ACTION

Federal Commission Curb Causes Stir at Capital

More Stringent Control of Projects to Be Sought

Mitchell Opinion Questioned by Senator Brookhart

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2. (AP)—A new effort in Congress to achieve more stringent Federal control of waterpower development was promised today as a result of an opinion by Atty.-Gen. Mitchell under which the Power Commission's jurisdiction over tributaries to navigable streams will be sharply limited.

Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa, said he believes Mitchell's interpretation of the power act is incorrect, but regardless of this he proposes to seek an amendment to prevent the commission from waiving control over nonnavigable tributaries of rivers which are government-controlled waterways.

QUESTION OF POLICY

Brookhart said Senators Frazier and Nye, North Dakota Republicans, have agreed to join him in questioning the commission as to what policy it intends to adopt under the opinion. The latter was rendered on a protest by the Appalachian Electric Power Company to terms of a license for a development on the new river, tributary of the Kanawha, in West Virginia.

Meanwhile, F. E. Bonner, the commission's executive secretary, said the Mitchell opinion substantiates claims of certain States that the power group in the past had exceeded its jurisdiction, encroaching upon State rights.

POWER CURTAILMENT

Bonner's statement apparently indicates he holds the view that the commission will limit itself to obtaining assurance that navigation be unaffected by such power projects, and will relinquish the other phases of control generally written into licenses, dealing with capitalization and valuation.

Brookhart said the opinion "apparently gives the commission authority to destroy its own power."

"Shrewd power companies," he added, "have discovered the Attorney-General's opinion has opened wide the door to modification of licenses previously granted."

At the commission offices it was said the opinion affects six outstanding licenses and a considerable number of pending applications.

OIL POOLS UNITIZATION ADVOCATED

Petroleum Engineers Tell Advantages of Joint Plan at Institute Meeting

TULSA (Okla.) Oct. 2. (AP)—Unitization of oil pools, with drilling development carried on jointly by all property owners in the field, rather than individually, was advocated at today's session of the petroleum division, American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, as the most feasible means at hand for stabilization of the oil industry.

Advantages claimed for the plan were presented in papers by petroleum engineers, and further indorsement came from such visitors as Henry L. Doherty, of the Henry L. Doherty and Cities' Service Companies; James A. Veasey, vice-president and chief counsel of the Carter Oil Company, and W. P. Z. German, chief counsel of the Skelly Oil Company.

Joseph E. Pogue of New York, consulting economist, pointed out that the lowest-cost oil in the world comes from fields in Persia, Venezuela and Texas (the Yates pool,) where unit operation is practiced.

"Conditions now prevailing in the United States," Pogue continued, "are bound to emphasize the importance of production costs and to favor all means that will lead to their reduction."

COAL MINE STRIKERS FIRE BARN

Airplane Reported to Have Dropped Blazing Torch on Structure

MADISONVILLE (Ky.) Oct. 2. (AP) A furore was created here today by the burning of a barn belonging to James Smith, employee of Mine No. 1 of the Ross Coal Company, and by reports that an airplane had fired it by dropping a blazing torch.

Smith was one of a number of men who worked at the mine yesterday despite warnings of pickets of the striking miners. The barn was believed to have been fired in retaliation. Neither Sheriff Barnett nor John Ross, president of the company, was willing, however, to believe definitely that the plane fired the barn.

In the violence that has followed labor trouble in Western Kentucky coal mines and which is estimated to have caused $100,000 damage in Webster county alone, an airplane raid was made near Providence and bombs dropped last July but no damage resulted. The Federal grand jury in Louisville is investigating the case now and fourteen men have been arrested in connection with it.

PUBLIC UTILITIES QUIZ DELAYED INDEFINITELY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2. (AP)—The Federal Trade Commission today postponed indefinitely its investigation of public utilities after receiving testimony concerning the financial affairs of the Minnesota Power and Light Company. Commissioner Edgar A. McCulloch, who presided, said he will announce later when the hearings will be resumed.

Type and Equipment of Craft Attract Attention

BY WALDO DRAKE

As first of the fleet of eight 543-foot tankers building for the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey's services from Los Angeles Harbor to North Europe and North Atlantic ports, the big turbiner, G. Harrison Smith, will next Tuesday sail from the yards of the Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company at Kearny, N. J., on her maiden voyage. Use of new developments in their hull design, power plants and tank arrangements have made these new tankers the objects of general interest in the transportation field. The fleet is being built for the Standard Shipping Company of New York, operating subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

Half of the eight-ship fleet is being built in Germany, England and Italy as motorships, but interest centers on the G. Harrison Smith and her sister ship, the W. S. Farish, also nearing completion at Kearny, through the use of unusually high steam pressures and temperatures in their main turbines. They will each be driven by a De LaVal steam turbine, driving a single screw. Each of these main engines is composed of one high-pressure turbine and one low-pressure turbine in series, and coupled through flexible shafts to double reduction gears. They have a rated capacity of 4600 horsepower at seventy-five revolutions per minute, giving the ship a loaded speed of eleven knots. Two Babcock & Wilson water-tube boilers will deliver steam at a working pressure of 400 pounds, and at 750 deg. Fahr., said to be the highest steam pressure yet designed for an oil carrier.

The G. Harrison Smith will be followed in commission by the motorships J. A. Mowinckel and Peter Hurll, already launched in Europe. These eight giant tankers, of 18,000 deadweight tons capacity, are all being constructed on the bracketless system of longitudinal framing. Capacity of their main cargo tanks is about 706,000 cubic feet and their summer tank capacity 150,000 cubic feet. They will carry more than 120,000 barrels of oil as cargo in addition to 1300 tons of bunkers.

NEW LUCKENBACH SCHEDULE TO START

Beginning with the departure of the Robert Luckenbach tomorrow afternoon, local terminals of the Luckenbach Line will have seven eastbound sailings during October, according to William Robertson, terminal superintendent. Five of these freighters will load out for the North Atlantic trade as follows: Robert Luckenbach, sailing the 4th inst.; J. L. Luckenbach, 11th; K. I. Luckenbach, 18th; Susan V. Luckenbach, 20th; Edward Luckenbach, 25th. There will also be two sailings in Luckenbach-Gulf service, the Matthew Luckenbach, from this port on the 6th inst., and the Julia Luckenbach, sailing on the 19th.

Every vessel, said Mr. Robertson, will depart Los Angeles Harbor loaded to capacity with Pacific Coast freight; indicating a definite upturn in eastbound intercoastal traffic.

Fifteen hundred Southland football fans will go north to witness the U.S.C.-Stanford game on the 25th inst. aboard the Admiral liners H. F. Alexander and Ruth Alexander and the Lassco liner Yale. The Yale will sail at her regular 4 o'clock hour on the 24th inst. and return here at 7 p.m. of the 26th; the H. F. Alexander will sail north at 5 p.m. on the 24th, her last sailing of the season, and the 600 passengers she takes north will return here at 6 a.m. on the 27th aboard the steamers Dorothy Alexander and Admiral Peoples, while the Ruth Alexander will bring her own passengers back at the same time.

The Dorothy Alexander, sailing northward on November 6, and the Admiral Peoples, on the 13th, will enter the California-Puget Sound run on those dates as winter replacements of the H. F. Alexander.

E. A. Gilbert, United States manager for the Blue Star Line, with offices at New York, is due at the port November 1 in completion of a Pacific Coast inspection tour. Mr. Gilbert will come south aboard the Blue Star liner Viking Star, the ship sailing for the United Kingdom on that date as first of the seasonal apple and citrus fruit refrigerator fleet. She will be followed at fortnightly intervals by the Trojan Star, Gothic Star, Saxon Star and Celtic Star.

Arrival of the steamship Panaman of the American Hawaiian Line with the first general cargo to be landed at the new Long Beach warehouse and transit shed at the municipal dock in the inner harbor, will be celebrated Monday. Plans for the celebration were made today by city and civic officials.

University of California at Los Angeles has been booked for a football game by the Longshoremen's team on Armistice Day, it was announced yesterday by the Marine Service Bureau. The place has not been decided. The cargo tossers won their initial effort against Santa Paula American Legion last Sunday, 8 to 0, and will play the Santa Barbara Legionnaires the 5th inst., at Alamitos Bay. Other games scheduled will be with the West Coast Marine and the Submarines, both of San Diego, and with Oneonta school, the latter on Thanksgiving Day. Emanuel Laraneta, coach, is a protege of Howard Jones. The team has a dozen former university stars from as many schools, and many former navy men, including "Spud" Murphy, captain.

Effective yesterday Wilmington Transportation Company inaugurated its winter schedule of sailings to and from Catalina Island and Wilmington. That cuts the movements from five to two each way daily. From Wilmington the Catalina will sail at 10 a.m., and the Avalon at 4 p.m. From Avalon the Catalina will depart at 4 p.m., and the Avalon at 8 a.m. The smaller liner Cabrillo has been taken off its summer run between Wilmington and the Isthmus and is on dry dock at the yards of the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Corporation for overhaul. She is expected to re-enter the run in January.

The steamer San Julian is due from the north the 7th inst., to load cargo for United Kingdom as the second ship in the new American flag service of the Pacific-Atlantic Line, according to R. N. Tormey, local manager for Interocean Steamship Corporation, agents. The ship will call at Manchester, Liverpool and London and this trip will include Cardiff. She will dock at Berth 229-D, Terminal Island.

Hoover Tells Bankers' Association America Can Lead Way Out of World Depression

HIGH STANDARD OF LIVING MAINTENANCE URGED

Bankers Told America Must Dig Out of Present World-Wide Depression Independently

CLEVELAND (O.) Oct. 2. (AP)—The text of President Hoover's address before the American Bankers' Association here tonight follows:

I am glad to meet with this association of representative bankers from every State and almost every [illegible] of our country. During the past year you have carried the credit system of the nation safely through a most difficult crisis. In this success you have demonstrated not alone the soundness of the credit system but also the capacity of our bankers in emergency.

We have had a severe shock and there has been disorganization in our economic system which has temporarily checked the march of prosperity. But the fundamental assets of the nation, the education, intelligence, virility, and the spiritual strength of our 120,000,000 people, have been unimpaired. The resources of our country in lands and mines are undiminished. Scientific discovery and invention have made further progress. The gigantic equipment and unparalleled organization for production and distribution are in many parts even stronger than two years ago.

RESTORE ORDER

Though our production and consumption has been slowed down to [illegible] per cent of normal, yet by the very fact of the steady functioning of the major portion of our system do we have the assurance of our ability and the economic strength to overcome the decline. Our problem today is to complete the restoration of order in our ranks and to intensify our efforts to prevent such interruptions for the future.

And it is not a problem in academic economics. It is a great human problem. The margin of shrinkage brings loss of savings, unemployment, privation, hardship, and fear, which are no part of our ideals for the American economic system.

The depression is world-wide. Its causes and its effects lie only partly in the United States. Our country engaged in overspeculation in securities which crashed a year ago with great losses. A perhaps even larger immediate cause of our depression has been the effect upon us from the collapse in prices following overproduction of important raw materials, mostly in foreign countries. Particularly had the planting of rubber, coffee, wheat, sugar and to a lesser extent cotton expanded beyond world consumption even in normal times. The production of certain metals, such as silver, copper and zinc, had likewise been overexpanded.

OVEREXPANSIONS

The major overexpansions have taken place largely outside of the United States. Their collapse has reduced the buying power of many countries. The prosperity of Brazil and Colombia has been temporarily affected from the situation in coffee; Chile, Peru, Mexico and Australia from the fall in silver, zinc and copper. The buying power of India and China, dependent upon the price of silver, has been affected. Australia, Canada and the Argentine have been affected by the situation in wheat; Cuba and Java have been depressed by the condition of the sugar industry; East India generally has suffered from the fall in rubber. These and other causes have produced in some of the countries affected some political unrest. These economic disturbances have echoed in slowed-down demand for manufactured goods from Europe and ourselves, with inevitable contribution to unemployment. But the readjustments in prices, which were also inevitable, are far along their course. Most of these commodities are below the level at which sufficient production can be maintained for the world's normal needs, and therefore sooner or later must recover.

CAUSE WORLD-WIDE

Because the present depression is world-wide and because its causes were world-wide, does not require that we should wait upon the recovery of the rest of the world. We can make a very large degree of recovery independently of what may happen elsewhere.

I should like to remind you that we did precisely that thing in 1922. We were then experiencing the results of the collapse of war inflation in all commodities and in every direction. We had less organized co-operation between the business community and the government to help mitigate that situation. The rest of the world was in chaos from the war far more menacing both to economic and political stability than anything confronting us today. Our difficulties at that time were far more severe than they are at present. The commercial banks particularly were sufferers from a large volume of frozen credits and enjoyed nothing to compare with the comfortable liquidity that prevails today. We then had overexpansion and large stocks in most commodities; today with one or two exceptions we are free from this deterrent. But we led the world in recovery. It was our independent recuperation from that depression, and the economic strength which we so liberally and largely furnished to other countries, that was the very basis for reconstruction of a war-demoralized world.

We are able in considerable degree to free ourselves of world influences and make a large measure of independent recovery because we are so remarkably self-contained. Because of this, while our economic system is subject to the shock of world influences, we should be able, in large measure, to readjust ourselves. Our national production is over one-third of the total of the whole commercial world. We consume an average of about 90 per cent of our own production of commodities. If, for example, we assume a restored normal home consumption and hold even our present reduced basis of exports, we should be upon a 97 per cent of normal business basis. Even this illustration does not represent all of our self-contained strength.

We shall need mainly to depend upon our own strong arm for recovery, as other nations are in greater difficulty than we. We shall need again to undertake to assist and co-operate with them. Our imports of commodities in the main depend upon our domestic prosperity. Any forward movement in our recovery creates a demand for foreign raw materials and goods and thus instantly reacts to assist other countries the world over.

CONFIDENT OF FUTURE

I wish to take your time to discuss some of the pivotal relationships of the bankers not only to the immediate problem of recovery but to the wider problem of long-view business stability. Any discussion of the one involves the other.

Before I enter upon that subject, however, I wish to say that no one can occupy the high office of President and conceivably be other than completely confident of the future of the United States. Perhaps as to no other place does the cheerful courage and power of a confident people reflect as to his office. There are a few folks in business and several folks in the political world who resent the notion that things will ever get better and who wish to enjoy our temporary misery. To recount to these persons the progress of co-operation between the people and the government in amelioration of this situation, or to mention that we are suffering far less than other countries, or that savings are piling up in the banks, or that our people are paying off installment purchases, that abundant capital is now pressing for new ventures and employment, only inspires the unkind retort that we should fix our gaze solely upon the unhappy features of the decline. And, above all, to chide the pessimism of persons who have assumed the end of those mighty forces which for 150 years have driven this land further and further toward the great human goal—the abolition of intellectual and economic poverty—is perhaps not a sympathetic approach. Nevertheless, I always have been, and I remain, an unquenchable believer in the resistless, dynamic power of American enterprise. This is no time—an audience of American leaders of business is no place—to talk of any surrender. We have known a thousand temporary setbacks, but the spirit of this people will never brook defeat.

MUST PREVENT

Our present situation is not a new experience. These interruptions to the orderly march of progress have been recurrent for a century. And apart from recovery from the present depression, the most urgent undertaking in our economic life is to devise further methods of preventing these storms. We must assure a higher degree of business stability for the future.

The causes advanced for these movements are many and varied. There is no simple explanation. This is not an occasion for analysis of the many theories such as too little gold or the inflexible use of it. Whatever the remote causes may be, a large and immediate cause of most hard times is inflationary booms. These strike some segment of economic life somewhere in the world, and their re-echoing destructive results bring depression and hard times. These inflations in currency or credit, in land or securities, or overexpansion in some sort of commodity production beyond possible demand even in good times—may take place at home or abroad—but they all bring retribution.

The leaders of business, of economic thought, and of government have for the last decade given earnest search into cause and remedy of this sort of instability. Much has already been accomplished to check the violence of the storms and to mitigate their distress. As a result of these efforts the period of stable prosperity between storms is longer, the period of storm is shorter, and the relief work far more effective. But we need not go beyond our situation today to confirm the need for further effort.

ECONOMICAL PESTILENCES

The economic fatalist believes that these crises are inevitable and bound to be recurrent. I would remind these pessimists that exactly the same thing was once said of typhoid, cholera and smallpox. If medical science had sat down in a spirit of weak-kneed resignation and accepted these scourges as uncontrollable visitations of Providence, we should still have them with us. This is not the spirit of modern science. Science girds itself with painstaking research to find the nature and origin of disease and to devise methods for its prevention. That should be our attitude toward these economic pestilences. They are not dispensations of Providence. I am confident in the faith that their control, so far as the causes lie within our own boundaries, is within the genius of modern business.

We have all been much engaged with measures of relief from the effect of the collapse of a year ago. At that time I determined that it was my duty, even without precedent, to call upon the business of the country for co-ordinated and constructive action to resist the forces of disintegration. The business community, the bankers, labor, and the government have co-operated in wider spread measures of mitigation than have ever been attempted before. Our bankers and the reserve system have carried the country through the credit storm without impairment. Our leading business concerns have sustained wages, have distributed employment, have expedited heavy construction. The government has expanded public works, assisted in credit to agriculture, and has restricted immigration. These measures have maintained a higher degree of consumption than would have otherwise been the case. They have thus prevented a large measure of unemployment. They have provided much new employment. Our present experience in relief should form the basis of even more amplified plans in the future. But in the long view the equally important thing is prevention. We would need have less concern about what to do in bad times if we discovered and erected in good times further safeguards against the excesses which lead to these depressions.

MORE STABILITY

American business has proved its capacity to solve some great human problems in economics. The relation between employer and employee has here reached a more stable and satisfactory basis than anywhere else in the world. We have largely solved the problem of how to secure the consumption of the gigantic increase of goods produced through that multiplication of per capita production by the application of science and the use of labor-saving devices. That solution has been attained by sharing the savings in production costs between labor, capital and the consumer, through increased wages and salaries to the worker, and decreased prices to the consumer with consequent increased buying power for still more goods. Every step in that solution is a revolution from the older theories of business.

We may safely assume that our economic future is safe so far as it is dependent upon a competent handling of problems of productivity. But one result is to render further advance toward stability even more urgent, because with higher standards of living the whole system is more sensitive and the penalties of instability more widespread.

BANKERS CAN HELP

There is no one group of which the public expects so much in assuring stability as the bankers, because in the vortex of these storms many values lose their moorings. Nor can any other group contribute so much in constructive thought and action to solve the problem either today or in the long run.

Three most important relationships to these business movements lie in the banker's field. The first is what, for lack of better terms, we call psychology—both that contagious overoptimism which accelerates the inflation of the boom and those depths of fear and pessimism which deepen and prolong the depression. The American banker has come to occupy a unique position in the strategy of stability, for he is the economic adviser of American business. He is the listening post of economic movement. He in large measure makes or tempers its psychology.

I do not suppose the banker has consciously sought this new function of general adviser, but such he has become. His business is no longer the simple function of discounting commercial bills and lending money on first mortgages. That is today but part of his work. These days, when he establishes a line of credit to a business, or furnishes loans upon securities of a business, or advises investment in a business, he must know the elements which make for success and failure of that business. And he must form judgment as to the future trend of business in general. On the other side, the American business man, big and little, the farmer, and the labor leader are coming more and more to consult with the banker on problems of his business. Whatever the origin of his position may be, the banker is now the economic guide, philosopher, and friend of his customers, and his philosophy can dampen our enthusiasm and equally it can lift our courage and hope.

USE OF CREDIT

The second point of the banker's unique position in relation to business trends lies in the part which credit plays in the whole business process. Obviously during the inflatory period the use of credit for unwise expansion and speculation draws away the supply of credit from normal business. It imposes upon normal business an interest rate which strangles the orderly commerce of the country. Commerce sickens under this pressure, its pace slackens and contributes to collapse. Therefore, I wish to emphasize what has long been recognized—that is, that the flow of credit can accelerate and it can retard such movements. Equally a wise direction of credit provides a large contribution to recovery from depressions.

The third reason why this is so much a banker's problem is that banking is the one great line of business activity that is in itself interconnected. Each credit institution shares the credit burdens of others and all are largely co-ordinated through national organization—the Federal Reserve system.

The reserve system and its member banks and the Treasury participation in fact form a widespread co-operative organization, acting in the broad interest of the whole people. To a large degree it can influence the flow of credit. Bankers themselves are represented at each stage of management. And, in addition, the various boards and advisory committees represent also industry, agriculture, merchandising and the government. The reserve system therefore furnishes an admirable center for co-operation of the banking business with the production and distribution industries and the government in the development of broad and detached policies of business stability.

CO-OPERATION URGED

You have gained much experience from the two great crises of recent years. I trust you will seriously and systematically consider what further effective measures can be taken either in the business world or in co-operation with the government in development of such policies, both for the present depression and for the future. I know of no greater public service. It is a service to every business man, to every farmer, to every worker, whether at the desk or bench. I am not assuming you can do it all, or that all disturbance, domestic or foreign, can be wholly prevented or cured.

The government should co-operate. It plays a large part in the credit structure of the country. Its fiscal system has most important bearings. For instance, I believe an inquiry might develop that our system of taxes upon capital gains directly encourages inflation by strangling the free movement of land and securities.

The regulatory functions of the Federal and State governments also have a bearing on this subject through their effect upon the financial strength of the railways and utilities. During a period of depression the soundest and most available method of relief to unemployment is expansion of public works and construction in the utilities, railways and heavy industries. The volume of possible expansion of construction in these private industries is about four or five times that in public works. During the present depression these industries have done their full part, but especially the railways have been handicapped by some provisions of the Transportation Act of 1920. With wider public vision the railways could be strengthened into a greater balance wheel of stability. We have need to consider all of our economic legislation, whether banking, utilities or agriculture, or anything else, from the point of view of its effect upon business stability.

MUST CURE ABUSES

I have never believed that our form of government could satisfactorily solve economic problems by direct action—could successfully conduct business institutions. The government can and must cure abuses. What the government can do best is to encourage and assist in the creation and development of institutions controlled by our citizens and evolved by themselves from their own needs and their own experience and directed in a sense of a trusteeship of public interest. The Federal Reserve is such an institution.

Without intrusion the government can sometimes give leadership and serve to bring together divergent elements and secure co-operation in development of ideas, measures and institutions. That is a reinforcement of our individualism. It does not cripple the initiative and enterprise of our people by the substitution of government.

Proper co-operation among our people in public interest and continuation of such institutional growths strengthen the whole foundation of the nation, for self-government outside of political government is the truest form of self-government. It is in this manner that these problems should be met and solved.

I wish to revert to the influence of the bankers, through encouragement and leadership, in expedition of our recovery from the present situation. You have already done much, and at this juncture the responsibility of those in control of money and credit is very great. Without faith on your part and without your good offices, the early return to full prosperity cannot be accomplished. This depression will be shortened largely to the degree that you feel that you can prudently, by counsel and specific assistance, instill into your clients from industry, agriculture, and commerce a feeling of assurance.

We know that one of the prerequisites of ending a depression is an ample supply of credit at low rates of interest. This supply and these rates are now available through the co-operation of the banks and the Federal Reserve system.

INCOME NOT CUT

The income of a large part of our people is not reduced by the depression but it is affected by unnecessary fears and pessimism, the result of which is to slacken the consumption of goods and discourage enterprise. Here the very atmosphere of your offices will affect the mental attitude and, if you please, courage, of the individuals who will depend upon you for both counsel and money. Many perhaps all of you, have been through other periods of depression. Those of you who have had occasion to review the experience of the past will, I believe, join in the thought that there comes a time in every depression when the changed attitude of the financial agencies can help the upward movement in our economic forces.

I started with the premise that this question of stability was much more than a problem in academic economics — it is a great human problem, for it involves the happiness of millions of homes. A continued unity of effort, both in our present situation and in establishing safeguards for the future, is the need of today. No one can contribute more than our banking community.

STANDARDS DEFENDED

It appears from the press that some one suggested in your discussion that our American standards of living should be lowered. To that I emphatically disagree. I do not believe it represents the views of this association. Not only do I not accept such a theory but on the contrary the whole purpose and ideal of this economic system which is distinctive of our country is to increase the standard of living by the adoption and the constantly widening diffusion of invention and discovery among the whole of our people.

Any retreat from our American philosophy of constantly increasing standards of living becomes a retreat into perpetual unemployment and the acceptance of a cesspool of poverty for some large part of our people.

Our economic system is but an instrument of the social advancement of the American people. It is the security by which we add to the security of richness of life of every individual. It by no means comprises the whole purpose of life, but it is the foundation upon which can be built the finer things of the spirit. Increase in enrichment must be the objective of the nation, not decrease.

In conclusion I would again profess my own undaunted faith in those mighty spiritual and intellectual forces of liberty, self-government, initiative, invention and courage, which have throughout our whole national life motivated our progress, and driven us ever forward. These forces, which express the true genius of our people, are undiminished. They have already shown their ability to resist this immediate shock. Any recession in American business is but a temporary halt in the prosperity of a great people.

FLUFFED FOR SOFTNESS

ZEE is new, and we want you to know its superior quality. That is why we make this generous offer of one free roll—40c value for 25c.

Zee is softer because a recently perfected process fluffs up a gentle nap, giving a surface pleasant to the touch and adding greatly to the absorbency of the tissue. Though of petal delicacy, Zee is almost as tough and firm as fabric.

Zee is made of fresh, pure pulp under conditions of sanitary cleanness and the tissue is kept clean by a tucked-in wrapper as protective as the wrapper of hospital gauze. Zee is better, yet more economical! Each roll contains 100 extra sheets.

We are confident that if you will try Zee, you will appreciate its fineness and softness and will prefer it to any tissue you have used. So we urge you to take advantage of this offer before your dealer's limited stock at this special price is exhausted.

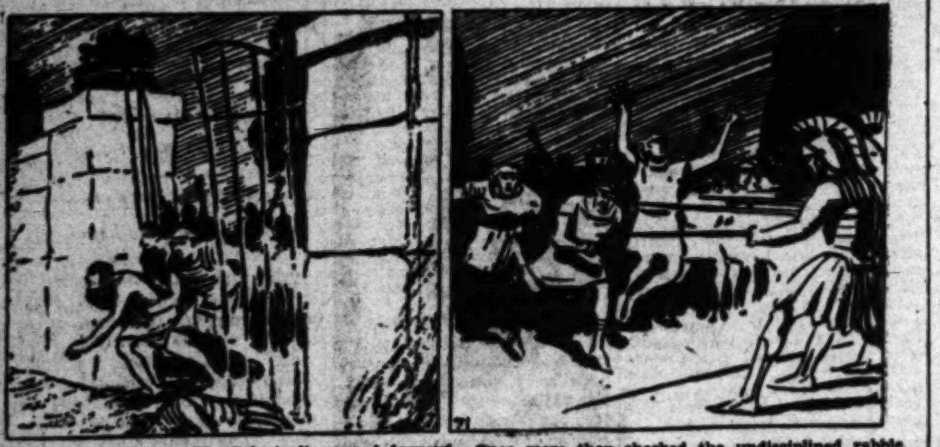
TARZAN AND THE LOST EMPIRE

By Edgar Rice Burroughs



As the mob in the Via Principalis surged forward, the weight of sheer numbers finally forced the great gates to give way and shrieking citizens poured into the palace grounds. But the veteran legionaries, forced back, made a new stand at the entrance to the palace.

Once more they checked the undisciplined rabble. Guardsmen dragged an onanger to the palace steps and began discharging stones into the midst of the crowd, which continued to rush forward to fall upon the pikes of the palace defenders. In the distance trumpets sounded.

The trumpets announced the coming of Caesar's reinforcements. These fresh troops, sternly disciplined, dissolved the mob in screaming flight. Individuals, seeking any shelter they might find, were pursued by the legionaries with flaming torches and bloody swords.

Back into the little room which they had come fell Tarzan and his followers. The doorway was small and it was not difficult for a few men to hold it. But now retreat was cut off in the palace grounds. Tarzan's band was trapped, with Caesar's soldiers on all sides.

HUNDRED AND FIRST BIRTHDAY OBSERVED

Mrs. Lydia Stewart

REDLANDS, Oct. 2. — Redlands's oldest citizen, as years go, Mrs. Lydia Stewart, celebrated her 101st birthday with friends and relatives at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William T. Ferguson, in Sylvan Park today. It was a quiet celebration but one which "Grandma" Stewart thoroughly enjoyed.

Last year Mrs. Stewart's 100th anniversary was celebrated by practically the whole city and none enjoyed the event more than she. Motion-picture companies sent cameras to take pictures of her waltzing with her son-in-law, and she laughingly admitted that "the first hundred years are the hardest."

She is enjoying good health although she has suffered one serious illness since she passed the century mark. She does not hear well but she reads a great part of the time and fortunately can hear music over the radio.

Among relatives here for the celebration were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stewart of San Diego, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stewart of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Barker of Riverside, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ferguson of Covina. "Grandma" Steware came across the plains in a covered wagon.

Head of Valley's Water Branch Dies by Stroke

VAN NUYS, Oct. 2.—San Fernando Valley again lost one of its prominent citizens in the death last night of Phillip C. Scott, 40 years of age, head of valley's branch of the Los Angeles Water Department at Van Nuys, as well as head of the commercial offices of both water and power departments in Van Nuys. He was stricken with apoplexy while in his auto, and was conveyed to the Van Nuys Receiving Hospital, where he soon died. Scott came here about five years ago from Owensmouth where he had been with the department for a number of years. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Gertrude W. Scott; a daughter, Adelaide, and a son, Phillip Scott, Jr. As Scott was the secretary of the Owensmouth Masonic Lodge it is probable that lodge will have charge of the ceremonies. Date of the funeral has not been set.

COUNTY ASSESSOR BACK FROM MEETING

REDLANDS, Oct. 2.—A. E. Allen of this city, county assessor, has returned from Catalina where he attended the State assessors' convention and read a paper on his method of assessing citrus property.

The subject of preponderant interest through the convention and the one which all delegates supported, said Mr. Allen, is Amendment 18, which will be on the November ballot. This measure if passed will amend the State Constitution to provide an increased registration fee for automobile owners and eliminate the present method of taxing automobiles in personal property assessments. Thousand of dollars in tax revenues are lost annually through the present method, Allen said, because there are numerous ways in which the automobile owner may dodge payments of the tax on his machine. The amendment is designed to include payment of the tax when the motorist applies for new license plates each year. George Threlfall of Stanislaus county was elected president.

HE WASN'T COLD "'LASSES"

Traveling Too Speedily Than Reputed Rate of That Congealed Sweetening, Asserted Friend of Amos 'n Andy Must "Tell It to Judge"

SANTA BARBARA, Oct. 2.—Maybe Amos 'n Andy could have argued State Traffic Officer Orville Ellis out of a ticket, but Leon (Lasses) Brown, admitted the "Red Hot Henry Brown" of Central avenue, Los Angeles, was an utter failure—even if he did confidently tell him that he was the man that wrote script for the popular radio entertainers.

It seems like Leon (Lasses) Brown was in a hurry to make his Central-avenue residence this morning while driving through Carpinteria in his expensive new front-drive car, and was sirened to the roadside by the guardian of the law.

The usual questioning revealed that "Lasses" was minus two very important items—an operator's license and a certificate for the car. Ellis meant, so he says, only to warn the offender to lessen foot pressure against the throttle, but circumstances necessitated a ticket.

Arguing that the must get to Los Angeles, Brown offered as an inducement to Ellis the opportunity to meet Amos 'n Andy, who, he said, were great friends of his, and his employers—yep, he wrote the script for the boys.

Within the next five days, Leon (Lasses) Brown must return from Central avenue, Los Angeles, to explain it all to Justice of the Peace Jerome Tubbs of Carpinteria.

LEGION PLANS CELEBRATION

Orange County Posts Bend Efforts Toward Armistice Day Observance, With "Parade of States"

ANAHEIM, Oct. 2.—The American Legion in Orange county is bending every effort to make the coming Armistice Day celebration, to be held here November 11, the greatest in the eleven-year history of the event, according to Ray E. Smith, chairman of the general committee of pos', in charge of arrangements.

The piece de resistance will be a parade of floats entitled "A Pageant of States," in which upward of sixty entries are expected, all of which will depict some historical epoch in the particular State chosen.

Contracts have been signed for the appearance of eighteen bands, including one from the United States battleship fleet Several of the crack Legion drum corps of the Southland will be in the parade and in the evening will stage an exhibition under the arc lights at the municipal park.

Anaheim and Brea-Olinda high football teams will clash in the afternoon in an Orange League game. Several of the leading tennis stars of Southern California are expected to give an exhibition on the city park courts.

During the noon intermission the Merchants' Association of the city will present a free vaudeville show in the Greek Theater, and during the afternoon will also offer a daylight pyrotechnic display.

A grand ball at the Elks' clubhouse, following dinner at the same place at which B. W. Gearhart of Fresno, State department commander will be the guest speaker, will be followed by a midnight matinee at the Fox Theater.

Upward of thirty silver trophies will be awarded in the various divisions of the parade, and for other events on the program, which the committee hopes will not permit an idle moment after the 11 o'clock gun signalizes the beginning of the celebration.

Battleship for Santa Barbara Armistice Day

SANTA BARBARA, Oct. 2.—A battleship has been assigned to Santa Barbara Armistice Day, November 11, Postmaster James V. Rickard announced today following a request by Sidney McFarland of the Santa Barbara American Legion Post. Postmaster Rickard made request to United States Senator Samuel M. Shortridge for a battleship to participate in the Armistice Day program here. Senator Shortridge took the matter up with the Secretary of the Navy and today a telegram was received by Postmaster Rickard stating formal instruction had been given Rear-Admiral Schofield, commander of the battleship fleet, to send a warship here.

In asking for a battleship request was made that one be sent with full equipment in order that its personnel might have a leading part in the Armistice Day parade and also provide a football eleven to oppose the American Legion team here in a game on Armistice Day, as one of the features of the celebration.

UTAH SCRIBE IN TWO JAILS IN ONE DAY

ONTARIO, Oct. 2.—James P. Casey, Ogden (Utah) newspaper man, played no favorites with local jails while here on a vacation from his Utah duties. Filled with Ontario climate and wine, he became too exuberant on the streets and was taken to jail to think it over. Later he paid a fine of $25 and was released. His release was effected about 4 p.m. and a few hours later he found himself in the Upland jail, three miles distant from the Ontario jail. Same offense, but the fine was $5 higher, making in all $55 for his vacation in the sister cities.

BANDIT PAIR RUN DOWN QUICKLY

Suspects Arrested Within Twenty Minutes After Robbery of Drug Store

GLENDALE, Oct. 2. — Within twenty minutes after they had robbed a drug store at San Fernando Road and Western avenue last night, two bandits were arrested by police and are said to have confessed the robbery. The two men were interrupted in their hold-up of the store when two motorcycle officers, H. E. Coombs and W. G. Owen, halted in front of the store while patrolling the district. The bandits walked from the store, turned a corner and fled down an alley. Coombs and Owen, thinking the men were customers of the store, paid no attention to them until a call from R. G. Smith, 646 West Doran street, clerk in the pharmacy, who had been forced at the point of a gun to open one of the cash registers, from which the bandits obtained $16.50, attracted their attention. The officers at once started to comb the district for the bandits and were reinforced within a few minutes by Detectives Woodward and Johnson, who took the suspects into custody at Kenneth Road and Western avenue.

In their flight the bandits, who gave the names of Alexander H. Smith, 24 years of age, and Herman L. Broderick, 30, of Los Angeles, threw away the gun used in the hold-up, the weapon being recovered later by the police. The rapidity with which the police patrol was thrown around the district prevented the suspects from reaching their automobile that was parked near by, and assisted in their capture. The money taken from the store was recovered and Smith, the clerk, identified the two men as the bandits.

AGED WOMAN ENDS LIFE

Mrs. Grace E. Luce of Glendale Saturates Cloth With Chloroform and Wraps It Around Her Head

GLENDALE, Oct. 2.—After leaving explicit instructions regarding the disposition of her property, and adding a request that a minister be asked to "say a few words" at her funeral, Mrs. Grace Evelyn Luce, 65 years of age, of 224 North Louise street, lay down on her bed, wrapped a cloth around her head and saturated it with chloroform, dying from the effects of the drug.

Police who forced an entrance to her rooms today found her body, after a neighbor, Mrs. C. A. Campbell, of the same address, stated that she had not seen Mrs. Luce since yesterday.

Detective Lieutenant Charles P. Blake found a note addressed to Mrs. Campbell, asking her to supervise the funeral arrangements, while a will that was found in the bedroom named Attorney C. H. Hasbrouck as her executor.

The note to Mrs. Campbell, asked that Rev. Anton M. Hanson, pastor of the Congregational Church, be asked to speak at her funeral, and that a $5 bill be given to the Salvation Army.

The beneficiaries named in the will are Florence Luce, Hoquiam, Wash., Vivian L. Percy and Lawrence Lieray, whose addresses were not given. The three are said to be stepchildren of Mrs. Luce. Mrs. Luce formerly lived in Burbank and is said to have derived her income largely from property in that city.

The local Legion group has thrice been designated at annual State conventions as the California post "which has been of greatest service to its community during the year." MARDI GRAS IN ONTARIO ANNOUNCED

Success of Last Year's Community Frolic Leads to Plans for Repetition

ONTARIO, Oct. 2.—Having scored a great success with a community Hallowe'en frolic last year, a committee of leading business men has been appointed to stage a much larger Mardi Gras in the downtown district Friday evening, the 31st inst.

J. S. Armstrong of Armstrong Nurseries, has been appointed general chairman for the Hallowe'en party. Organizations sponsoring the frolic include the Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions and 20-30 clubs; Boy Scouts, Girls' Work organization, American Legion and Y.M.C.A.

The west drive of Euclid avenue between A and C streets will be roped off. The Mardi Gras will be featured by a costume parade for which elaborate prizes are to be awarded for costumes, floats, hick conveyances, marchers and bands. Adults who are costumed and mingle with the throngs are to be singled out and awarded prizes, also.

A series of stages are to be erected between A and C streets on which will be presented vaudeville numbers.

School officials have united heartily with the general committee in arranging for the frolic. Last year there was practically no damage done within the city as the parade and vaudeville program kept everyone interested in what was going on downtown.

The general committee has adopted a slogan "It's all in fun," for the occasion.

Compromise in Local Labor Plan Effected

PASADENA, Oct. 2. — In lieu of passing the home-labor ordinance, which was rejected in the face of protests by labor organizations, the Board of City Directors today effected a compromise by appointing Rubin T. Smith to serve as a contact man betweel local contractors and laborers on municipal construction jobs.

Smith will head the men's division of the city's employment agency. During the approaching construction of the $1,200,000 civic auditorium he will maintain a careful check to ascertain whether local residents are being given preference in selection of workmen. A clause to be written in the auditorium contract will stipulate that the contractor will be penalized $5 a day for each nonresident employed in excess of certain limitations.

The principal aim of the new employment expert will be to provide work for local laborers at all seasons through persistent contacting of contractors in this vicinity.

A connection was established by Smith today with the Arizona Cotton Growers' Association, which offers free transportation and shelter for a number of unemployed men in this city. Employment until early spring for those accepted is said to be guaranteed.

The ordinance, which the city board passed on first reading and later rejected on second reading, when serious complications were revealed by City Manager R. V. Orbison, provided that contractors on city jobs must employ 75 per cent of their labor in this city, three months' residence being construed to entitle laborers to this preference.

The City Directors announced that despite rejection of the ordinance they would continue the policy of stipulating employment of local labor wherever feasible on contracts. The appointment today of an unbiased agent for obtaining employment is characterized as a forward step by local labor groups.

Pair Testify to Petting Party, Then Arrested

SANTA ANA, Oct. 2.—After they had boldly testified of misdeeds on an Anaheim petting party, which landed George Graham in jail on a charge filed by a young Mexican girl, Miss Jessie Dykes and Joe Torres of Anaheim were ordered here today under arrest by Justice K. E. Morrison on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of the girl.

Torres and Miss Dykes had been with Graham and the younger girl at the time of the offense, they said on the witness stand. Torres appeared to be slightly amused as he testified of the events.

When the hearing was concluded and Graham was held for trial on the charge, Justice Morrison pointed to Torres and Miss Dykes and directed Deputy Sheriff A. L. Steward to arrest them.

Preliminary Set for Silverthorn Girl by Justice

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 2.—Florence Silverthorn, former Tia Juana "percentage girl," will face preliminary hearing at 10 a.m. the 22nd inst. before Justice Arthur L. Mundo, on a charge of shooting to death Richard Robinson, a sailor.

The girl was arraigned before Justice Mundo this morning and the time for hearing was set. She is being held in the County Jail without bail.

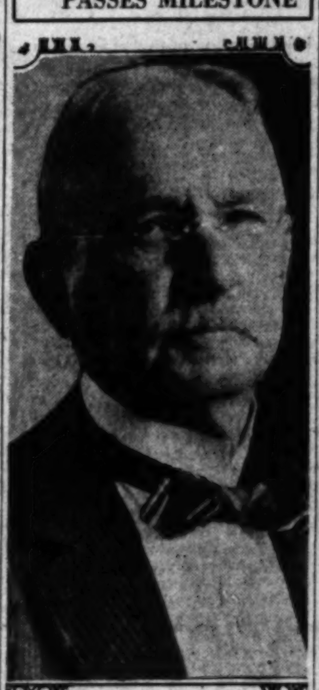
A coroner's jury which heard testimony yesterday at Bonham's mortuary decided the girl fired the fatal shots.

REPUBLICAN LEADER PASSES MILESTONE



Cadet Taylor

POMONA, Oct. 2.—The eighty-second birthday anniversary of former State Senator Cadet Taylor of 198 Jefferson avenue, this city, who during his residence here of seventeen years has made himself a prominent figure in Republican politics, besides having been very active in local civic affairs, was the inspiration which brought scores of his friends and fellow-workers from over the Southland to personally pay him homage yesterday afternoon and evening, while many others sent felicitataions by mail, telegraph and special messenger, besides other gifts of flowers and presents by his more intimate friends and relatives.

He was especially honored for his intensive work of late years in the interests of a Federal building in this city, the successful culmination of which is in the offing, and will be a reality during the coming year, when such a building will be erected by the United States government upon a site already purchased, to house the local postoffice, besides fourteen other governmental agencies.

EVANS PAYS TRIBUTE

Congressman W. E. Evans of Gledale delivered a charming tribute to the veteran worker last evening, when, in the presence of a houseful of assembled friends and admirers at Taylor's residence, he drew a word picture of the man's work in governmental and civic affairs from his service in the government printing office in Washington, through the editorship of several eastern newspapers, his service at the State Capitol, and especially his loyal and untiring efforts to secure the new Federal structure in this city. "God has been merciful to this man, and he will live to see his fondest dream realized, as ground is to be broken within the next few months for the building, thanks to the strenuous efforts of Mr. Taylor," the Congressman concluded.

Born in Magnolia, Putnam county, Ill., September 30, 1848, Taylor has led an active and intense life. Newspaper work has always fascinated him, his career really taking foothold with his work of several years as assistant to the chief of the governmental printing office in Washington. Later he edited the Omaha Republican of Omaha, and also was collector of customs there under McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft. He also edited a paper in Wenona, Ill., before coming to California in 1915. Settling at once in this city, he immediately became interested in citrus culture, at the present time being in this business with his two sons, Herbert and Wallace of Upland. He has been active as chairman of the Republican Congressional committee for the Ninth district and also served as State Senator in 1926 and 1927.

In the Spring of 1927 he was struck and run down by an automobile while engaged in State affairs at Sacramento, suffering a broken hip and other injuries. Taylor has since been more or less confined to his home, on rare occasions being able to make his appearance before public gatherings. For the most part, his activities are directed from his study in his home, which is the Mecca for Republicans from over Southern California who seek his counsel.

PROMINENT GUESTS THERE

Numbered among the out-of-town guests in addition to scores of local friends, were: Jessie J. Lynch, a former schoolmate, Los Angeles; Willis M. Baum, assemblyman from Los Angeles; Charles T. Myer, El Monte; J. E. Van Mater, Downey; N. R. Murray, El Monte publisher; J. W. Calvert, Jr., Azusa; Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Davey, Pasadena; George E. Waldo, Pasadena; A. C. Malone, Matt Q. Giffen, J. L. Cowger and Thomas H. Mylott, of Long Beach; A. J. Walker, Monrovia; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh A. Thatcher, Walnut; Congressman W. E. Evans, Glendale; Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Cross, Puente; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Mathews, Covina publisher; Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Harvey, Riviera; R. M. Fryer, Spadra; O. D. Way, San Dimas; Senator J. W. McKinley, Los Angeles, and Miss Ethel D. Barker, private secretary to Congressman Evans. Besides these guests, there were scores of congratulatory messages received from well-known citizens in this section of the State.

In a speech at the close of the celebration, Taylor reiterated, in an impromptu manner, his desire for an adequate tariff to protect California products from foreign competition, and expressed pleasure for the successful culmination of his dream of a new Federal building here and his successful efforts in introducing a bill during his incumbency in the State Senate which renders State aid to county fairs throughout the State. In closing he especially complimented the management of the Los Angeles County Fair for their vision and successful working out of the Southland's largest fair.

SANTA PAULA WINS AT FAIR

Ventura County Awards It Class A First Place

Camarillo Awarded Blue Ribbon in Class B

Second Day of Exhibition Brings Large Throng

VENTURA, Oct. 2.—Santa Paula's exhibit in the Ventura County Fair was awarded first place in Class A, towns of over 5000 population, when judges completed their inspection of the community exhibits today. Camarillo's exhibit took first in Class B, towns of under 5000 population. Other awards in Class A were: Fillmore, second; Ventura, third, and Oxnard, fourth. Saticoy's exhibit won second place in Class B.

San Joaquin county's exhibit was awarded first prize in the county entries today by the judges, with the Orange county entry second, Santa Barbara third, Riverside fourth and San Bernardino fifth.

With more than 3000 persons crowding past the gates before noon today, the second day of Ventura county's seventeenth annual fair was auspiciously launched. The open-air pavilion was crowded for the dancing and singing this morning and the crowds thronged through the agricultural, commercial, junior fair and automobile show tents, impressed by the well-arranged exhibits in all departments.

At noon todday the annual Ventura County Farm Bureau barbecue was held, an immense crowd partaking of the barbecue dinner at the fairground pits. Charles Pope, president of the bureau, presided. No addresses were made, the affair being a general get-together.

Products of the soil of Ventura county are gathered in an amazing display in the agricultural tent at the fair this year, and are arranged to better advantage than in recent years. Thousands of lemons and oranges give a golden color to the show, with the rich greens of perfect fruits and vegetables giving a verdant note, while all the other things which made this county known in the far markets of the world are shown in abundance.

There are more displays than ever before, all carefully executed and well placed in the giant tent.

Construction Under Way on New Power Line

RIVERSIDE, Oct. 2. — E. J. Waugh, construction engineer for the Southern Sierras Power Company, today announced that work was begun yesterday on the new 88,000-volt steel-pole power line to connect the Palo Verde Valley with the main transmission system of the Southern Sierras Company at Calipatria.

A crew of men has been sent from Riverside to Calipatria to begin on that end of the line. Waugh stated that nearly 100 men will be at work by the middle of October.

The Calipatria-Blythe line is to be seventy miles in length, is of steel-pole construction throughout, with aluminum conductors suspended from the fifty-eight-foot poles by strings of eleven-inch disc insulators, six to the string. More than 1,000,000 pounds of steel will be required for its construction; 350,000 pounds of aluminum conductor and 11,000 insulators will be used.

The line will have a capacity of more than 40,000 horsepower, and will cost, together with the terminal substations, about $330,000.

A strictly modern steel substation will be erected at Blythe, and an addition will be made to the existing station at Calipatria.

The company's plans call for completion of the line by the first of January.

Receivership Plea Hinges Upon Hearing

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 2.—Whether a receiver should be appointed to direct affairs of La Jolla Shores Corporation must be determined at trial of the complaint brought by members of the Hollywood movie colony who had invested in the development, Superior Judge C. N. Andrews has ruled.

The investors, explaining they are resisting proposals that their interests in parts of the property be subject to special assessments, have sued for injunction, accounting, and appointment of a receiver.

The court issued the temporary restraint petitioned for by the investors, provided the plaintiffs post $10,000 bond to insure the corporation against unjust loss.

No evidence of mismanagement has been offered sufficient to warrant immediate selection of a receiver, the court found.

Woman Loses in Fraud Suit

SANTA BARBARA, Oct. 2.—On motion of the defense Superior Judge S. E. Crow yesterday dismissed the suit of Mrs. Tpckla Nilson against her former husband, Nils August Nilson, charging fraud in connection with property settlements effected when the couple separated in 1928.

Mrs. Nilson asserted at the time of the court settlement Nilson had in his own name large land holdings in the northwest section of the city. The settlement granted Mrs. Nilson half interest in the sale of a lot. It later was asserted that Nilson had deceived the court and his wife by withholding certain properties in his possession at the time.

The estimated profits for the third quarter of $216,000 compare with net earnings of $175,817.65 for the like period of 1929, and include no sale of capital assets, the report stated.

CALIFORNIA CROP VALUE TOTAL HIGH

Estimate Given Out by Santa Fe Railway Sets Figure at $750,000,000

"California agriculture will come through this year of depression with a total income of more than $750,000,000," says the Santa Fe Railway's October 1 crop report. "This includes fruit of all kinds, vegetables, grain crops and live stock, and will compare favorably with the last five years."

With the exception of citrus, production in nearly all lines has been normal or better. The new citrus crop, which will start with navel oranges about December 1, continues to be in excellent condition and growers are optimistic over the outlook. Production will be considerably above that of the present season, but under that of the banner season of 1928-1929.

The largest fall acreage of lettuce in the history of the State has just been planted in Arizona and the amount planted early is off to a good start. The acreage is placed at 19,000 acres, compared with 12,500 acres last year. Picking of green peas in the Chino Valley district, near Prescott, is in progress. A 10 to 20 per cent greater citrus crop than last season is predicted for Arizona and with young acreage coming into bearing the crop in 1931 should be a record-breaker, the report states.

"Favorable weather during the past few weeks has served to keep Arizona in the limelight as the bright spot on the nation's agricultural map," says the Santa Fe report. "Range conditions continue to improve as a result of the copious rains of late summer, and the condition of both range and stock is nearly perfect."

AIR MAIL SET-UP AWAITED

Details of New Operating Company Expected Soon; Western Air to Continue Other Routes

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Until conferences between the Postmaster-General and officers of Western Air Express and T.A.T.-Maddux are concluded, the details of operation and management of the central transcontinental mail and passenger route will not be known. Release of this information is expected some time this week.

Clarification of the original announcement concerning a new operating company to fly the Los Angeles-New York route will probably be found in the disclosure of final details. The proposed operating company, as previously stated, will not involve a consolidation of all the assets of the companies awarded the contract, but only those assets now employed in transcontinental service.

EQUIPMENT POOLED

Western Air Express and T.A.T.-Maddux, as the plan is understood here, will turn over to the new company the transport planes, airport facilities, radio service, etc., now utilized by these companies in flying passengers over their transcontinental routes. Not much is known of the assets of Pittsburgh Aviation Industries Corporation, third party to the mail contract, except that it is the owner of eastern airports.

Both Western Air and T.A.T.-Maddux are expected to withdraw from transcontinental passenger service as individual operators. The new company will provide this service for both operators, as well as carry the mail.

Western Air Express, however, will continue as a corporation operating over all its existing network of territory with the exception of the Los Angeles-Kansas City run. Leaving out the transcontinental leg, the future operations of Western Air will cover the mail contracts between Los Angeles and Salt Lake City and Cheyenne and Pueblo, both of which have been awarded, and passenger service between Los Angeles, San Francisco and Seattle; Los Angeles to San Diego; Los Angeles to Catalina; and Denver to El Paso to Amarillo, Tulsa and other midcontinent points.

Western Air's line from Los Angeles to El Paso, as previously forecast, will undoubtedly be sold to the Aviation Corporation, winner of the Los Angeles-to-Atlanta mail contract.

ACTIVITIES REDUCED

Transferring by T.A.T.-Maddux of its transcontinental facilities to the new company will leave only the California routes from Los Angeles to San Francisco and Los Angeles to Agua Caliente as the remaining assets. The supposition is that these operations will be discontinued unless part of the Los Angeles-San Francisco mail business is obtainable. At any rate, T.A.T.-Maddux's principal asset will be its interest in the Los Angeles-New York company.

Equal shares, which will probably show substantial profits, will be held in the new company by Western Air and T.A.T.-Maddux. Only a minority interest, probably around 10 per cent, will go to the Pittsburgh group, reputed to be identified with the Mellon interests.

Operating management of the new company largely will be in the hands of Western Air personnel, with C. M. Keys, head of T.A.T.-Maddux, and Harris M. Hanshue, head of Western Air, as the chief executives of the transcontinental set-up.

Richfield Oil Votes to Omit Cash Dividend

Fulfilling the expectation of the street as reflected in heavy liquidation of the stock to a new low of 7 3-8, directors of the Richfield Oil Company of California yesterday passed the quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share on the common, which was due for declaration at this time.

After selling down to a new low under a total volume of 21,500 shares, Richfield common recovered slightly at the close to a final price of 8 3-8. The recovery was attributed mainly to short covering.

After the close of the market, James A. Talbot, chairman of the board, issued the following statement:

"In the interest of conservation and in the light of present business conditions, the board of directors of the Richfield Oil Company of California today omitted the dividend on the common stock. This will permit the building up of cash reserves and is in line with the policy adopted by a number of other large companies throughout the country."

Directors recently declared the regular quarterly dividend on the preferred, which will be paid November 1 to stockholders of record the 4th inst. The preferred stock yesterday sold down to 9 3-4 and finished at 10½.

CUBA IN SERIOUS SITUATION

Sugar Overproduction and Failure of Plan for Curtailment Cause of Plight

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Cuba, "the pearl of the Antilles," is in trouble—its most serious trouble since the United States in 1900 made the island free and independent.

For 150 years, sugar has been Cuba's one crop and the barometer of its prosperity. In 1920, it exported more than $700,000,000 worth of the raw product.

After that prices began to decline. In 1922 its sugar export was but $276,000,000. This rose to $368,000,000 in 1925, but it dropped again to $199,000,000 in 1928.

The term of President Machado, inaugurated President in 1925, does not expire until 1933. He has many powerful political enemies.

In 1927 Cuba passed a sugar defense act authorizing a commission of five to investigate and create a sugar export corporation. In January, 1928, the President signed a decree fixing the Cuban sugar crop at 4,000,000 long tons, of which 3,300,000 were sent to the United States, and the balance to the rest of the world. But this plan didn't work.

There is plenty of unrest in the island. A strict censorship over the local press, and, possibly over the foreign, already exists. The constitutional rights of their citizens may be suspended any time.

Everyone hopes that intervention by the United States can be avoided. Those who understand Cuban conditions realize, however, that the situation now is anything but encouraging.

Chain-store leaders, in session in Chicago this week, are grappling with the most difficult problem yet faced—how to become integral parts of local communities.

"The duties of chain stores, as citizens of communities in which they operate, are rather closely defined," J. C. Penney said. "Past experience in our own business has definitely proved to me that no business can reach its highest development in any locality unless it is community-minded."

Chain-store leaders in the past have unduly emphasized the advantages gained by large purchases, to the exclusion of other equally important factors in community life.

Efficiency in life isn't everything. Selling goods, even at a cheaper price, at the expense of other factors, can do a community harm rather than good! So large chain-store operators may well concentrate on the problem of how to combine their unusual buying advantages with the local community needs, and share with the local communities the advantages which grow out of such a relationship.

It's a problem of first magnitude and until it is fully met in every community, the chain-store operator will continue to have plenty of obstructions in his path.

EXCHANGE ACTIVITY INCREASES

Trading on Los Angeles Market Gains Momentum as Prices Decline

Coincident with the falling trend of security prices September transactions on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange recorded an increase of 46 per cent over the volume of business for August, F. E. Sanford, secretary and manager, announced yesterday.

More than 600,000 shares crossed the board during the month, which had a market valuation of nearly $18,000,000. In August 411,097 shares were sold at a value of $12,207,237. Bond transactions totaled $164,000, also representing a gain of 46 per cent over the preceding month's turnover.

The index of thirty representative common stocks dropped 9.6 points or more than 13 per cent during the month to strike 59.5 on the final session, the record low since the averages have been compiled, and 14.1 points or more than 19 per cent below last year's bottom.

Petroleum stocks, backbone of the market, crashed 16.2 points, or more than 24 per cent below last year's minimum to hit bottom at 49.5 on the final session. Industrials fell 7.8 points or 10 per cent below the 1929 low to 65.2. The industrial and oil averages are based on ten representative active stocks in each group, the indices having a 100 base on January 31, 1929.

There are today 131,901,194 shares listed on the exchange, having a market valuation of $4,388,144,130, an average price per share of $33.26. In August the average price was $36.14 a share.

Oil Security Permits Lead

Forty-one companies received permits in the month of September to issue securities for oil developing purposes, Arthur H. Garland, Corporation Commissioner, announced yesterday. Oil permits easily led the applications, the list also including permits to four companies to finance manufacture of oil products, one to explore for oil, one to handle oil well tools and supplies and one to operate a testing device.

Twenty-six companies planned to engage in manufacturing in Southern California, while 163 proposed to embark in other types of business and received permits to finance their projects. Total authorized capitalization of the enterprises licensed was $22,147,000, of which the sale of $10,289,708 in securities was authorized. The figures are for the southern counties filing through the Los Angeles office of the department.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Oct. 2. (AP)—Curb sales fluctuated erratically and closed irregularly lower in quieter trading today. Transactions aggregated 525,700 shares, nearly 200,000 less than yesterday.

In view of the announcement of the suspension of Piperno & Co., for insolvency, a firm specializing in curb securities, and holding two curb memberships, the market was regarded as maintaining a fairly even keel. Losses in the more active stocks were rather extensive for a time, but were reduced by a brisk final rally.

As a result of the Piperno suspension, trading was suspended in the shares of Rainbow Luminous Products, for which the firm was the principal market sponsor. Trading will probably be resumed in them soon.

American Gas and Electric dropped 4 points, then rallied 2. United Light A dropped 2 points and closed at the bottom.

Oils were again a soft spot, as earnings statements are expected to be unsatisfactory in view of the low gasoline prices. Gulf dropped 2 points, then regained all but a fraction. Humble closed 3 lower, and Cosden, Lion, and Vacuum were off a point or so at the finish. Cities Service closed at 26¾, up ⅛. In the mines, Newmont was weak, closing at 65, a new low, off more than 4. Metals and Mining Securities, an investment trust, sold at 3⅞ as against a previous closing price of 10.

In the industrials, Deere dropped 6, then rallied 3.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high.

Investors turn to Preferred Stocks for Security and Yield

The steady upward movement in the prices of first grade bonds with a corresponding decline in yield has turned the attention of many investors to the attractive character of prime preferred stocks. Such securities when issued by leading corporations offer a high measure of dependability and show a return of 1% to 2% greater than bonds of the same companies.

A Utility Preferred Yielding 6.10%

Indicative of current offerings in this field is the preferred stock of a well-known public utility backed by an equity of 6 for 1 and earnings of 4½ times dividend requirements. The issue is listed on the New York Stock Exchange and yields approximately 6.10% at current levels.

Detailed circulars descriptive of this attractive issue will be gladly furnished on request below.

METAL MARKETS

CLEVELAND, Oct. 2. (Exclusive)—Daily Steel Trade today says: Only a portion of the trade is under cover for fourth quarter tonnage requirements in various forms of finished steel. Consumers still are following a hand to mouth buying policy, filling only prompt needs and paying little attention to the future. Efforts to strengthen the price structure seem to be directed toward the first quarter of next year rather than the present quarter since practically everybody is covered on immediate needs at prices recently quoted.

Wheat Market Records Fresh Upward Turn

CHICAGO, Oct. 2. (AP)—Despite lively profit-taking, wheat scored fresh price bulges today, with reports current that foreign countries were negotiating for big purchases on long-time credit.

Europeans were estimated to have taken more than 2,000,000 bushels of North American wheat today, including some from the United States. Chairman Legge of the Federal Farm Board was quoted as saying that countries overseas would purchase 100,000,000 bushels more wheat this winter, and that he thought they would have no trouble financing that amount.

Closing quotations on wheat were firm, @1⅛c a bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed at 1½@2c advance, oats ⅛@⅝c up and provisions unchanged to a rise of 35c.

Sharp attention by wheat traders was given to statements ascribed to Chairman Legge commodities were down to an investment level. Another stimulating factor was word drought damage to wheat in Australia was serious, and desired general rains in Argentina were lacking. Violent upturns in wheat quotations at Liverpool also were an incentive to friends of higher prices here, especially as the action of the Liverpool market was in the face of new reports of heavy selling of wheat abroad by Russia.

Official advices indicated the 1930 wheat crop of the Northern Hemisphere was likely to prove but little if any larger than last year.

Corn and oats followed the leadership of wheat, with corn affected also by disappointing husking returns.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE—Fresh rail arrivals consisted of five cars in addition to about 525 head held over. Outlet was very limited and a few cars of fresh arrivals were not offered for sale yesterday. There were scarcely enough fresh steers to test the market, the few sales being Mexican stock. Values on she stock were weak to 25c lower on the limited trading.

A part load medium grade 1160-pound steers went to packers at 7.15 and a load plain Mexicans at 6.10. A few lots feeder steers went to the country at 7.00.

While a few Lead medium grade heifers went to packers at 6.50, the top on load lots was 6.25 for a load 864-pound northern offerings. A short load 455-pound stock heifers went on country account at 6.50. Odd head lots fleshy dairy type cows reached 6.25, but the top on load lots was 5.75, paid for a 1000-pound load of mostly medium grade northerns, but the bulk of the latter and Imperial offerings sold at 5.40@5.50. A load Arizona cutters sold down to 2.50. Odd head medium to good bulls cashed at 5.25@6.00 and cutters at 4.00.

CALVES—Sales in this division looked about steady. A part load 205 to 218-pound Arizona vealers secured 10.75@11.25, with weightier and common calves down to 7.00. One lot medium grade southwesterns averaged nearly 300 pounds and secured 8.25.

HOGS—A few lots trucked butchers constituted the entire offering in this department. A few lots local 158 to 280-pound weights at 9.50@10.50 looked about steady. Some medium 115-pound pigs went to killers at 9.00.

SHEEP—No receipts were received. Quotations were nominally unchanged. On the basis of previous sales medium to choice lambs were quotable at 5.00@6.75 and medium to choice ewes 2.50@3.50.

Another test for oil in the Fresno district is indicated by the leasing of 2800 acres in that vicinity to F. E. Tomlinson and G. P. Hastins, who have already begun putting in foundation for a derrick on Sec. 4, 17-22.

Mr. Tomlinson filed leases in the Recorder's office at Fresno for the properties of twenty-five owners. He subleased 1200 acres of the holdings of J. Walters, Jr., of San Francisco for $100,000. Tomlinson's leases provide for a rental of $1 per year per acre until drilling operations start and for one-eighth royalty of oil and gas. The initial project will be drilled to at least 5000 feet unless oil of commercial production is found at shallower depth, it is asserted.

The Barritt ranch will be the scene of the first deep test.

Drill Enters Cavern

A cavern of some proportion has been discovered in the town lot oil field at Huntington Beach. Workmen drilling the Woodward well at Sixteenth street and Coast Highway lost circulation and have unsuccessfully used every known means to recover it.

For several days they poured in truckloads of sawdust and then cemented the hole, but without success. The bit had reached a depth of [illegible] feet when circulation was lost.

To Discuss Curtailment

Members of the Kettleman Hills oil and gas conservation committee will confer this morning in the office of Umpire H. Paul Grimm to determine methods of curtailing production in the Kettleman Hills oil field. William Reinhardt, chairman of the committee, and official of [illegible] Oil Company's Huffman No. [illegible] number of informal sessions recently to work out a plan whereby the yield in that district could be limited to at least 15,000 barrels daily, the established allowable at present.

The seriousness of the production situation in the Kettleman Hills field is now accepted as a problem of no little importance. Full realization of the potentialities of the field have been indicated through the recent performance of the Superior Oil Company's Huffman No. 1 in Sec. 28, 21-17, on the north dome, which increased its flow to [illegible] barrels daily with a corresponding increase in the daily flow of natural gas. According to a statement issued by the advisory committee, there are 10,000 barrels of unavoidable curtailment daily at Kettleman Hills and with a half-dozen other projects to be completed within a few months the overproduction situation will undoubtedly be greater, according to leading officials of the oil industry.

Offset by Signal Hill

Despite the apparent decline in production in the Santa Fe Springs field, the unusual showing of the Signal Hill field during the past few weeks has offset the other, according to reports. The Signal Hill estimated potential has been put at [illegible] barrels daily and this has been due to deep sand completions in the extreme southeasterly portion of the field and at Los Cerritos, where operators have developed production in the 7500-foot zone.

Any new threat on the part of the Venice oil field is unlooked for at present, it is asserted. The field's daily production declines for a time and then increases a little through the completion of several producers, and then registers a slow but sure decline again because of edge water. Field scouts state that the future of the district depends somewhat on results obtained from the shallow horizon in the southwesterly portion of the field. Most of the activity is being centralized by operators in that area based on completions brought in by the Superior Oil Company, George F. Getty, and a number of other operators.

Well Completed

The Ohio Oil Company has just completed Recreation Gun Club No. [illegible] in the southwesterly portion of the Venice field. It came in for [illegible] barrels of oil a day from a depth of 4822 feet and is a direct offset to the Union Oil Company's [illegible] No. 1, which has been producing about 400 barrels daily for [illegible] months from the shallow zone.

Ohio's Recreation Gun Club No. [illegible] is making progress with the drill [illegible] feet and No. 4 is rigging up, while the company [illegible] foundation in preparatory to construction of a derrick. On Ohio's Block K, another project is drilling [illegible] feet and another well [illegible] is down 3500 feet. The company's Block K has derrick up. The Altadena Oil Company's No. [illegible] is one of the best producers completed in the Venice field during the past week. It came in for 2000 barrels of oil per day. The entire field yesterday was producing at the rate of [illegible] barrels daily.

Plant Permit

Permission has been given the Superior Oil Company for the construction of an absorption plant in the easterly portion of the Huntington Beach field to care for the company's anticipated gas flow from several projects that are drilling. The new plant will cost $140,000 and is expected to be in operation within the next thirty days.

In addition to the permit for construction of the casing-head gasoline plant, Superior was granted a right of way for a pipe line to start at the intersection of Twenty-second street and will run down the alley between Walnut street and the highway to the corner of First street and Atlanta avenue.

A petition bearing signatures of property owners in the easterly portion of the Huntington Beach field was presented to the City Council with the expression that the Superior Oil Company's new absorption plant would be a nuisance. Officials of the company, however, assured property owners and all others interested that every precaution would be taken to eliminate any unnecessary noise or odors. Superior also plans construction of a larger plant to handle the gas flow from Huffman No. 1 on the north dome of the Kettleman Hills oil field.

[illegible] $420,000 worth of false teeth were sent from the United States to Canada last year.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Oct. 2. (AP)—The price level of the bond market was virtually undisturbed by the quiet movement today. Trading in the best-grade issues lacked the briskness of recent sessions, and the number to reach new highs for the year was small. The widest revisions took place among speculative industrials depressed to new low ground, and in the foreign group where recovery of many German, Italian and Latin-American obligations recently under pressure stood out.

Richfield Oil 6s sagged 5 points to a 1930 low. Warner Quinlan 6s lost nearly 4, and Lehigh Valley Coal 5s, and B. F. Goodrich 6½s, 3 each.

On a large turnover German International 5½s rallied 1⅝, and the Dawes 7s gained ⅝.

There was a fair amount of activity in United States governments. Treasury issues advanced.

If last price omitted, low and last are same. If low and last are omitted, high, low and last are same.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Richfield Oil Continues Under Severe Pressure; General List Holds Irregular

With a sales volume slightly exceeding the record turnover for the preceding session Richfield Oil was batted about on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday on alternate flurries of buying and selling. Steady pressure of sales broke the stock to a new bottom at 7⅝ an hour after the opening. Quotations fluctuated irregularly for the balance of the session and finally worked slowly upward to a close at 8⅝ for a net gain of ⅜.

The selling was a continuation of the wave of liquidation which hit the issue so drastically late in the preceding session and was based primarily on publication of the balance sheet showing a sharp increase in bank indebtedness. Little credence was attached to the variety of detrimental rumors circulated with bearish intent and the passing of the dividend, voted after the close of the market, was generally expected. The preferred stock sold heavily and after striking a new bottom at 9 3-4 closed at 10 1-2 for a net drop of 1-4.

The balance of the market displayed the customary irregularity following a rally such as occurred Wednesday. General market movements were not clearly defined at any time, however, and the close was somewhat higher than the day's low prices with net changes fractionally mixed.

Among the more popular issues Union Oil, Union Associates, Standard of California, Pacific Western and Pacific Finance recorded net declines from 1-2 to a full point. Transamerica turned up 3-8 to 20 3-8, Edison held steady to 54 1-2 and Claude Neon firmed up 1-4 to 21 1-4.

Pacific Lighting scored an advance of 1 1-2 points to 73 1-2 and Pacific Public Service 7-8 to 27 1-2. Western Pipe and Steel hit a new low at 18 1-2, off 5-8, and International Re-Insurance dipped another 3-8 to mark a new bottom at 35 7-8.

A transaction of ten shares of Broadway Department Store preferred ex-warrants, lifted that issue 6 1-2 points to 75.

SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2. (AP)—Prices of western stocks swayed in uncertainty today, and finished irregularly in the neighborhood of yesterday's finish. The market appeared at the opening to have overshot the mark in yesterday's comeback, and lower prices prevailed, but toward the close scattered gains appeared, as volume picked up.

There was still a preponderance of activity on the down side, particularly in the oil group, where heavy selling of Richfield sank that issue to another record depth for the year at 7⅝. As pressure relented, the stock rose to close at 8⅝, almost wiping out the day's loss. Richfield preferred touched a low for the year at 9¾, and rallied to close at 10½, off ½ point.

The leaders in the oil group had a sinking spasm around mid-day, but recovered partially. Standard of California closed a point lower, but other losses were only fractional, though some were larger in proportion to the share prices.

A few industrials showed to advantage, Paraffine gaining 1, Crown preferred 1½ and California Packing 2½. Appreciation of its inventories is said to have improved the position of the latter company, an example cited being the advance in green coffee prices giving higher value to the company's supplies of roasted goods.

Utilities provided nothing to write home about, the single net move of the day of any extent was the gain of 1½ points by Pacific Telephone preferred. The group continued to show buoyant stocks whenever pressure on the general market abated.

The day's sales were smaller than in recent hectic sessions, totaling 45,023 shares of market value a little short of a million dollars.

DRIED FRUITS

NEW YORK, Oct. 2. (AP)—Dried fruit steady.

LOS ANGELES CURB

Trading on the Los Angeles Curb in the dollar issues dropped off sharply yesterday with traders apparently inclined to wait for indications of the next market swing following the protracted bear domination which was slightly checked in upturn Wednesday. Most of the active dollar stocks on small turnovers showed fractional losses.

General Motors on sales of 1000 shares eased 1-4 to 39 3-4, while Mexican Seaboard on a turnover of 1200 shares closed unchanged at 18 1-4. Intercoast Trading on sales of 300 shares held to 11½ and Fokker Aircraft on the same volume lost 1 3-8 to 11 3-4. These issues in the dollar list were the only ones to show sales over 200 shares.

Consolidated Steel preferred was down ½ to a new low at 16. Pacific Indemnity dropped 1 3-4 to 30 1-4, and Montgomery Ward and Southern California Gas preferred were fractionally lower.

Cities Service was up 3-8 to 26 1-8 and Radio gained 3-4 to 29.

Bandini Petroleum in the cent list after touching $4.70 closed unchanged at $4.50. Tom Reed Mining continued its upward move to 83 cents, a gain of 2 cents. Universal Consolidated Oil was off 50 cents to a new low at $3.

HINDENBURG HAS QUIET BIRTHDAY

Eighty-third Anniversary Spent in Secluded Village in Bavarian Mountains

DIETRAMSZELL (Bavaria) Oct. 2.—(AP)—Field Marshal Paul Von Hindenburg, President of the German republic, celebrated his eighty-third birthday anniversary quietly today in this secluded village, surrounded by mountains and forests.

He is a guest of the Von Silcher family, with whom he has spent vacations for several years.

In accordance with the President's wishes there were no festivities and the villagers refrained from decorating their homes and the streets. The neighboring spa of Toelz, however, sent a delegation of women with a floral offering and this the President accepted with grave courtesy.

ECONOMY

Must be Good!

when over 40,000 Southern California motors travel the highway using only straight run Economy Gasoline. » » »

IN only a few years time, Economy Gasoline has forged to the front rank of popularity among California motor fuels.

Very few gasolines sell more of their products in the entire state than Economy distributes in Southern California alone.

To establish such a record, there must be a reason. In the Wilshire laboratories and refineries, STRAIGHT-RUN is the answer. Just imagine a gasoline from which no by-products are removed. Isn't it logical that when everything in the crude is concentrated in Economy gasoline ... it must be better? Yet that is exactly how Economy is produced ... straight-run, full of speed, power and mileage.

Economize with Economy Gasoline. Let its straight-run qualities give you more miles to the dollar ... fast get-away ... smooth speed. Look for the green Economy pump at your neighborhood dealer. And every dollar you spend for Economy gasoline stays at home ... in the hands of a local merchant and a strictly California-owned and operated independent company.

"I am in this fight to the finish," was the announcement of Police Commissioner Walkup yesterday when he heard that the entire matter had been taken up by the police [illegible]. "I believe," he continued, "that public officials should have protection from this sort of thing. It makes no difference to me if this investigation shows that [illegible] was being sought by persons in political power. I believe that any one, public official or private citizen, who stoops to frame another should be in jail."

The whole Walkup case first came to the attention of the police weeks ago when Miss Lee was taken into custody and told of having been hired by Shawn to attempt to frame Walkup. Into her story came the names of Douglas Newton, another taxicab official; Ward, [illegible] and others.

[illegible] some of those named by Miss Lee the investigating police have gained details of the plot that went to the lengths of a program for some of those involved to give Walkup knockout drops and

HIGH LIFE SETTLES "NERVES"

Cure Demonstrated by Steeple Jack

Simple Exercise Shown

BEFORE Claude Penwell, steeple jack, paints a flag pole, he steadies his nerves. He climbs out on a cornice, 200 or 300 feet in the air and stands on his head. This refreshes him. He is now ready for really serious work.

Yesterday, in preparation for painting the flagpole on the Sears Roebuck Building at 2650 East Ninth street, Penwell did his steadying exercise on the edge of the roof, 205 feet above ground. An elderly spectator was heard to complain he swallowed his store teeth in the excitement. For blocks around pedestrians, stalled shoppers and the populace generally breathed with difficulty until Claude was ready and fit enough to get back on his feet.

Then Penwell shinned up the flag pole, which rises eighty feet above the roof, a total height of 285 feet. Sears Roebuck has the pole painted every year but Penwell's nerves must have been steadier than usual yesterday, for he did a swell job. He says he has stood on his head and painted and repaired flagpoles and smoke stacks all over the United States. He's now living in Burbank and says he's never lived so high as he has since coming to Southern California.

Tax Tape Stirs Councilman to Pay Off Penalty

Councilman Jacobson discovered yesterday that legal technicalities over the payment of delinquent assessments cannot be waived by the City Council.

He introduced a resolution some time ago setting forth that one O. L. Craig had a lot in the assessment district of a street improvement, which was split in two parcels for purposes of the assessment. Craig paid one $25, but was led to understand he wasn't required to pay another $25, so let it slide until he found he had a penalty of $12.50. The resolution proposed that Craig's $12.50 delinquency be waived.

The Finance Committee reported yesterday that this was illegal.

"Oh, I'll pay it myself!" snorted Jacobson.

ORDINANCES ADOPTED

Ordinances were adopted yesterday by the City Council abandoning proceedings for the improvement of streets in the Rimpau Boulevard and Sixty-fourth street district, for the improvement of Bronson avenue between Adams and Jefferson streets, for the improvement of Croft avenue between Rosewood avenue and Beverly Boulevard and for the improvement of streets in the Imperial Way and Granville avenue district.

TWO CIVIC LUNCHEONS ANNOUNCED

Chamber Plans to Honor Admiral Schofield and Eastern Phone Official

Plans for two important civic luncheons were announced yesterday by Secretary-Manager Arnoll of the Chamber of Commerce. The first affair next Wednesday will be given in honor of Admiral Frank H. Schofield and the officers of the Pacific battle fleet. The second is scheduled for the 21st inst., and will be held for J. S. McCulloh, president of the New York Telephone Company.

Admiral Schofield and the fleet officers will be honored at a luncheon at the Biltmore, when the chief officer will give a talk on the peace-time activity of the Navy. President Austin will preside. Reservations may be made at the chamber offices.

"Development of Communication and its Relation to Commerce" is the topic of the address to be given by Mr. McCulloh. In addition to his activities as head of the New York utility company, he is president of the Telephone Pioneers of America, vice-president of the New York State Chamber of Commerce, managing director of the New York Board of Trade and Transportation, and an active member of the Merchants' Association of that city. The Advertising Club also will issue invitations to this luncheon.

NEW VESSEL ADDED TO ENSENADA SERVICE

Introduction of the Admiral Rogers, flagship of the Alaskan cruisers of the Pacific Steamship Company, on the run between Los Angeles and Ensenada to ply continuously between Wilmington and the Mexican seaport has been announced by R. B. Schutten of the Admiral Line. The schedule calls for this vessel to supplement the weekly sailings to Ensenada of the Ruth Alexander and Emma Alexander, which leave on alternate Friday evenings on week-end cruises.

FLYERS UP FIFTY HOURS

Pride of Hollywood One-Twentieth of Way to New Endurance Flight Record

The endurance plane Pride of Hollywood yesterday slid past the fifty-hour mark of sustained flight at 7:36:07 p.m.—the one-twentieth post in its quest of a new world's refueling record of 1000 hours—and at midnight was still aloft.

Its crew, Loren Mendell, Pete Reinhart and Al Dahlstrum, reported that the time aloft is passing slowly and made requests for letters from their friends to read and answer.

At 6 p.m. the Buhl refueling ship went aloft and made the eighth contact with the Pride of Hollywood since the take-off, dropping approximately 100 gallons of gasoline to raise the total to more than 800 gallons.

Yesterday's contacts were made at 3000 feet above Grand Central Air Terminal instead of at the 2000-foot level because of bumpy air. Each contact—including one each night—is made directly over the airport. Besides gasoline delivered through the refueling hose, the endurance flyers receive meals and supplies in canvass bags.

Dahlstrum, radio operator, who broadcasts over Radio KGFJ news of the flight each hour, was sent some medicine for his throat. He had to grease the engine at night while Reinhart was asleep and in shouting requests for instructions from Mendell became hoarse.

Lights on the craft burned out early yesterday morning, but substitute fuses made of tinfoil from a package of cigarettes were used until new fuses were sent up.

UNITED AIRPORT "ATTACK" GOAL

Army Planes Will Attempt to "Destroy" Field

Coast Guard Members Will Try to Repel "Foe"

Antiaircraft Guns to Be Moved to Burbank

In the first maneuver of its kind to be attempted by the United States Army 300 men and forty officers will encamp at United Airport, Burbank, next Wednesday, to await a surprise attack by army aircraft that will attempt to destroy, theoretically, the airport and Los Angeles.

The encampment will be made up of members of the Coast Guard from Fort MacArthur, who will move a battery of powerful antiaircraft guns to the airport to repulse the enemy craft that will swoop down from their bases at Rockwell Field, San Diego, and March Field, Riverside.

Six airplanes will be attached to the antiaircraft units, marking the first time that planes will be used in conjunction with the Coast Guard defenses, according to officials at the airport, who have completed details of the maneuvers with army officers.

These six planes and the Coast Guard unit will be stationed at the port from Wednesday to the 17th inst., inclusive. On any of these days the more than 100 pursuit and bombing planes that will participate will be allowed to take off from their base for the local attack.

It will be up to the defending forces to watch for and repel the attack. Although few details of the practice engagement were made known by the Army, it is understood that the noted Ninety-first Pursuit Group, under command of Maj. Carl Spatz, based at Rockwell Field, will play the leading role in the attack.

Court Dismisses Appeal Made by Man Now Dead

Dismissal of a dead man's appeal was ordered yesterday by the Appellate Department, Superior Court, upon production of a certificate certifying to the death of Charles L. Porter, attorney.

Porter, who formerly practiced law in New York City, had appealed from his conviction in Municipal Judge Willis's court on charge of disturbing the peace. The specific charge was that he swore over the telephone at a telephone girl. His attorney, Archie G. Cope, presented proof that Porter died suddenly, September 20, last.

Prison Session to Be Described

Col. Arthur Smeeton, recently returned from Prague where he attended the international prison conference as the American representative, will speak in the Salvation Army citadel, 125 East Fourth street, Sunday night. Col. Smeeton also represented the Salvation Army, of which he is one of the high officials in the western territory.

"We are sure that people of this city will take advantage of the opportunity of hearing this great prison authority," Col. W. H. Gooding, in command of the industrial division, stated. "He will tell of the impressions made at the conference."

The meeting will be open to the public.

Long Lost Cousin Found in Neighbor

Dorothy Granger and Dorothy White Maleby

DOROTHY GRANGER and her cousin, Dorothy White Maleby, have been reunited after a ten-year separation. For seven childhood years the Dorothies were inseparable companions, until the Grangers left Shelton, Neb. and Dorothy made a tour of the country, via the stage, finally settling in Hollywood, Cal., where she obtained a five-year contract with Hal Roach.

Dorothy's mother, out of touch with her brother's family for years, was anxious to hear from them and made inquiries through the Mayor of Shelton. Quoting Dorothy Granger: "You could have knocked me over with a feather when the Mayor wrote back that my cousin was living less than 100 yards from us all the time." For a year and a half Dorothy White lived in the 5500 block on Franklin avenue, and Dorothy Granger in the same block on Hollywood Boulevard.

PUBLISHER NAMED FOR WATER POST

Arthur Strasburger of "Shopping News" Given Place by Mayor

Ending a period of speculation, Mayor Porter yesterday sent to the City Council the nomination of Arthur Strasburger, president of the Downtown Shopping News, as a member of the Board of Water and Power Commissioners to succeed E. M. Scofield, removed.

ARTHUR STRASBURGER

The nomination was transmitted by the City Council to its Water and Power Committee, with a report and recommendation forthcoming next Thursday.

Strasburger, who resides at 444 South Rimpau Boulevard, was formerly an executive officer of the Broadway Department Store.

Several weeks ago, when Mayor Porter sent to the City Council the removal of Scofield, he submitted the name of Edward J. Fleming as his successor, but this was withdrawn when doubt was cast upon Fleming's being an elector of the city. Since that withdrawal several names have been reported as the choice of the Mayor for the position, Strasburger not being mentioned among them.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY

Not for years have retail prices of every-day commodities been as low as today. An average of the reduction in prices of food, clothing, household furnishings, building materials and the like shows that today's dollar is the equivalent in buying power of $1.25 a year ago, the effect of which is as though wages had actually been increased 25 per cent. Now is the time to stock up on needed nonperishables of every description. This is the fifth of a series of daily articles to appear in The Times on this subject.

BUILDING MATERIALS

Los Angeles has set a world record as a home-building, home-owning community, and has made remarkable progress in all other lines of construction.

The opportunity to build here now is golden. The family that wants to build a home and the property-owner who wants to improve or remodel a building of any kind overlooks a wonderful opportunity if advantage is not taken of the present low level of building material prices and cost of building.

A conservative estimate places the average present retail cost of lumber and other building materials at 25 per cent less than a year ago. The same is true of other building costs. In other words, 75 cents today will pay for as much building construction today as $1 would a year ago. On the basis stated, this means that the general building material and construction buying power of the Los Angeles $1 today is $1.33 as compared to last year's dollar here.

On this basis, allowing for such advances in materials as have recently occurred in such items as cement, rock and sand, a home that cost $3000 to build last year, this year would cost approximately $2250. Similarly, a bathroom addition costing $600 at last year's prices can be put in now for about $450.

House and wall paints are quoted at 15 cents per gallon less, retail, now than a year ago. Builders' hardware is now about 10 per cent cheaper than a year ago.

Those who own unimproved ground and do not take advantage of these lowered costs, if they are in a position to do so, are overlooking an opportunity not likely to come again for years.

STAFFORD TRIAL SET NOVEMBER 5

El Monte Grain Man Will Face Court Second Time on Charge of Assault

Clayton C. Stafford, El Monte and Puente grain merchant, will go to trial before Superior Judge Schauer on November 5 for the second time charged with assaulting Rae Schade, his former secretary, according to a ruling made yesterday by Superior Judge Wood.

Stafford already has been convicted of the crime and faced a sentence of from one to fifty years in San Quentin prison, but upon appeal to the Appellate Court he obtained a new trial.

Miss Schade charged that Stafford lured her to his mountain cabin in Turnbull Canyon and assaulted her. Stafford asserted that Miss Schade accompanied him voluntarily.

DAUGHTER OF CALLES ARRIVES FOR VISIT

T. Arnold Robinson, accompanied by his wife and daughter, has arrived in Los Angeles from Mexico City for a visit of two weeks. Mrs. Robinson is the daughter of Gen. Calles, former President of Mexico. While here Mr. and Mrs. Robinson are the guests of Fred L. Wilke, local investment banker. It is expected that they will be joined shortly by Gen. Calles, who plans to come to Los Angeles after officiating at the dedication of a new dam in the State of Tamaulipas.

SHULER TO PAY FINE TODAY

Pastor Will Appear at Sheriff's Office at 11 a.m. and Plans to Answer Court Rulings Sunday

Rev. R. P. Shuler, broadcasting pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, will appear at the Sheriff's office at 11 a.m. today to pay a fine of $100 as a result of a series of contempt of court convictions against him being sustained by the State Supreme Court. Attorney Frank S. Hutton, counsel for Shuler, made announcement to this effect yesterday. Shuler announced he will answer the rulings of the Supreme Court Sunday at 3 p.m. at his church.

The minister was convicted on six counts of contempt—four of which carried jail sentences of five days each to be served consecutively and fines of $50 each on the remaining counts. He served fifteen days in jail last May, and then appealed to the Supreme Court.

The court reversed one of the counts calling for a jail sentence, holding that he need not return to jail inasmuch as fifteen days already were served, but commanded him to pay the two $50 fines.

Attorney Hutton, after reading a copy of the decision in the local office of the Supreme Court, complimented the findings as "fair and just." He said that it "clears the atmosphere" in setting forth plainly that judicial decisions may be commented on by any one after they are complete.

The appeal was based on the contention of the attorneys that a court has not the power to impose sentences consecutively in contempt convictions. The reversal, however, was based on the analysis of the court

NEW FORESTRY BUREAU SET UP

Division Will Operate Under City Park Board

Fund of $50,000 Provided for Current Year

Will Take Over Supervision of Tree Culture

Repealing the old ordinance creating a separate division of forestry for control and encouragement of tree planting in Los Angeles, the City Council yesterday passed a new ordinance making the division of forestry a department under the Board of Park Commissioners and the latter approved creation of the department, for which it has provided $50,000 in the current budget.

Glenn L. Hall, landscape engineer, was placed in charge of the department for the remainder of the fiscal year, at a salary of $3150, with Hal L. King as assistant at $1800. S. E. Sanders will be draftsman, with pay of $875 for the remainder of the fiscal year. A stenographer and two tree surgeons are to be appointed later.

DIVISION BUDGET

The amount in the new division's budget, also approved yesterday, is $9770 for salaries, $342 for equipment, $11,859.25 for office expenses, $13,849 as a reserve fund, and $15,000 for a tree-planting fund.

A separate division, provided for in the charter and created last year, was dropped after it had been organized with H. A. Tibbetts as chief, in the absence of funds with which to work. By placing it in the park department the latter provided $5,000.

The new division will take over the issuance of permits for the planting, trimminig and removal of trees which heretofore has been done by the street maintenance division, according to President Socha of the park board.

SUPERVISE PLANTING

She said that in addition to rendering a co-operative and advisory service to all citizens of Los Angeles on planting, trimming, protecting and preserving trees, the new division will foster the formation of tree-planting districts under the local improvement acts. One act provides for initial planting in connection with street paving and other improvements, but makes no provision for maintenance. The other act provides for both planting and maintenance for not to exceed five years.

Preservation of existing trees in street widening and replacement where they have to be sacrificed is one of the definite objectives of the new division. Best types of trees will gradually be determined for all streets, depending on whether the district is residential, business or manufacturing. A master plan gradually will be made, according to Mrs. Socha, who points out that there are almost 5000 miles of dedicated streets, with 1665 miles paved and 1000 miles improved. Offices are in Room 223, City Hall.

Tomorrow Last Day to Sign Vote Registry

Only two more days remain in which a person may register to vote for the State general election on November 4, next.

This was announced yesterday by Registrar of Voters Kerr, who stated that as an accommodation his office at 330 North Broadway will remain open until 9 p.m. tonight and until midnight tomorrow for the purpose of accepting registration.

To be eligible to vote at the general election all persons who have not registered since January 1, last, must register before midnight tomorrow. Those who have moved since registering must re-register to be entitled to vote.

Contracts Let for New School

Contracts were awarded by the Board of Education yesterday for the construction of a twelve-unit school building on the Rio Vista school site, which fronts on Whipple and Satsuma streets and Vineland avenue. The contracts provide that the work shall be completed within 150 calendar days.

The cost of building the school, on the basis of the bids accepted yesterday, will total $69,992. The main contract for the building of the structure was awarded for $55,380. The remainder of the total cost is for plumbing, heating and ventilating, painting, and electric wiring.

The Lancer

EL CORDONAZO DE SAN FRANCISCO faithfully brought us the rain again.

October 4 is San Francis Day all through the Catholic world. The celebration reaches its height in Magdalena, in Sonora, Mex. There is a legend there that once they tried to carry the sacred statue of St. Francis from Magdalena to Hermosillo, but when he came to the crossing of the river the saint made himself so heavy that they had to carry him back again.

The legend is—in all Spanish countries—that San Francisco with the cord that he wears about his robe always whips up a sudden storm some time between September 27 and October 4. It always lashes out of a clear sky.

From time immemorial it has always rained—suddenly and gustily—in California between those days.

No matter how dry the year to follow, a storm always whips up from the "stroke of St. Francis," some time between September 27 and October 4. This year it came on September 30.

"HACIENDADO"

Now we are on the subject, whenever I refer to one of the old California land barons as a "haciendado" some one always writes in to tell me that I am talking through my hat and that the word is "haciendero."

The dictionary published by the Spanish Academy—the final authority on the Spanish language—says that one who owns a great estate is a haciendado. A haciendero is a developer of property. He might not even own the property.

SAMMY'S BOXING LESSON

This colored boy, Sammy Jackson, got a lot of experience in a very short time being hammered around the ring by Young Corbett. In the end, I think he will go further than Corbett. He doesn't know a thing, but he has strength and courage and unruffled composure.

IN BARKLESS REST

Some one has sent me a letter to announce that I can buy for $150 a marble crypt in the same dog mausoleum where Mrs. Somebody's dog, "Beano," has been interred with due ceremony and where the bereft owners of "Tootsie" have "installed a marker" for her.

I am really embarrassed, not having either a dead dog or an extra $150; but I feel that the situation demands something.

MACHINE COWS

Even the amiable bossy cow has had to yield to the machine age.

Martin H. Blank of the Giannini Foundation of the University of California has been making a survey of conditions in the milk business of Southern California.

He finds that the supply of milk comes from 78,938 cows in 1507 dairies in the six southern counties.

"In these areas," he says, "one does not see cows strolling through the green pastures so often described by poets, but instead they are often seen massed in corrals and being fed to capacity. These dairies are more properly called 'milk factories,' since the cows are handled more like machines than animals, and are fed thousands of tons of hay and concentrates. Such feeding practices have reduced the life of the cows to three lactation periods instead of the usual five, and make it necessary to replace 25,000 to 30,000 head annually."

Sunny October Weather Here

All the glory of a typical October day fell full upon Los Angeles yesterday. The day's average temperature was 65 deg., exactly normal. The maximum temperature of the day, 75, was 1 deg. below normal, but the minimum, 55, was a degree above normal.

Nothing unusual was in the offing last night, according to the Weather Bureau. Normal for the month is .68 of an inch of rain.

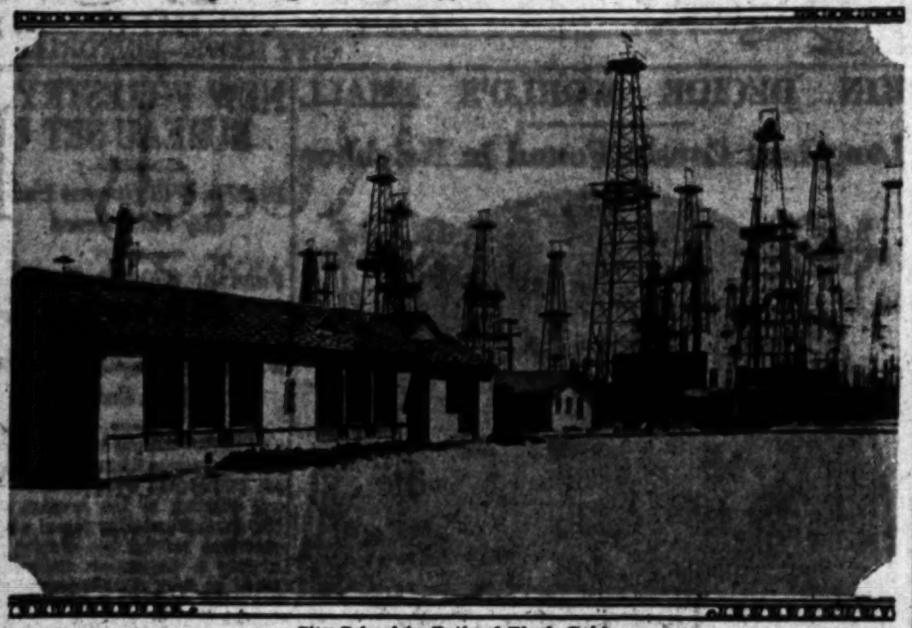
STUDENTS ROUTED BY OIL DERRICKS

Florence Nightingale School at Venice Abandoned



City School in Path of Black Gold

ALMOST surrounded by oil derricks, the Florence Nightingale School at Venice has been ordered abandoned and its pupils transferred to other institutions. The action, taken at a joint conference of the Venice Chamber of Commerce and the Board of Education, was deemed necessary because of the noise and the fire hazard.

Two hundred pupils routed from their classrooms have been distributed to other schools and disposition of the abandoned schoolhouse will be made later. There is a possibility that it will be turned over to the oil interests in order to obtain revenue for a new building in a less turbulent neighborhood.

WILSHIRE SUBWAYS FAVORED

Council Adopts Orders for Pedestrian Tunnels Under Western Portion

Ordinances of intention calling for the construction of five pedestrian subways under the western section of Wilshire Boulevard were adopted yesterday by the City Council. The locations are between Detroit and Cloverdale avenues, between Cochran and Dunsmuir avenues, between Burnside avenue and Ridgley Drive, between Hauser Boulevard and Masselin avenue and between Sierra Bonita avenue and Curson avenue.

The Council is preparing to advertise for bids for a progressive traffic signal system in the boulevard between Westlake Park and the limits of Beverly Hills, so that with the construction of numerous subways high speed can be maintained in the boulevard with little risk.

These ordinances are set for the hearing of protests November 7.

On the same date the Council will hear protests against the improvement of streets in the Wilmington Boulevard and L street district, another ordinance of intention passed yesterday.

that contempt is not present when acts of the judiciary are commented on after their completion.

The specific count which was reversed charged Shuler with contempt in attacking Superior Judge McComb who refused to grant a continuance in cases of Ben Getzoff and Jacob Berman, Julian bribe conspirators, at the behest of the District Attorney.

BASIS FOR REVERSAL

The minister made his attack after Judge McComb had completed his rulings, and therefore the Supreme Court found that Shuler was not in contempt in that instance for the decision had been completed and no further considerations were before the court.

The court, however, scathingly denounced Shuler's tactics and affirmed his utterances to "disclose a persistent and intentional purpose to impose his will and views on the Superior Court" and that he sought to "create an adverse and inflamed public opinion."

Shuler issued a statement in which he said he is "certain of my constitutional rights, even if I am denied them," and he further declared he will continue his practices even if he becomes "a pretty constant boarder" in the County Jail.

"Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock," his statement said, "I shall answer in a great mass meeting at Trinity Church the decision of the Supreme Court."

Crippled Wife in Wheel Chair Seeks Divorce

In a wheel chair, Mrs. Augusta Thielen yesterday went to Superior Judge Craig's court to get a divorce from Peter J. Thielen. The crippled wife accused her husband of depriving her of use of her own car, spending her income from a trust fund without giving her any explanation, and listening in on telephone talks with her three children by a previous marriage.

The Thielens married at Minneapolis September 23, 1925, and separated August 22, last. Thielen is retired and owns property. Mrs. Thielen has her own home and a trust fund left by her first husband. Attorney L. R. Wharton represented her.

LOS ANGELES WILL BE BOOSTED IN STORY

Los Angeles is one of the fifty important cities which will be featured in a "booster story" in a coming issue of The Pacific Sovereign Visitor, the natonal magazine of The Pacific Woodmen Life Association. This magazine has extensive circulation in all Pacific States. It is published in Omaha, Neb. Expert staff writers of the magazine will tell in detail the advantages of Los Angeles. Many pictures of the city will be used.

ACTOR HELD CHICKEN THIEF

County Grand Jury Indicts Two on Charge of Wholesale Robberies of Henhouses

Chad Baer, who asserts that he has played numerous roles in motion pictures as Chief Little Bear, yesterday was indicted by the county grand jury as a chicken thief. A co-defendant named in the indictment with Baer is John Crossley. Baer's bail is fixed at $5000 and Crossley's at $500.

It is charged that Baer and Crossley raided numerous chicken ranches near Los Angeles, taking fowls in each instance valued at more than $50. The California State law makes a felony of the theft of fowls valued at more than that sum.

The indictment accuses the two defendants of taking chickens from the property of Mrs. H. Dunn, 4250 Live Oak street, Huntington Park; F. Kendricks, 446 West Olive street, Compton; H. E. Garrison, 1050 Peck street, Compton, and W. O. Phillips, 331 East Olive street, Gardena. The defendants also are charged with two counts of burglary in connection with the chicken thefts.

Baer and Crossley were traced by Deputy Sheriffs Rankin and Slough through tire prints left by the automobile which they are accused of using and through information given to Capt. Howard Brooks, chief of Sheriff Traeger's farm detail, by Mrs. Dunn.

HUNDREDS PAY TRIBUTE TO PASTOR

Services Conducted for Rev. Dan Trundle, Long Active in Church Life

Hundreds of men and women, including ministers of many denominations, gathered at First Christian Church yesterday to pay tribute to the memory of Rev. Dan Amos Trundle, pioneer pastor and church official who died last Tuesday at the family residence, 4233 Marmion Way. Rev. Clifford Cole of Glendale Christian Church was in charge of the services, assisted by Rev. Leonard Thompson, J. G. Warren, C. C. Chapman and other ministers and prominent citizens.

"The influence of Dan Trundle will live long in the lives of men and women he inspired to nobler endeavors," said Mr. Cole. "A man of good will to all humanity, of gentle humor and of optimism, Brother Trundle was one of the outstanding contributors to the religious life of Southern California," said Mr. Chapman. "We shall miss him, but we do not begrudge him his rest."

Mr. Trundle, who was 64 years of age and who had lived in Los Angeles for eighteen years, was a member of the Sons of the Revolution, First Families of America, Patriots of America and other organizations. For eight years he served as executive secretary of the Los Angeles Ministerial Association.

Reparations Expert Visits Los Angeles

Walter Platt Cooke of Buffalo, former president of the Arbitral Tribunal of Interpretation, which heard disputes growing out of the Dawes plan, was a Los Angeles visitor yesterday, stopping at the Biltmore. Cooke served also on the Reparations Commission.

"It is seven or eight years since I was last in Los Angeles," said Mr. Cooke, "and I am amazed at the growth of your city."

He had the experience of working for some years at the desk used by Grover Cleveland in the former President's Buffalo law offices. Some time ago Cooke sent the desk to Cleveland's birthplace at Caldwell, N. J., when the latter was purchased for preservation out of respect to Cleveland's memory.

The visitor came to Los Angeles on private business.

DELAY GRANTED IN ADKINS CASE

Court Order for Removal to Oklahoma Held Up

Technical Objection Believed to Be Unprecedented

Jurisdiction Questioned by Suspect's Counsel

Temporary respite, at least, from an order removing him to Oklahoma, where he is accused of having committed a murder thirty-three years ago, was gained in United States District Judge James's court here yesterday by Joseph Robert Adkins, Glendale carpenter, when his attorney, John Cooper, raised a technical objection on a point of law that has probably never been before the courts prior to this time.

The order to remove Adkins to Oklahoma was made Wednesday by United States Commissioner Head after witnesses brought from Oklahoma had declared that Adkins strongly resembles Robert Atchison, who shot August Coots to death during a cattle war in Custer county, Indian Territory, (now Oklahoma) in 1897 and escaped after having been sentenced to life imprisonment.

When the commissioner's order was taken before Judge James to sign yesterday afternoon, Attorney Cooper resisted the request of Asst. U. S. Atty. Davis on the ground that it has not been established that the Federal courts of Oklahoma would have any jurisdiction in the case. Cooper pointed out that Atchison was convicted in a Federal territorial court, the functions of which have since been absorbed by the State courts of Oklahoma and he expressed doubt that the Federal District courts of Oklahoma would now have jurisdiction in the case.

Both Cooper and Davis admitted they have as yet been unable to find a previous decision in point. Judge James set next Tuesday at 2 p.m. for argument and final decision on the point.

TENTH-STREET FUND ALLOTMENT DELAYED

Pending the submission of an estimate of cost, the City Council yesterday voted to suspend plans for the allocation of $250,000 for the improvement of Tenth street. The Board of Supervisors recently allocated $250,000 for this work, on the understanding that the Council will do the same.

BOY SLAYER PUT UNDER SCRUTINY

Said to Have Boasted of Killing Playmate

Will Be Sent to Whittier for Examination

Roy Kent, 13-year-old boy of 911 East Seventy-seventh street, accused of shooting and killing Bruno de Mario, 13, his playmate and best friend, yesterday became a problem for juvenile officials to solve when medical experts testified in Superior Judge Blake's court that the lad is suffering from a mental disorder.

Immediately after the shooting the Kent boy told officers that he and his playmate had found his step-father's revolver and while playing with it exploded the weapon, the shot fatally wounding de Mario. This story was repeated yesterday to Judge Blake by young Kent.

But the testimony of Dr. Herman W. Covey, medical director of Juvenile Hall, was to the effect that since young Kent has been held there as a juvenile prisoner, he has boasted to other juveniles that he killed de Mario. Dr. Covey also asserted that the Kent boy is suffering from a mental affliction.

In view of this testimony Judge Blake ordered the youth confined to the Whittier State School for examination by expert alienists who will report upon his mental condition on the 10th inst.

The Kent boy denied that he killed De Mario to obtain possession of a school safety committee badge worn by the dead boy. He admitted taking the badge after De Mario was fatally wounded but said he took it intending to return it to his school principal.

Edward Charles and Robert Joseph Parr in Diving Pose

While hundreds of little girls have been taught to swim in the Young Women's Christian Association plunge at 941 South Figueroa street Saturday mornings, their little brothers had to remain in the balcony and gaze wistfully at their paddling sisters. The program, however, has been changed, and commencing the 4th inst. boys from 6 to 10 years of age will be admitted, for they are not accepted at the Y.M.C.A. until they are 12.

Two of the first small lads to take advantage of the lessons are Robert Joseph and Edward Charles Parr, brothers, 9 and 5 years of age, respectively, who live at 3325 Hamilton Way. The classes will be conducted Saturday morning at 10:15 o'clock.

New courses for women, business girls and school girls are starting in individual exercises, tap and social dancing, tennis and golf. Free swimming lessons are given with all courses, and the classes are arranged for the convenience of all.

MEASURING OF GASOLINE CAUSES SUIT

Continental Oil Company Challenges Richfield in Row Over Methods

Dispute over methods of extracting gasoline from "wet" gas in the Long Beach and Seal Beach fields, and the system of measuring how much was extracted reached the Superior Court yesterday in the form of a suit for $241,539.47 by the Continental Oil Company against the Richfield Company.

The Continental Company bought the Marland Oil Company's rights, it is asserted, after the Richfield Company, owner of several casing-head gasoline plants, had contracted with the Marland Company in October, 1926, to take the Marland Company's gas and pay 55 per cent of all gasoline extracted as a royalty. It is asserted in the complaint that the Richfield Company agreed to construct plants that would care for a production of 490,000,000 cubic feet a month.

It is charged the Richfield Company not only refused to accept this amount of gas, but changed the system of measuring the gasoline content of the gas, using the "atmospheric charcoal test" instead of the so-called "thirty pounds pressure—60 deg. F. test."

The difference in these measurements amounted to the amount sued for, it is stated in the complaint, which was prepared by Attorney John M. Hall.

Golf Victory of Bobby Jones Shown in Film

Other interesting "shots" in the same issue depict Bishop Cannon's return to America after a prolonged honeymoon, 16-year-old Herbert Buck's take-off on a transcontinental flight, a horseshoe pitching contest at Chicago, and Yale's football victory over Maine.

The schedule may be obtained by phoning Newsreel Book at REpublic 3171 and asking about Newsreel No. 79.

Girl's Kidnaper Hunted After Attack Fails

The Sheriff's office yesterday instituted search for an unidentified man who late Wednesday night attempted an attack on Thelma A. Grady, 18 years of age, after having abducted her on the pretext he was a police officer.

Miss Grady, who lives at 5310 Eighth avenue, was in a parked automobile in the Baldwin Hills region with Leland Pencille of 216 Olive avenue, Long Beach, when the man drove his car alongside and represented himself as an officer. He ordered Miss Grady to leave her companion and go with him, saying he intended to take her to the station. The girl obeyed.

At a secluded spot some distance away the bogus officer stopped his car and tried to force attentions on his captive. She escaped but was quickly overtaken and again subjected to the man's advances. When she screamed he desisted and drove her to a point near her home where he allowed her to leave the car.

Acquittal Won in Speed Case

Louis Carino of 16701 Plummer street was not guilty of speeding at a rate of sixty miles an hour because his truck is not capable of traveling more than forty-five miles an hour, a jury in Municipal Judge Bogue's court found yesterday.

Carino was arrested by Officers Staael and Mansfield on San Fernando Road near Arminta street with a truckload of figs. At the trial yesterday his attorney, Roy N. Sayre, called a mechanical expert from the company which sold Carino his truck as his main witness. The expert, E. A. Wilson, said the truck is incapable of speed in excess of forty-five miles an hour, even if empty. The jury found Carino not guilty.

MOAT

The grand-dads were not so dumb. An underground wall of water will surround the new vault of a bank planted sixty-nine feet beneath the surface on solid rock in New York City. The Bank of France in Paris has a forty-foot water wall around the vaults that hold the gold flowing into that country. The future safecracker will have to be both a miner and diver to get results.

MODEST DRESS

A speaker at the recent Eucharistic Congress in carrying out the ideas of the Pope concerning the proper dress for women declared that the gown should not come more than two inches below the throat and should cover both the elbows and knees. That sounds like a modest program in the face of what has gone before. The next thing will be to get the ladies to conform to it.

HOLLYWOOD SILVER MINE

A Hollywood motion-picture company laboratory has turned its tanks of old developing solutions into a silver mine yielding $6000 a month, says the United States Bureau of Standards. The emulsion on undeveloped films consists largely of silver. Upon being developed the silver bromide that has been exposed to light changes to metallic silver. Miles of film are run through the solutions weekly. When their power was exhausted, they were formerly thrown into the sewer. Now the precious metal is recovered and disposed of to the United States Mint at San Francisco. Old film is also burned and as much as $1000 worth of silver a month is obtained.

THE OLDEST INHABITANT

Prof. Henry F. Osborn, head of the American Museum of Natural History, has been awarded the medal of the National Academy of Sciences, for what he has written and discovered about the titanotheroids of Wyoming, the Dakotas and other sections of our wild West. The titanotherium was a massive beast who ruled our chilly north in the eocene period—a matter of 20,000 years ago or more. He was built on the same lines as the rhinoceros and had about the same obtuse but malignant mentality. He was about fifteen feet long when full grown and was eight feet high. He was no parlor pet even for a cave man. He may not have had the length of the dinosaur, but he could lick that critter before breakfast any morning. He lived more than 100 years when left undisturbed, but there are none now left to tell the tale. Some bones and skeletons are all that remain to tell his passing.

BUT PICKETING IS UNLAWFUL

The decision of Superior Judge Falk of Humboldt county, sitting temporarily here, which dissolves a temporary injunction and refuses a permanent one against picketing by striking garment workers, can only be regarded as unfortunate. Picketing of any kind is unlawful in Los Angeles and employers and employees are entitled to be protected against it. Experience has shown that the courts furnish one of the best means to secure such protection. To permit picketing to go on unrestrained can only result in encouraging lawlessness and possibly violence.

Judge Falk held that the petitioners failed to show sufficient cause for a restraining order. But picketing is unlawful and a mere showing that it exists or is threatened ought to be enough. It is unlawful because it always incites public disorder and tends to prevent workers from earning an honest living, which they have an undoubted right to do. It is especially important, at a time when work is scarce, for the courts to protect the defenseless in obtaining and retaining employment.

THE SUPREME COURT SPEAKS

Criticism even more severe than has been voiced locally of the radio utterances of Rev. R. P. Shuler is contained in the opinion of the California Supreme Court. In that opinion, the subversive and destructive intention of the clerical broadcaster is castigated in no uncertain terms. The opinion is important, of course, because it is a clear statement of the law of the State; but it is almost equally important because no charge of local bias or prejudice can be made against it. Heretofore, when courts have ruled against him, Shuler has asserted that the adverse decisions were the result of local political influences, or at least that the proceedings against him were out of proportion to the relative gravity of the offense and were motivated insincerely. He has accused the Bar Association, for example, of assailing him because of his criticism of it.

That such accusations are groundless, that his contempt of court has been real and serious and his prosecution fully justified, is now proved by the rulings of this high and impartial body, wholly free from local political influences and completely disinterested.

"We are satisfied that the broadcast utterances of the petitioner disclose a persistent and intentional purpose to impose his will and views on the Superior Court, not only on the judges mentioned, but on all judges of that court," declares the opinion, which is signed by all the seven justices with no dissent whatever.

Further, the opinion disposes wholly of Shuler's frequent attempts to take shelter in his cloth. There is, the opinion makes clear, no "benefit of clergy" in California—no immunity to lay court prosecution such as the law of the middle ages extended to those ordained. Shuler has frequently asserted that it is wrong to "put a preacher in jail." The court declares a preacher has the same right to speak his mind as anybody else, but no more.

After quoting briefly from Shuler's abuse of Judge McComb and other judges, the court said: "The foregoing animadversions were coupled with both the expressed and the covert threat of injurious consequences to Judge McComb in the event of his continuance to act as trial judge in said pending causes and to maintain unchanged his attitude with respect to the conduct and disposition thereof. . . . The purpose of the broadcaster as shown both expressly and by innuendo, was that of involving the several departments of the Superior Court then actually engaged in this or that phase of the judicial consideration of said pending causes, in such an atmosphere of suspicion as to the affiliations and attitude of the judges mentioned as would have the effect of compelling them and each of them to conform their rulings to the demands of the petitioner (Shuler) or to suffer the results of an inflamed public opinion injuriously affecting them and each of them in the event of noncompliance with the petitioner's demands."

It is in this that the contempt consisted, not in "criticising the courts." The right of fair and free criticism is not in the least invaded by restricting it to causes already decided. What is forbidden is "such utterances with respect to causes coming before courts of justice as have for their purpose a manifest tendency and attempted interference with the orderly administration of justice."

"No difference," says the court, "can be discerned between the rights of the citizen and the proper limitation, whether that citizen be a minister speaking from his pulpit or a broadcast through the radio, or an editor through his newspaper, or a curbstone orator from his soap box or an anarchist from whatever forum he may find."

On one of the seven counts against him, the court found itself divided in opinion as to whether the case was actually pending when he made his remarks and gave him the benefit of the doubt by reversing the conviction in this one particular.

It thus follows that no further time in jail need be served by Shuler on this particular set of offenses, though the court upheld the conviction on six counts.

The court brushed aside Shuler's contentions that his utterances did not constitute contempt because not made in the physical presence of the court, and that the whole series of speeches constituted a single offense and could be punished with only one penalty.

The decision establishes on a firmer foundation the right of the courts to protect themselves from interference and political pressure, a right which Shuler had brazenly challenged. His efforts to force judges, by threats, to do his will, are akin to lynch law. The action of the Bar Association in filing complaints against him was no more and no less than its duty, which was to prevent, if possible, the opinion of any outsider or self-appointed critic from influencing the determination of any case. Courts should, of course, decide cases on the law and the evidence alone—a principle which is conceded by nearly everybody but Shuler.

To permit Shuler or anyone else to substitute his opinion for court determination, and to impose it upon the courts by tactics of terrorism, would lead to untold abuses. The California Supreme Court has shown how this attempted overlordship can be overthrown.

A LABOR SHORTAGE

There is an acute shortage of cotton pickers in Arizona and there will be extreme difficulty in harvesting the crop unless pickers are supplied at once, it appears from the application of the Arizona Cotton Growers' Association to the railroads for a special rate.

It furnishes proof of the contention made by most southwestern employers, that Mexican common labor is absolutely necessary to the agricultural industries of this section and that there is no other labor supply which can be substituted for it. It also furnishes proof of the effectiveness of the passport restrictions put into effect by the State Department, and shows there is no need for any quota law, such as the Johnson, Box and Harris bills.

If in a time of industrial depression and widespread unemployment, with most of the Arizona copper mines shut down by the low price of that metal—the lowest in a generation—the State of Arizona cannot supply its own cotton pickers, there is no truth in the contentions of restrictionists that there are plenty of Americans seeking agricultural jobs and willing to take them if Mexicans do not crowd them out.

COLOR PICTURES

"In a year and a half all motion pictures will be wholly or partly in color. Three years from now the black and white photography will be as rare as the silent picture is today," says the head of the production department of one of America's largest motion picture corporations, according to Michel Mok in Popular Science Monthly.

One hundred full-length pictures entirely or partly in color are on the reels. A few years ago it was a marvel for a picture to move. Then the talking film awakened a slumbering world. Now colors have stepped out of clothes, typewriters and pens, and climbed on to the silver screen.

The four billions invested in motion pictures in the world are nervous over the innovation. The movies were caught napping by the talkies and they are determined not to be caught again.

Also enlarged pictures are beginning to appear in Hollywood and New York. A double-width film is projected on an enlarged screen, so that more people can appear in action. This is especially valuable in screening musical comedies with large choruses. A second advantage lies in the fact that a wider film allows a wider sound track. This gives better sound quality with less amplification and sharpens and defines the images.

How soon communities outside of Los Angeles and Gotham will get the jumbo screens is undetermined. But color has come and it is likely to stay. Every improvement that makes a scene alive and real soon becomes an essential.

Another revolutionary change is knocking at the studio door. Movies with a true stereoscope effect in which images have not only length and breadth, but also depth, are foretold by the prophets.

TALKS PROHIBITION

A prohibition member of the British Parliament who is now touring this country is not satisfied with our methods of enforcement. He is said to have made the prediction that the law will not last as it is in this country for another three years. What will happen to it he does not say, but possibly he has been getting his impressions in New York. They say funny things there.

The LEE SIDE O' L.A.
BY lee Shippey

DEAR LEESIDE: Recently you gave an anxious world the true and only history of the naming of Pasadena, much to the astonishment, I am sure, of many Pasadenans. Now pray don't let anyone get you tangled up on the name of Altadena. Altadena was selected with the idea that it meant "high land," for the name of a forty-acre tract belonging to Byron O. Clark, back in '86, when he purchased the forty "up the slope" from Pasadena and gave it that cognomen. "How do you like my new name, Wood?" he asked me one morning. "Fine," said I. "Where did you get it?" "I invented it," he answered. "Don't you think it appropriate to that high land?" Clark planned to build a fine home there, but untoward fate upset his plans. It would be a pleasure for me to write some things about that high-class pioneer, but I wrote this only to tell you about the naming of Altadena.—J. W. Wood, Pasadena.

Conspiracy Which Finds Us Helpless

Lee: On behalf of the tall women of America, I appeal to you.

There is a nefarious conspiracy on the part of the style makers to put us larger women out of the picture. When you look at babies or young children you admire those which are fat and strong. When you buy a horse you wouldn't think of getting one that was merely skin and bone. At the County Fair and the Riverside Fair it was the sleek, fat sheep which everyone found the handsomest and most to be admired. A proper amount of fat in a human being should be taken as evidence of clear conscience, good disposition and that vigorous health which makes one assimilate food well. But the style-makers have got a lot of us to starving ourselves to death in an effort to look like the kind of skimpy creatures nature never intended us to look like. You can't imagine a mountain trying to be a valley or a giant Sequoia trying to be a nettle weed, but every day you see poor, deluded stout women attempting things as ridiculous.

And the style makers are responsible for it all.

Underslung Furniture

And now they add awkwardness to agony by flooding the market with this new, short-legged furniture.

Wherever you go nowadays, you see divans and chairs no higher than good-sized footstools used to be. When we tall people sit on them our knees stick up higher than our heads! But a tiny woman can gracefully sit beside us on some of that playhouse furniture and look simply bewitching—while we look worse by contrast. When they got all the seats one sees in fashionable houses lowered a foot they certainly got the drop on us. If we were wearing the kind of skirts we were a couple of years ago our knees would stick out so far our skirts would just make ruffles around our waists. As it is, our long skirts drape over our knees like tents.

We Must Adjust Ourselves

The heck of it, Leeside, is that this new underslung furniture is so pretty and cute that every housewife wants it. Yesterday I went to a tea at which a man who was 6 feet 3 was trying to balance a teacup on knees which stood up before him like a mountain range. "There's no getting away from it," he said, "so we might as well begin learning how to look graceful on it. Even big people like me can learn to sit on this low-model stuff without looking as if they were doubled up with a severe tummy ache. A couple of years ago, when this low-style furniture first showed up, I thought it was only a passing fad. But now one sees it everywhere and more of it every day. So what the world needs is a course of lessons in how to use it gracefully."

That's why I'm writing to you, Leeside. Can't you induce The Times to give us a course of lessons? An illustrated lesson every day in your column would make it quite interesting—for a while. Yours for happier as well as prettier homes. MILLIE.

The young intellectual in our block likes to talk about holding up a torch for humanity, but the only ones I ever see him holding are Chesterfields, Old Golds, Luckies or Camels and he often holds up somebody else for them.

A columnist doesn't have to spend as much on clothes as most men do. His readers are continually giving him socks.

I've bummed around quite a bit, but I never yet found a town which really amounted to anything till after it quit being wide open.

It looks as if the only publicity that is painful to a film actress is that which is boiled down to a stick when she was hoping for a column.

A WORD OF AGREEMENT

By James J. Montague

"There are lots of people who committed crimes here last year who would not have done so if they had been fishing."—President Hoover.

Although Hoover, and Coolidge, and Cleveland,
All addicts of rod, reel and line,
Ran first in the race for a prominent place
Which will probably never be mine,
There's a peace in the soul of an angler
That removes any impulse toward wrath,
And he never can stray to the tortuous way
Or fail to pursue the straight path.
The music that's made by the riffle and fall
Never sings to the heart filled with rancor and gall.

Though my quest for the trout or the salmon
Where the granite-walled cataracts race,
Has aroused in my heart not a wish to take part
In the struggle for power or place,
I fancy the croon of the riffles,
And the glint of the rainbow-hued spray,
And the kingfisher's cry as he fluttered close by
May have kept me from going astray.
The soul that is soothed by a mountain brook's song
Is a soul that will never go very far wrong.

Far away from the turbulent city
And its riot and racket and roar,
Far away from the rush and the press and the crush,
By the side of a water-lapped shore
There is balm for the wayward and restless
From care there is blessed release;
In the whispering trees there is comfort and ease,
In the blue of the sky there is peace.
And the trail that winds 'round where the swift waters flow

Outrageous Assessment

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 1.—Again the assessment question! Property owners of Section 4, embracing, roughly speaking, territory from Second street to Jefferson and Georgia to Raymond, have been notified of an impending assessment for the Jefferson-street storm drain system.

Inquiry reveals the anticipated rate will be over 3½ cents per square foot, or approximately $250 for a lot 50 by 150 feet.

Do you recall that when the Main-street drain was constructed about six or seven years ago the rate was only 1 7-10 cents per square foot—about half of the present estimate? Also, cement, materials of all kinds and labor were much higher then than now. Why is this thus?

Every fair-minded property owner should expect and be willing to meet reasonable financial demands for our city's necessary improvements, but never an exorbitant, outrageous assessment such as now confronts us for the Jefferson-street storm drain system. We protest and again protest.

Cross-Street Name Puzzle

OCEANSIDE, Sept. 30.—[To the Editor of The Times:] As an outsider and frequent visitor to your city I can fully appreciate the clever comparison of the blithesome Harry anent the hidden street names of Los Angeles with the good old game of "Button, Button, Who's Got the Button?" Their elusiveness is simply astounding especially in a town which harbors so many strangers and counts the tourist crop as one of its best assets. When the time hangs heavy I have found it quite a fascinating pastime to mount a bus or tramcar and ride to the end of the line and try to decipher the street names en route. These are usually displayed in a jaunty cockeyed fashion from dinky diminutive posts which often seem to be doing their best to shrink into obscurity as if ashamed of the job. As a pastime this is almost as good as working out The Times Sunday cross-word puzzle, albeit somewhat more expensive.

HALL OF FAME (New York University) Sept. 25.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I have recently seen a clipping from The Times of June 4, 1930, entitled "Late Honors to Lowell," asking why James Russell Lowell should have had to wait so long before being admitted to New York University's Hall of Fame. You are evidently under a misapprehension in this matter, confusing the dedication of Lowell's bust with his admission to the Hall of Fame and the placing of his tablet in the Colonnade. As a matter of fact, Mr. Lowell was chosen in the year 1905 and his tablet unveiled in 1907. Nothing that you say of him in your editorial is too much in the way of praise. I only wish you might have been present at the unveiling of his bust on the 8th of last May.

SLIGHT WINES AND JEERS

BY EUGENE BROWN

He may be a good scout at that.

The average bozo who indulges in home-brewing is usually rather innocent and inoffensive, personally.

He is certainly mighty optimistic.

He is visionary. He has funny dreams of producing a muscatel or claret that will warm up his wattles and put a dash of verve in his veins.

But it is only a dream.

I have seen a lot of these amateurs and I can't remember that any of them ever turned out a brew powerful enough to intoxicate a grasshopper. Mostly the stuff spoils or turns into vinegar and is virtually a waste for beverage purposes. Often it develops into a calm and placid example of grape juice and is used as such. But to get a real rip-snorting high-powered kick out of the concoction is not being done. It isn't even a menace to the Volstead Act.

So I say that if all the grapes in California were turned over to the home-brew chemists with full permission to go ahead and do their darndest the State would still be as temperate as a missionary meeting.

But the trouble is that when these home-winers are hunted down and harried or warned that they must behave they are like to turn to having secret and clandestine commerce with the village bootlegger and line their pelts with bogus gin and bum whisky. Then they do get soused. Everybody is worse off than if home-brewing had gone along its innocuous way.

The cellar chemist sneaks out the back way and acquires an empty keg and a few lugs of over-ripe grapes and begins the practice of the arts of chemistry in his basement.

But he is a rank amateur.

He knows nothing of the real science of wine making. He cannot even maintain the even temperature that is so essential. He has been told in general terms that it is all very simple and so he goes blithely ahead with his pressing. He understands that the fermentation is all there is to it. The wine makes itself. When the time finally comes to drain off his concoction he finds with sorrow that he has merely developed a rather punk grade of vinegar—either that or the fermentation has run all over the cellar and left a smell like a Socialist convention.

Maybe he was in high hopes of violating the Eighteenth Amendment, but he hasn't. The stuff he has is less intoxicating than the remnants of the garbage can. If he does happen to have luck and produces a wine that is palatable it would take several beakers of it to impart a thrill.

So I insist that if the excess grapes of California were turned over to the home guards for their experiments in fermentation we would be a more temperate and sober people than we are today. The bootlegger would not be forever knocking at the back door and there would be fewer scandals in high life. The boys and girls would not be faring forth to gin parties every other night.

I may be crazy, but I like it.

AUTOMOBILE "TALKIES"

BY LANNIE HAYNES MARTIN

A woman autoist who never had a tag, a fine, a reprimand or even a nasty look from a traffic officer declared the other day that she believed some one could make a fortune if he would invent a speaking horn for machines.

She suggested that besides facilities for general conversation it have certain set phrases, just like telephone girls have, so it could say, "Please, officer, may I turn here?" and a sweet-voiced "Thank you for letting me pass" as well as some rather mandatory, terse, expressive expletives for drivers who hog the road. It is believed that such a device would instill, induce or enforce courtesies which would not only make driving much safer, but much more pleasant.

But the question arises, if machines once gained the power of speech might not the drivers become so intrigued by what they said to each other that they would forget the dangers of collision? Imagine a reconstructed runabout being able to keep still concerning the various major operations which had restored it to health, or a once dingy coupe refraining from boastful language over its new coat of laquer!

It has often been a source of speculation as to what autos would say if they could talk. Their owners would certainly have to treat them with utmost consideration and respect if they expected to maintain anything like savory reputations. And what expert testimony machines could give in disputed right of way cases! What humiliation they must suffer in having to remain silent all through police inquiries when they are the most seriously injured parties!

And if autos went "talkie" and tried to tell the driver the right way to go and the directions conflicted with the instructions given by the back-seat authority, then the necessity for a referee would arise and this would afford employment for many idle people.

But just imagine the strain on one's nerves if the auto had temperamental moods and spoke cynically, in a minor key, regarding detours, bad roads, steep hills, sharp curves and perhaps bad driving!

After all it may be best to allow it to remain inarticulate and merely express itself in smooth purrs and admonitory honks.

Antique Plane Coming Sunday

In confirming reports that he will attempt to fly a 1910 pusher-type Curtiss airplane from Chicago to Los Angeles, Al Wilson, Hollywood stunt flyer, yesterday notified Col. Richard Barnitz, director Los Angeles Municipal Airport, that he expects to land the obsolete craft at the local field Sunday at 2 p.m.

Wilson, who stunted the awkward plane here at the 1928 National Air Races, is flying the 2000 miles from Chicago in easy stages.

The plane is powered by a war-type Curtiss engine of ninety horsepower. Its top speed is about sixty miles an hour. The pilot sits on a tiny seat on the lower wing, the plane having no fuselage or windshield.

MRS. GIBSON EULOGIZED IN RESOLUTION

Orphans' Home Officials Praise "Brilliant and Noble" Fellow-Worker

The following tribute to the late Mrs. Frank Gibson, by resolution of its directorate was made public yesterday by the Los Angeles Orphans Home:

"In the death of Mary Simons Gibson the Los Angeles Orphans Home has lost one of its beloved founders and a devoted and most efficient worker on its board of directors in its early years.

"The last work which came from her then failing hands was a history of the organization and early years of the home in which she portrays with humor and pathos the difficulties which beset its struggle for existence. This work was done at the earnest request of those who realized the need of having this invaluable material for the archives of the home and with her always abundant desire to be of service even at the cost of physical suffering, she had it finished for the fiftieth anniversary of the home, the 11th of July, but illness, which proved to be her last, prevented her attendance.

"We cannot here in any way recount her varied, vivid and constructive work, nor in the smallest measure count her loss to the community, the State and the nation.

"Ever the friend of women and an untiring worker for their logical advancement, her name has been placed on the memorial roll of honor of the National League of Women Voters, and those who, in the years to come, journey to Washington and see her name graven in bronze there will be reminded how infinitely much they owe to that brilliant and noble woman, Mary Simons Gibson."

Second Brood in Lonely Homes, Woman's Advice

MRS. ANNA SHAPIRO.

"Fathers and mothers who have raised their own families should reenter the struggle of life and aid the youth of today in their problems. There should be a second brood in many lonely homes. If these young people of today are helped in their misfortune and despair the human race will be benefited that much," declared Mrs. Anna Shapiro, social welfare worker of Chicago and author of "Red Ruth," a story dealing with an ideal age and condition of humanity, yesterday.

Mrs. Shapiro has had many years' experience in social work in Chicago. She is at the Hollywood Hotel and is negotiating with a motion-picture company for the production of her book.

"I know that organized charity is accomplishing wonders in affording relief to the destitute, and I am certainly not against such organizations, but wherever it is possible I have found it well to bring the giver face to face with the man whom he is aiding. There is always a little personal touch there that is helpful.

"While conditions are not comparable here with Chicago, I favor the opening of churches and municipal buildings this winter in my home town for the benefit of the poor and friendless. This is a cruel age and conditions can be remedied best, I believe, through an appreciation of other people's problems."

Scholarship Tests Put On Yearly Basis

University of Southern California students will have opportunity to compete for Rhodes scholarships every year instead of two years out of every three, under important changes just announced.

The forty-eight States of the Union are divided into eight districts of six States each, under changes announced by Dr. Allison Gaw, chairman of the Rhodes scholarship faculty committee at the university. Each State will hold yearly competitions among candidates. Two of these will be selected by the State committee to appear before the district committee which will select from the twelve men appearing before them four to go to Oxford University.

A second important change announced gives Rhodes scholars the option of spending their third year at Oxford or any other university outside their own country.

Security Bank Woman Honored by Association

Announcement was received here yesterday of the unanimous election of Miss Julia E. Macbeth, assistant secretary, Security-First National Bank, as corresponding secretary of the Association of Bank Women at the convention of that body now in session in Cleveland.

The organization comprises more than 300 women bankers from all parts of the United States. Their elections yesterday place executive officers outside of New York City for the first time.

Miss Macbeth has been connected with Security-First National since 1907, and is stationed at the bank's First National office, Seventh and Spring streets.

CHEF WYMAN'S ANSWERS

ENGLISH MUFFINS

J. S., Venice, Cal.: English muffins are baked on a griddle, and not in the oven. To make scald two cupfuls of milk, add two tablespoonfuls of butter, and two teaspoonfuls of salt. Stir until luke warm and add one cake of yeast that has been dissolved in a half-cupful of lukewarm water and beat in enough sifted flour to make a drop batter, about two and three-quarters cupfuls. Let stand in a warm place for four hours in a covered bowl or until light. Stir down the mixture and fill oiled muffin rings. Placed on a hot griddle half-full of the mixture, let the batter rise to the top of the rings, turn with a pancake turner and bake until brown on both sides. Split open and toast and butter. Serve hot.

NOTICE

Every letter for the past week has had inclosed in it stamped, self-addressed envelopes, and according to the rules of the paper, I am not permitted to answer through the mail. All questions are answered in this column every Friday.

ENGLISH TOFFEY

R. E. B., Fullerton, Cal.: Herewith an English toffey recipe, I do not like to give candy recipes, as I am not a candy maker. Anything in the way of cookery, I'm only too pleased to do the best I can.

Two cupfuls of sugar, one and one-half cupfuls of white corn syrup, one and a half cupfuls of thin cream, three tablespoonfuls of butter, one-eighth teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of vanilla extract. Put the sugar, corn syrup, milk and salt into a saucepan, and cook, stirring until the sugar is dissolved. Continue the cooking until the temperature on a candy thermometer is 244 deg. Fahrenheit, or a firm ball forms in cold water. It will be necessary to stir frequently, as it scorches easily, add the butter, and continue the cooking to a temperature of 252 deg. Fahrenheit. Add the vanilla. Sprinkle the chopped nut meats on an oiled slab, and pour the toffey over them. Sprinkle again with nuts and mark with a knife, while the mixture is still warm. Cut in two and cool and cover with a chocolate coating.

CHOCOLATE COATING

Melt in the top part of a double boiler one-half pound of unsweetened chocolate, add two cupfuls of sugar and mix well. Melt one ounce of cocoa butter, and stir it into the chocolate gradually with a half-teaspoonful of vanilla extract. Do not allow the chocolate to become too hot, as it causes it to turn white after it has hardened. Dip the pieces of toffey in this mixture and place on an oiled tin or slab until cool.

CALVES LIVER AU GRATIN

H. O., Los Angeles, Cal.: Make a dressing with the following ingredients: One-half a cupful of finely ground suet, one cupful of bread crumbs, that have been soaked for ten minutes in milk, and the milk pressed out of them, add one-half of a medium-sized onion chopped fine, one tablespoonful of chopped parsley, one teaspoonful of chopped chives, and a half a cupful of finely chopped mushrooms seasoned with salt and paprika, and thyme. Oil a baking dish and place a layer of the dressing in it. On top of this place a layer of thin slices of liver that have been scalded with hot water for five minutes, and the skim removed. Repeat the layers until the dish is full, on the top place some buttered bread crumbs, and bake in a moderate oven from forty-five to fifty-five minutes, according to the amount placed in the dish.

In the recipes this week you will find a recipe for a liver loaf, which think you would like very much.

LIVER AND MUSHROOMS

Melt one tablespoonful of shortening, and add to it one and one-half tablespoonfuls of flour, and brown it slowly, add a seasoning of salt, and white pepper, and slowly add two cupfuls of water. Cook until thick, then have one-half a pound of liver cut in two-inch cubes, that has had boiling water poured over it, and drained immediately to the sauce, and cooked slowly for ten or twelve minutes, add a half a cupful of mushrooms that have been cut in small pieces to the mixture, and allow them to heat through. Garnish a hot platter with toast points, pour the mixture into the center and serve at once.

Do not cook the liver too much as like kidneys it becomes tough with long cooking, it must be cooked through thoroughly, but over a moderate flame, and that is all that is necessary.

PECAN ROLLS

V. L. M., Los Angeles, Cal.: One cupful of scalded milk, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one tablespoonful of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt, one cake of yeast, two tablespoonfuls of luke warm water, two cupfuls of flour, three tablespoonfuls of brown sugar, one-half a cupful of pecan nut meats. Add the butter, sugar and salt to the milk, when lukewarm add the cake of yeast, that has been dissolved, in the two tablespoonfuls of lukewarm water, add the sifted flour, and beat thoroughly, cover and let rise until light. Cut down and add enough more flour to be able to knead the mixture. Let rise again, then roll out one-fourth of an inch thick. Spread with butter, sprinkle with brown sugar, and the chopped pecan meats, roll up like a jelly roll and cut in pieces three-fourths of an inch thick, place the pieces in a pan close together, let rise again and bake in a hot oven. When the rolls are taken from the oven brush over with the beaten white of an egg, which has been diluted in a half a tablespoonful of water, sprinkle with the remaining nut meats, and return to the oven to glaze.

Home Wedding

A charming effect was achieved at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Freas Campbell, 713 North Maple Drive, Beverly Hills, on the evening of the 17th inst., when their daughter, Miss Madaline Grace Campbell, became the bride of John Robert Jordan. The long living-room of the home took on the appearance of a chapel with the guests seated on either side of an aisle lighted full length with tall candles. Gold and bronze tones predominated in the decoration scheme and the stairway, down which the bridal party came, was wound with fern and sweet peas.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of flesh-colored satin, princess style, with a deep yoke and long sleeves of real lace. Her tulle veil was held to her head with a cap of lace and caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Dorothy Campbell, who attended her sister as maid of honor, wore a frock of crepe chiffon over satin in an old ivory shade and she carried a bouquet of delphinium tied with tulle of a corresponding shade. The bride's other attendants, Mrs. David Spangler and the Misses Jeannette and Jean Monroe, wore French blue flat chiffon frocks over satin with insets of gold lace in the under-frock. They carried arm bouquets of gold chrysanthemums. Mrs. Campbell wore rose chiffon and a corsage of orchids.

Richard Jordan served his brother as best man and the ushers were Frederick Olson, Carroll Lewis and Thomas Luckett.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the patio of the home and a wedding supper was served in the gardens with 125 guests in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Jordan will make their home in Beverly Hills when they return from the honeymoon at the Circle-Z ranch in Arizona.

Wedding Announced

Formal announcement is being made by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Benton Powell of 309 South Doheny Drive, Beverly Hills, of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Lois Maydell Powell, to Robert Lee Surtees, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Surtees, late of Covington, Ky., now of San Diego, the ceremony having taken place Tuesday, the 16th inst., at 5:30 p.m. in the Wee Kirk o' the Heather, Glendale.

The bride wore a becoming gown of white Georgette with small hat to match, and carried an arm bouquet of orange blossoms and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Norman C. Robinson, matron of honor, was in beige velvet, with matching hat and corsage of gardenias, while Finley Surtees of Cincinnati, O., served his brother as best man.

The wedding supper followed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Conklin Robinson, 308 South McCarty Drive, and as the wedding party arrived at the house strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march were herad played by Mrs. Alice McAdams Gray, sister of the hostess.

The house was gay with lovely blossoms in the rich autumn hues. Mr. and Mrs. Surtees are enjoying an extended wedding trip through the East, first to Covington, then on to Cincinnati, Chicago and New York City, and after their return will make their future home in Hollywood.

Betrothal

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Helen Hart, charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hart, 956 Rimpau Boulevard, to Dr. Gilbert Levy of Memphis, Tenn. The bride-elect is now visiting with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cowan Frank, in Memphis.

Miss Hart was graduated from the University of Minnesota and Dr. Levy's alma mater is the University of Tennessee. They will come to this city on their honeymoon trip following the wedding celebration in Memphis.

Engagement Announced

The wedding will be an event of November 7, in Wee Kirk o' the Heather, Glendale.

Cream the butter and sugar together, add the well-beaten yolks of the eggs, then gradually add to it the vinegar, lemon juice, oil, mustard, salt and paprika, cook in a double boiler until thick, stirring constantly, allow to become thoroughly chilled, then add the whipped cream.

CARPET HISTORY

The production of floor coverings in this country began in the home, with Grandmother and Aunt Martha laboriously weaving rag rugs, hooked rugs and braided mats by hand. Shortly afterward, as hand looms were constructed, the women were grouped in small buildings, and men came to boss the work, as they are wont to do. With the importation of rather crude looms from Europe and Great Britain and the introduction of water and steam power, we saw the growth of large manufacturing units. Tremendous textile corporations are characteristic of our present industrial age. Emulating the hand work of the oriental, which reached its heyday in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, the early types of weaving in America were of hand or foot power type and operated largely by women. Today the powerful broadlooms making seamless fabrics are operated entirely by men.

AN INTERESTING RUG

The fact that a floor covering lies under foot is sufficient cause for many people to treat it with disrespect. A good illustration of this is found in the case of the great record-breaking Roxy Theater rug, 41 by 58 feet. Eighteen designers worked three weeks to provide the 8,000,000 checks to govern the weave of 32,000,000 tufts in the rug. The paper was cut 6000 yards by hand shears, while two and one-half tons of yarn were spun and dyed. One thousand, three hundred pounds of wool "backing" yarn were also provided. Twenty weft weavers worked three weeks on the blanket, which was cut into forty miles of Chenille cord and four rug weavers worked another three weeks to complete the giant floor covering. When sheared, the rug weighed better than two and one-half tons, was one full inch in thickness, and required fourteen men to roll it up. It cost $50 a square yard—or a total cost of about $18,000.

CUPBOARD
HARMONI

Many people are not so much annoyed by the problems of interior decoration as by the amount of work they think is necessary to carry out their plans. I have often told my friends that it is not the amount of painting that beautifies a room, but the intelligent arrangement of color harmonies.

Suppose we take a specific example: A friend of mine in Spokane had a delightful breakfast room finished in soft yellow. She had two built-in cupboards in the sides, finished in the same color. Somehow, she complained, her breakfast room was "flat" and not interesting.

We studied it. In less than an hour's time, and at an expenditure of less than 50c, we were able to completely change the color harmonies of her breakfast room. One can of Apple Green Flex sufficed. Flex, you know, is the new color finish. Not an enamel, not a lacquer, Flex combines the best features of both.

With Flex we trimmed board and edged its shelve trous surface of Flex deeper gleams of yellow room alive and gay.

Often many other room quire such simple efforts their beauties. Flex is terior decoration because use. It is self-leveling and out brush marks. It is good paint and hardware

YOUR BABY and MINE

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

[illegible] Eldred will be glad to answer [illegible] questions pertaining to babies and [illegible] problems. A stamped and self-addressed [illegible] forwarded to this [illegible] will bring a personal reply. [illegible] department offers leaflets on [illegible] the child from [illegible] to 6 years, prenatal care and [illegible] for the nursing mother, consti[illegible] for the [illegible] outfits for the new [illegible] walking, teething, [illegible] (unconscious) urine, bed [illegible] training in cleanly habits, [illegible] cod liver oil, orange [illegible] vomiting, refrac[illegible] juice, lime water, [illegible] and cradle [illegible] before asking a personal ques[illegible] about one of these subjects. It is [illegible] to send a self-addressed stamped [illegible] for the leaflet you need. CH DEVELOPMENT SHOULD E RAPID AFTER ONE YEAR

lking is one of the baby's most [illegible] accomplishments. For its [illegible] he needs a pattern of [illegible] speech upon which to model [illegible] babbling sounds. To make use [illegible] model he must have good [illegible]

[illegible] are talked to by their [illegible] in a language that seems [illegible] mother particularly suited for [illegible] understanding. How can [illegible] learn adult words unless he [illegible] them used constantly and his own abortive efforts corrected? If baby is just allowed to babble words in his own manner and the parents make enormous efforts to translate these for him he has no real incentive to make any further efforts toward intelligibility.

"Oh, we know what she is saying!" the mother says proudly when daughter bursts into a stream of commanding and unintelligible syllables. This may be a state pleasing to the mother, but it is a static one for baby.

VOCABULARY AFTER ONE YEAR

The child of 1 year of age who can hear well is talked to in an adult manner and is mentally up to normal should have four or five words in his vocabulary which he uses with purpose and meaning. From then on the development of the vocabulary is rapid. The child of 2 is quite capable of talking in two or three-word sentences and using an incredible number of different words.

Mrs. E. T. W. wonders if she has cause for worry when her 3-year-old boy uses only a half-dozen words, though he has dozens in his own language. She says, "He is exceptionally bright in other ways and quick to understand, but he won't say anything. He has always been alone with me and I was much alone before he was born. Would that have anything to do with it? Need I worry?"

Worry is useless unless it stimulates one to do something about altering the situation. I think that you should at least make some real efforts to discover the cause of the slow talking. At 3 years the child should talk.

REMEDYING SITUATION

Possibly you are allowing him to get all the attention and service he needs through the use of this makeshift language. Do not be so ready to understand it and always suggest the right words for what the child is trying to say. Read to him daily and talk to him conversationally, instead of being silent, as is probably your custom, except when you want to give an order or a suggestion. Your own silence before he was born has nothing to do with this—otherwise no child of a deaf mute would talk, and we know that is far from true—but your habitual silence after he was born is probably a very important factor. Be certain, too, that his hearing is acute so that you know he can understand clearly the words you are saying, instead of interpreting them as he hears them. This may be the cause of the jumbled speech he now uses.

Health and Diet

ADVICE

by DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

WHY WE CRAVE RICH FOOD

As the human race evolves we find ourselves confronting new problems with our old instincts. Our instincts are based on the experiences of hundreds of generations of those who have preceded us. These instincts were reliable guides for the conditions at that time, but they are not always the best for conditions today. We know that at one time food was not as plentiful as at present. It was often obtained under great danger. When it was obtained there was no satisfactory method of keeping the surplus for future use. Under those conditions it was essential to eat enough food to last over until more food could be obtained and it was also wise to eat the most concentrated foods to stave off the hunger pangs for as long as possible.

If you give a child or person who has had no dietetic training a choice of food he will almost invariably exhibit this instinct by picking out only those foods which have a high caloric value and avoiding foods which have a low caloric value. He will choose meat, nuts, bread, macaroni, beans, peas, corn, eggs, potatoes, sugar, cake, ice cream or any other food which is rich in starch, sugar or protein, mixed with some fat or oil. In doing this he is simply following the race-old fear of starvation. He will avoid spinach, watercress, carrots, asparagus, lettuce and most other foods which are low in calories. An exception to this are the sweet fruits and berries which are usually enjoyed by everyone. However, the reason for the enjoyment is probably because of the sugary taste which the body recognizes as containing calories, and also because the berries and fruits were among the first foods used by man and often carried him over lean periods until other foods, such as meats and cereals, were abundant. The vegetables are comparatively recent additions to the racial diet, for they did not become tender and succulent until men ceased to be nomads and became agriculturists.

It is no longer necessary for us to eat enough at one meal to last for several days. The average person eats three or four meals every day, but has a reasonable assurance that he can continue to do so for a long time in the future. If one were only going to eat one meal every two days it would be necessary to eat five or six thousand calories at a meal, but when one eats three or four meals a day there is grave danger of overeating on the high-calory, concentrated, acid-forming foods. You may only need about 2500 calories a day when actually you will be eating 4000 or 5000. When you are overeating you are simply overworking your digestive and eliminative organs and a comparatively early breakdown is the result, and this danger can be avoided if you will make it a point to see that at least half of the foods you eat are comparatively low in calories. These foods are just as rich and often richer than the more concentrated foods in mineral elements and vitamins, so they really are helpful for providing alkaline elements to counteract the acid-forming tendency of the richer foods.

In this day and age if we wish to get the most out of life we must let our reason and observation dictate to us, rather than our more primitive instincts.

PARIS STYLE SHOW GIVEN BY MAGNIN

Latest Models Displayed in Hollywood Shop With Lingerie as Feature

Alluring Parisian models were displayed Wednesday afternoon at the Hollywood Boulevard shop of I. Magnin & Co. at a fashion revue in its beautifully appointed salon.

The mannikins exhibited evening and afternoon gowns, suits and wraps, especially created for this occasion by the famous House of Redfern of Paris.

This fashion exhibit was held under the direct supervision of M. G. Gedal, fashion director from Paris.

A marvelous array of Boue Soeurs lingerie and tea and bridge pajamas was exhibited. The sports ensembles shown were of exclusive designs and materials, with brown and green predominating.

Sumptuous wraps of fur and velvet were modeled, one outstanding number being of white ermine with a deep point effect at the hem line. Among the beautiful evening gowns displayed was a black taffeta, striking in its simplicity. The two-tiered skirt was finished with picoted points, and taffeta straps studded with brilliants reached from the bodice top to the low-cut back.

Among the many beautiful numbers displayed were a black flowered net with uneven hem line and bolero; a white satin evening gown worn with a short emerald velvet wrap, the cape collar being edged with white fox; and a very stunning black velvet evening gown, whose elegant lines needed no embellishment save the small white roses across the low-cut back. An especially charming pajama ensemble featured ruby and gold, the trousers showing a ruffled peplum.

These collections will be displayed informally today and later will be shown at all I. Magnin shops, including Pasadena, Montecito, San Francisco and Seattle.

BLACK IN CONTURE AND IN DECORATIONS

Black provides the spice for many a modern decorative scheme. An accent of black rescues from comparative obscurity an undistinguished corner of a living-room. On the dining table it gives a pleasant air of audacity. Fittings of black in the boudoir, for dressing table or closet accessories, show an interesting depth of character.

Either sparingly, but daringly, used, as emphasis or as a background, black can play an important role in the modern room. It has to be employed as one does italics in writing, feelingly but not too frequently if it is to have force.

In the living-room, for instance, you can italicize a part of the room with a black-topped occasional table; or a black lamp base; or pottery, desk sets or book ends. Hunting scenes or floral prints mounted on black, etchings or silhouettes framed in narrow black, make smart accents.

Black glass plates, crystal glassware with black feet, black spiral or black trim and silver-plated hollow-ware lined in black give a dash to modern dining tables. Even linens show accents of black and there are new Spanish tea cloths of all-black linen.

Equally effective and quite as daring is black as a richly sombre backdrop for objects of vivid coloring. Black carpeting, black upholstery, black draperies, chintzes with black grounds, satins and taffetas, black lacquered furniture, chair frames, etc., are suggested for this sophisticated use of black.

For Winter Nights

A wise purchase for the coming blustery days in a ventilating window screen. They may be bought in a rain-proof material at a very reasonable price, varying according to size. Not only do they prevent rain from coming in, but they also let in the winter air without the terrific force of the blast.

NEWS OF THE CAFES

Ruth Roland and Ben Bard, popular screen players, will be guests of honor at George Olsen's new club, Culver City, Sunday night, when a gala program will be given as an added feature with "Looking Up" current musical revue. Jack White, Broadway comedian, will act as master of ceremonies and introduce a new Apache comedy skit with a group of film and footlight favorites appearing in the cast. Other highlights of the program will include Olsen and his music, offering new dance selections, George Murphy and Juliette Johnson, in "Modernistic Rhythm;" Jack Shutta, the "brown derby" comedian, and his robot pal, "Gabby" Gideon; Charita Alden, youthful hula dancer from Honolulu, and Olsen's new beauty ensemble.

RUSSIAN FOOD PROMISED

George Kosloff, originator of the famous Club Katinka in New York, and the Russian Club, has been appointed new manager of the Roosevelt Coffee Shop, according to announcement by Frank Cummings, Jr., manager of the film capital hotel. Kosloff will take charge immediately and introduce a number of favorite Russian dishes on the menu. Serving of the Russian food will be in addition to the regular bill of fare, and will prove an exceedingly popular feature at the Roosevelt, it is anticipated by Manager Cummings.

GREAT CROWD EXPECTED

Indications are that the largest aggregation of film celebrities that ever gathered at the Montmartre Cafe will be on hand next Monday evening, when Murray Smith and his orchestra make their Hollywood debut. Reservations have been arriving at a rapid rate during the past week, according to Eddie Brandstatter. An elaborate vaudeville program has been arranged, including singing and dancing specialties. Included in the evening's festivities will be a novel singing and dancing innovation introduced by era Strelska and Vova Prozenka.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

JACK FROST DOES HIS PART

The thrifty always look ahead;
The thriftless play about instead.
—Old Mother Nature.

Jack Frost had arrived. There was no doubt about it. He had stolen down from the Far North in the night. He had been very busy. He had visited all the nut trees. He had pinched the husks of many of the ripe nuts and opened them, so that the little brown nuts were showing, even if they did not fall. He had covered the ground with white hoarfrost that looked almost like a light snow. Yes, indeed, Jack Frost had been busy.

Impy the black Chipmunk was up even before jolly, round, bright Mr. Sun. Little Mrs. Impy was up with him. The minute it was light enough they raced for the nut trees in the Green Forest. But, early as they were, others were before them.

"Woof! Woof!" said a voice. That was Buster Bear.

"Chir-r-r-r-r!" rang out another voice in response. It was a sharp, angry voice.

Impy grinned. He knew that that was his cousin, Chatterer the Red Squirrel.

There was the sudden stamp of small feet, dainty feet. Lightfoot the Deer was there, for Lightfoot has a liking for beechnuts. And there were others still. Drummer the Grouse and Mrs. Grouse were there. Happy Jack the Gray Squirrel and Rusty the Fox Squirrel were there. Striped Chipmunk arrived just about the time that Impy and Mrs. Impy did. Even little Whitefoot the Wood Mouse was there, although no one knew it, for Whitefoot took care that none should see him.

Now, in spite of Chatterer's scolding, and in spite of the fact that Buster Bear now and then emitted a grumbly-rumbly growl, there really was very little quarreling over the nut supply. Each was too busy harvesting his or her share. Buster Bear and Lightfoot the Deer and Mr. and Mrs. Grouse stowed them away in their stomachs. Anyway, the first two did and Mr. and Mrs. Grouse packed them in their crops. The Squirrel family didn't stop to eat. Happy Jack, Rusty and Chatterer hid them away as fast as they could in various places near by. Striped Chipmunk and Impy and little Mrs. Impy took the nuts home. Yes, sir, they took the nuts home. You see, of all those nut lovers, they were the only ones provided with pockets. They had pockets in their cheeks.

How they did stuff those pockets! Had you met Striped Chipmunk or Impy or Mrs. Impy on their way home, you certainly would have thought that they had the mumps. If you had spoken to them, they wouldn't have said a word in reply. They couldn't have. Their cheeks were so swelled out with the nuts they were carrying that they could not use their tongues for talking.

My goodness, how they did work! Back and forth, back and forth they raced. It seemed as if their little legs must ache. Perhaps they did. It made no difference. This was harvest time and those nuts were to be harvested and stored away. There would be plenty of time to rest later.

After a while Buster Bear had enough and went away and lay down for a nap. Long before this Lightfoot the Deer and Mr. and Mrs. Grouse had eaten all they could and had gone away. Chatterer, Rusty, Happy Jack and the Chipmunks kept right on working. As long as there was light enough for it to be safe, they worked harvesting those nuts. When at last

After a while Buster Bear had enough and went away and lay down for a nap

Mr. and Mrs. Impy made the last trip and emptied their pockets in one of their storerooms, they found it was all they could do to get all those nuts in there.

"I guess we won't go hungry this winter," said Impy.

"We'll make another storeroom, if necessary," was all that Mrs. Impy replied.

CLASSES IN COOKING TO OPEN TODAY

"Times" Begins Fourth Year of Culinary Training for Women of City

With the reopening of its Cooking School today, The Times starts its fourth season of this free service, not only to its own subscribers but to every woman in Los Angeles who is interested in the preparation and serving of food.

Chef Wyman will continue her practice of preparing dishes that are unusual as well as appetizing. She will show every detail of the work and have the finished product ready for inspection at the close of the class.

Her program today features one of the popular "whole meal" dishes, made with sauerkraut and oysters, and to accompany this she will prepare eggplant fritters. Since nearly all the women who attend these classes are particularly interested in baking, Chef Wyman will make orange nut biscuits, a chocolate chiffon pie and a cushion cake.

This—and all of the classes which will be held each Friday—begins promptly at 2 o'clock. It is held on the third floor of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway. Elevator service is provided and The Times invites all of its readers to attend.

LINOLEUM EVERYWHERE

Linoleum has come out of the kitchen. Although it still has a place in practically every modern kitchen, it has widened its scope to include even the front of the house. Spanish living-rooms may use a tile pattern in linoleum that simulates real tile so closely that the effect is perfect. There are side rustic planking linoleums that make an harmonious background for provincial furniture for the living-room. Flagstone patterns give a sunroom an all-year outdoor effect. Cut and laid in a star design with a border, a linoleum-laid hall can arrive at unusual smartness.

SOUTH SEA SYMPOSIUM PRESENTED

Richard Arlen Plays Chief Role in "Sea God" at New Pantages Theater

BY ELENA BOLAND

The stage and the screen stand divided at the crossroads in the Pantages Theater this week and neither way seems quite clear ahead.

From the theater-minded George Abbott come both the screen play and the direction of "The Sea God," a South Sea symposium of love and villainy. In its basic idea are included all those factors which imply the successful movie, but in the telling these have unfortunately been checked, held back and left unfinished; due in most part to the conventionalities of the theater which seem to still keep Mr. Abbott's eyes on a beaten track.

What is missed most in "The Sea God" is lack of action in a story so utterly dependent on that item for its essential value. Dialogue hangs heavy as an impediment in most of the scenes. For when the characters get together for a chat, and this seems about all that will pass the tropic days away, they can't do anything but stand or sit and have it out.

Photographically, "The Sea God" is quite an expert piece of work and those portions which carry the most suspense are the war dance of the cannibals and a sequence taken under sea. The atmosphere of the tropics has been better captured in this than in most of the beachcombing bacchanals that have lighted the screen.

It is to Richard Arlen that the acting honors are handed. He gives to "Pink" Barker, a straight-shooting, gambling hero of the sea, his customary naturalness and an added strength which makes him easily the outstanding personality of his scenes.

A voice which carries a smiling, smiling snarl belongs to Robert Gleckler, a stage actor of much talent, who becomes in this one of the most resourceful of screen villains. It is his energy braced against Arlen's which leads to a race for pearls to the Solomon Islands and their unexpected adventures there with hand-painted cannibals.

Fay Wray offers the other reason for enmity between the two men. Hers is a role tried and true (to the movies) and but for a slight monotony Miss Wray acquits herself creditably.

Others appearing to advantage in the cast are Ivan Simpson, Bob Perry, Maurice Black and Fred Wallace.

Heading the stage show, Pantages presents Glen Rice and the Beverly "Hill Billies," who afforded unusual pleasure to the audience. Panchon and Marco also co-operate with their "On the Set" idea. Slim Martin leads the Pantages orchestra.

MISS MACKAILL CHOOSES STORY

Ray Griffith Plans Satirical Comedies as Talkers; Anthony Bushell Signs for "Queen's Husband;" Ann Harding's Next Pathe is "Rebound"

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

The lucky star of Dorothy Mackaill is still in the ascendant. Not only has she been signed on a new long-term contract by First National, following her sensational success in "Office Wife," but she has also been allowed to pick out her own first vehicle under that contract.

DOROTHY MACKAILL

This story is nothing less than that involved in a foreign play, current in Berlin at this time, called "Shooting Gallery." It is a comedy by Alice Stein-Lantefmann and Carl Meinhard, and is one of the big hits of the Berlin theatrical season.

Miss Mackaill has returned from Europe and has been in New York during the past three weeks, during which time she has seen few people, as she has been ill with a cold. She left the metropolis on Wednesday last, and will arrive in Los Angeles Sunday night, when she will proceed at once to her new home in Santa Monica.

It was while in Berlin that Miss Mackaill saw "Shooting Gallery" and decided if possible to make it her own. Following the arranging of her new contract by cable, she implored First National executives to buy the German play for her, which they accommodatingly did, some of them having seen the production.

It is likely that William Seiter, who has directed Miss Mackaill in some of her best pictures, will direct "Shooting Gallery."

While abroad Miss Mackaill visited, for the first time since she won success in pictures, her birthplace, a little English town named Hull.

RAY GRIFFITH WILL PLAY IN SATIRES

Now that the talking pictures are firmly established, satire is taking its place on the screen even as it has its high place on the stage.

Raymond Griffith

Raymond Griffith's forthcoming four pictures for Majestic will all be in this vein, we learn. As his silent pictures, all satirical, were successful, it would appear that his success in the talkers should be even greater. His first one will be a story written by himself, and having to do with two married people and modern ideas of marriage.

Helen Hunt Chosen

Helen Hunt, Hollywood character woman, has been added to the cast of Paramount's "Fighting Caravans," the Zane Gray story which Paramount is filming.

ANTHONY BUSHELL GETS R.-K.-O. ROLE

ANTHONY BUSHELL

Bushell has just been signed by R.-K.-O. for the featured role of Granton in "The Queen's Husband," according to announcement of William Le Baron.

As will be remembered, the actor, formerly of the London stage, made a sensational success in Warner Brothers' "Disraeli." He has also been successful in a number of roles with R.-K.-O.

Monta Bell Remains

Such an excellent job has Monta Bell made of "East is West," we learn, that Universal is detaining him for a second picture. The story which Bell will turn into a talker is not yet decided on, however, but the decision will be made within a day or two, if all goes well.

Ann Harding's Next

Ann Harding should have been twins, in such demand are her services.

Following a colloquy between Fox, which has borrowed Miss Harding to play in "East Lynne," and Pathe, it has been decided that Miss Harding shall star in another Pathe picture before playing for Fox.

"The Greater Love," which Miss Harding was to have done, has been postponed, however, and she will star in Donald Ogden Stewart's "Rebound."

E. H. Griffith has been east conferring with the author, and has brought home some excellent story ideas in connection with the play, according to word received. The two principal male characters, for one thing, are both to be sympathetic, instead of one being characterized as a heavy. Tests are now being made of actors for the leading parts.

Benny Rubin Returns

That clever young cut-up, Benny Rubin, has returned from New York to the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer field.

Rubin has just been assigned a featured comedy role in "Remote Control," William Haines's current starring vehicle.

SPECTACLE OF TREK THRILLS

"Big Trail" Unfolds Glamors of Photography

Grandeur Film Responsible for Scenic Sensations

Vigorous Spirit Manifest in Walsh Picture

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

The great pioneer trek to the western land of promise shone forth in a superb reality last night at Grauman's Chinese Theater. "The Big Trail," massive epic of the march across the plains, emerged as a spectacular and moving contribution to the screen, and demonstrated the power and sweep of the innovation of the Grandeur film.

This Fox production gives every indication of being a pictorial sensation. Even in celluloid of ordinary dimensions it would be an extraordinary event, but there is no question but that it is surpassing with the advantage of the huge perspective that the so-called wide measurement provides.

The premiere was, therefore, in a sense a mechanical triumph, but one that was fully rivaled in many phases of human interest, and colorful melodramatic incident.

Raoul Walsh, as director, has made a big picture of the struggle to the land of the setting sun. He has centered the action of the picture almost entirely around the journey and its hazards. There are the incidental human heroes and villains, but the really triumphing force in the action are the horses, the plodding oxen and the old prairie schooners fighting their way through an impossible terrain.

To be sure, "The Big Trail" creates no new environment for its drama. Back in the days of the silents there was "The Covered Wagon," which lives as a vigorous memory. But even that memory fails a little when placed alongside the new reality, conjured by the added actuality of sound, and the greater scope for photography.

Scenically, this new feature is also unrivaled. There have never been such vistas of hill, plain and winding river. There couldn't be with the previous limitations.

The first views of the wagon train leaving for the west, shrouded in the dust of the plains, were a sovereign impression. There is no question but that the magnitude of the view exerted the spell of awe. It was later repeated at intervals in the crossing of a swirling river, in the tortuous battle to lower wagons and cattle over a steep cliff, in the onrush of warring tribes of Indians, in the embittered struggle through drenching thunderstorms, and the battle with the blizzard.

In all of these events, definitely the big high lights of the picture, one was overswept with the feeling not of looking at a screen, but at an actuality.

There is a certain repetition in these events, perhaps, but again and again they assume a stirring character. They are clearly a triumph for the blending of the pictorial with the auditory effect, and as such are a joint victory.

The storm was the most dazzling moment. A veritable deluge literally riddles the wagon train in this episode. The roar of a violent thunderstorm is reproduced with an overwhelming accuracy. There has never been a storm like this in any picture, and the audience proved its proval with a prolonged applause.

Aside from its spectacular qualities the characterizations of the picture are the thing that rule. Certainly no such nasty villain has been evolved in a long time as the Red Flack played by Tyrone Power. He is such a delight to the eye in his utter ugliness, that he might have been made a sort of hero for compensation.

Marguerite Churchill enhances the role of the heroine with her naturalness. She is bound to be a positive favorite because of the warmth of her performance.

I would give Tully Marshall the succeeding laurels for his splendid impersonation of an old scout of the plains, echoing "The Covered Wagon." El Brendel makes much of the very scant humorous material. It so happens that the comedy of the picture is rather wretchedly obvious.

Of John Wayne, who enacts the hero, considerable might be said of consequence. I judge that he was picked as a type, for there is no suggestion of acting in his work. The critical will, therefore, differ as to its merits. There is something rather naive and awkward about the way he speaks lines oftentimes, but those who know the variable fluency of a real plainsman's conversation will find this more than apropos. Wayne, of course, is a screen newcomer.

The plot of "The Big Trail" is not always strong enough to sustain the huge weight of spectacle. It is a cross-country story of vengeance for a crime presented in an early cutback. Wayne waits to the end of the journey to get his man, and it is rather surmisable that he will get him from the beginning. Proceedings are enlivened somewhat by the presence of three adversaries, fortunately.

The general presentation of the subject is excellent, however. The picture in the treatment of the plot has the rugged quality that tells in any narrative of this nature. I like especially the activity and variety of the introduction of the different characters, who are to take part in the expedition. There is no time wasted.

In relating to technical perfection, it might be remarked that some of the earlier views were dimmed, but that is doubtless an error of projection which can be corrected. Sound at times was also a little harsh in the conversations.

"Office Wife" in Third Week

After having established a new box office record at Warner Brothers' Downtown Theater during the first two weeks of its appearance, "The Office Wife" starts its third week today.

This production is a screen adaptation of the widely discussed novel by Faith Baldwin. Appearing in the leading role is Dorothy Mackaill, Lewis Stone, Natalie Moorhead, Joan Blondell, Dale Fuller and others appear. Lloyd Bacon directed.

Auspicious Screen Debut Recorded

Claudia Dell

COLORFUL FILM NOW AT R.-K.-O.

"Leathernecking" Takes Form of Musical Comedy and Entertains

"Leathernecking," a mad melange of music, dancing and comedy, is the new contribution on the R.-K.-O. Theater screen. It was adapted from the stage piece, "Present Arms," by Fields, Rogers and Hart, and as such provides several comics with opportunities to indulge in individual tricks.

There is a desert island sequence in color, with some beautiful native girls doing a hula to the accompaniment of a good, if hidden, orchestra. To this tropical paradise come the survivors of a shipwreck—but not for long—for shortly after the gorgeous dance by the beautiful native girls the hero is taken back to the marine post and, instead of being shot for previously impersonating an officer, he is decorated for bravery and made a captain.

With a typical musical comedy plot, "Leathernecking" is good entertainment for those who take their movies with several grains of salt. If you like screen musical comedies there is no question but that you'll like the Radio picture now on view.

The cast boasts of several popular comedians, including Ken Murray, Ned Sparks and Benny Rubin. Foils for the funny men are Lilyan Tashman, Louise Fasenda and others, who all contribute humor to the piece. Irene Dunne portrays the heroine and is a very personable actress. Eddie Foy, Jr., Rita La Roy, Baron von Brinken and Carl Gerrard are others.

Eddie Cline directed "Leathernecking" from an adaptation by Alfred Jackson. Jane Murfin did the continuity and dialogue.

The stage show this week has Capt. Dobbsie, radio performer, and his "Happytime" crew in the star spot. Other acts are Signor Friscoe and his Guatemalan ensemble, Jean Maddox and Florence Clark, La Belle Pola, a monkey, and Constance Evans and Monty Wolf.

Mexican Film to be Offered at California

The first all-talking Mexican-produced motion picture, "Las Campanas de Capistrano," will have its world premiere tonight at the International California Theater.

Many Spanish-speaking stars and players will be present at the premiere and special features will be introduced, including the personal appearances of Cora Montez, Luis De Ibarguen, Ricardo Bell, Jr., and Jose Arias, all featured in the big production, together with Rosita Moreno, Don Galvan, Juan Mojica, Lupita Tovar, Antonio Moreno, Raquel Torres, Ramon Pereda and others.

Event of New Stage Season Due Tonight

The Pacific Coast premiere of "Death Takes a Holiday," which opens at the Biltmore Theater tonight, will be an event of the fall theatrical season.

Several notables of the screen world will be numbered among the first-night audience, it is reported.

Henry Daniel, Betty Ross Clarke, Carmel Myers, Phillip Strange, Crauford Kent, Alfred Hickman and Helene Sullivan head the cast which has been assembled for the production.

"Blackmail" to Open Run Here

ADVENTURES OF WESTERN HERO TOLD

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

As "The Last of the Duanes," in the picture of this name new at Loew's State Theater yesterday, the robust Mr. George O'Brien rides the dusty trails of the Great Southwest to new deeds of bravery and gallantry. He avenges his father's death, he saves a winsome lassie from "fate worse than death," and he brings to capture one of the most dastardly villains in the history of banditry.

And there you are. Zane Grey in his most adventurous and picturesque mood has been set to picture form in "The Last of the Duanes." The scenery is lovely and there's some perfectly grand horseback riding by which even the most jaded sophisticate should be thrilled. For Zane Grey enthusiasts, the line forms at the right.

Interesting, too, is this picture in its presentation of a cute, new youngster by the name of Lucile Browne who plays opposite O'Brien. Miss Browne looks very good, indeed, has a nice voice and engaging mannerisms. One would guess that a good deal more is going to be seen of and heard from her.

George O'Brien gives his usual even performance. Miss Myrna Loy is seen briefly and exotically as a vampire, Walter McGrail snarls and shows his teeth as the villainous bandit, and James Bradbury, Jr., plays the role of a helpful cowboy.

One of the bright spots on the new Loew's program is the Laurel and Hardy comedy, "The Laurel and Hardy Murder Case." Mr. Hardy finds an advertisement in the paper announcing that the Ebenezer Laurel estate is to be divided. Mr. Laurel (the one not deceased) and Mr. Hardy hasten to see if they can get a share and find themselves involved in a neat murder case. It is all good comedy.

The stage entertainment consists of the Fanchon and Marco Doll Follies idea with such performers as Lotti Loder, Les Klicks, La Salle and Mack, Ramon and Virginia, Bebe Sherman and the Roy Loomis dancers in evidence. Rube Wolf leads his orchestra men through some astonishing musical gyrations.

VIRILE TALE ENACTED AT PARAMOUNT

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

Hal G. Evarts, and not Zane Grey, is the author of "The Santa Fe Trail," the new movie at the Paramount Theater, but even if you weren't blindfolded, you couldn't tell the difference. This yarn of the expanding West of the sheepmen is no better and no worse than the rest; it never requires any thought, it is not hard to listen to and it is always easy on the eyes. Most of all, it does screen things in a screen way.

Richard Arlen, Paramount's favorite hard-riding cowboy, flips an idle cigarette and goes into action almost at once. What he does principally is to find a grazing ground for his herd of sheep by wooing and winning Rosita Castinado, whose father owns Spanish Acres, as virgin a bit of New Mexico as you could wish. To do this he is compelled to convince both the Indians and the girl's father that not all fair-skinned Americans are bad, and to shoot the villain like the dog he is.

Running through the pot-shots which make "The Santa Fe Trail" so typical of its genre is a soft-spoken romance, Arlen and Rosita Moreno together conspiring to make it naive in the true western manner. There seems also to be a supplementary affaire du coeur involving one "Old Timer," played by Junior Durkin, and little Emily, played by Mitzi Green. The latter is allowed entirely too much footage, though—no more naive than the other—it is treated with a becoming simplicity.

This tendency to tarry overlong in spots is characteristic of the picture as a whole. The narrative leads up to a climax which is really an anticlimax, singularly lacking in punch, and the fault, one suspects, lies, in a too-detailed building of the earlier portion of the story. It doesn't materialize as anything much, after all.

Senorita Moreno, erstwhile danseuse of the varieties as Rosita, registers favorably without impressing to an unusual extent. Lustrous-eyed, mellow-voiced, she makes an acceptable foil for Arlen's advances.

Eugene Pallette again rescues many a scene from comparative mediocrity by his brusque, well-intentioned portrayal of a faithful follower. A new heavy, Hooper Atchley, steps effortlessly into a bad man's shoes; and others are Luis Alberni, Lee Shumway, Jack Byron and various tribal chieftains.

"The Santa Fe Trail" was directed by Otto Brower and Edwin H. Knopf.

Several specialties distinguish the current stage presentation. The Sisters "G," Walter Hiers, the Boswell Sisters and a pretty chorus provide most of the turns in a "Revue Moderne," generally slow-paced and average. The orchestra plays "Orpheus."

CRITERION ANNOUNCES NEW FILM

"Up the River," satiric comedy-drama, will be the attraction at the Criterion Theater, starting on the 15th inst. "Madam Satan," current De Mille society comedy, will play for two weeks more.

RADIO TRAFFIC TO BE POLICED

Monitor Station Will Keep Broadcasters in Line

Seven Tons of Equipment Now Being Installed

Federal Supervisor Tells of Point Fermin Plant

The radio cops are coming—traffic cops at that! No longer will Los Angeles stations wander about as they please. No longer will the voice of a baritone singing "Mammy Lou" be heard in a lane where market quotations should be speeding on their way to the ears of listeners-in. And as for tenors and blue crooners—just ask Arthur Batcheller, traveling United States supervisor of radio, who is in the city today, what will happen to them if they step out of their allotted paths.

It is all going to center in a monitor station down near Point Fermin, where $25,000 worth of special apparatus now is being installed by the Department of Commerce in a specially designed building or radio police station.

Radio stations that are prone to wander out of their specified kilocycle band will be detected instantly and will be warned to keep within their alloted range. The machinery will detect variations instantly.

According to Batcheller this will result in better selectivity for every owner of a radio. It will prevent the "spreading" of programs, such as mixing ball games with sermons and prize fights with chorus singing. With Batcheller is Bernard H. Linden, United States supervisor of radio for this district, under whose jurisdiction the new monitor station will be. James M. Chapelle is the local radio inspector.

TONS OF EQUIPMENT

"There are nine radio inspection districts in America," Batcheller said last night. "Our department has purchased land near the military reservation on the hill above Port Fermin for this station. We will install about seven tons of equipment which has been especially built for us by the Westinghouse Electric Company. There will be 100 kilowatts of power furnished by three Diesel engines for our vacuum tubes. We will be in communication with stations all over the world, which will be of tremendous military and commercial importance. We will be able to check a station in New York as well as the local broadcasts. We have built a great central station at Grand Island, Neb., which is the only one of its kind in the world.

CLOSE CHECKING

"We are accurate here to a millionth of a second on time. Our secondary monitor station here will work with this central station in Nebraska for its fundamental figures and findings. To show how accurate that station is—and we can check on it here—give one 1,500,000 cycles as a band and we can check variations as low as one and a half cycles with this machinery.

"Ordinarily we will allow stations to run from 200 to 300 cycles plus or minus from their allotted wave length but after our machinery is installed, variations above or below this will bring a letter of notification and caution."

Mr. Batcheller has his headquarters at Washington and, together with Linden, is staying at the Mayfair. He expects to be here for two or three weeks and will inspect every radio station in the Southwest technically and as to apparatus.

GARB OF ADAM AND EVE FIGURES IN SANITY CASE

Whether Adam and Eve were clothed in glory or in "luminum light" was a question discussed yesterday on the witness stand of Superior Judge Hahn's court where a jury was trying the question of sanity of Herman Louis Wilbur, 52 years of age, a stationery salesman. Wilbur was accused of eccentric debating at Angelus Temple, where he was a member of the choir and Sunday-school. The complaint was signed by William P. Rugg, a teacher of the temple school, where Wilbur was studying for the ministry.

"We discussed in the class the fall of Adam and Eve," testified Charles W. Walker, faculty member. "I said that they were clothed in glory until they fell and realized that they were unclothed. Mr. Wilbur suggested they were clothed in lum'num light."

Robert Morrison, faculty member, testified that during class, Wilbur complained that two young men behind him had limburger cheese. Morrison added there were no men sitting behind Wilbur at the time.

Testimony was offered that Wilbur complained that electric waves were focused on him from spotlights sixty feet above the choir stage to force him out of the choir. He is asserted to have said this bothered his head and that he took off his shoe to ground the current.

Esther Fricke, organist, testified she never noticed anything eccentric in Wilbur's brief greetings.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Barnes prosecuted the case and Attorney Ira A. Gwin represented Wilbur.

LOT PRICE PROVIDED

The City Council yesterday appropriated $15,000 for the purchase of a strip of land 50x100 feet at the southeast corner of Maple avenue and Washington street to eliminate a jog in the roadway.

AUTO DEATH INQUEST SET FOR TODAY

Woman Killed When Auto Driven by Son-in-Law of Few Hours Hits Street Car

Inquiry into the traffic accident that last Wednesday caused the death of Mrs. Ida Friesner, 64 years of age, of Buena Park, is scheduled to be conducted today at 9:30 a.m. at the undertaking parlors of White-Emerson Company in Whittier.

Mrs. Friesner was fatally injured when an automobile driven by her son-in-law of a few hours, Peter Thompson, 43, collided with a Pacific Electric Railway car at the crossing of Whittier Boulevard and Trinidad Road at the Rio Hondo bridge. Thompson, his bride, Mrs. Bernice Jackson Thompson, 26, and her 3-year-old son by a former marriage, Jimmie Jackson, were injured.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson were undergoing treatment for their injuries yesterday in the Murphy Memorial Hospital in Whittier, and the child, less seriously hurt, was in the care of an aunt, Mrs. J. W. Marshall of Home Gardens.

The inquest will be conducted by Deputy Coroner Kane.

Pigeon Fanciers Divide Honors

Bird fanciers from Pasadena, Pomona, Ontario and Oakland shared the major honors awarded following yesterday's judging of racing pigeons at the twentieth annual convention of the American Racing Pigeon Union now in session at the Alexandria. The entry of A. M. Fowkes, Pomona, was adjudged the best young cock; that of R. Belhauer, Ontario, the best young hen; that of V. Tohnari, Pasadena, the best old cock, and that of H. R. Nowack, Oakland, the best old hen. About 700 birds are listed for competition.

After the judging yesterday the exhibitors, representing Canada, Cuba and all sections of the United States, went on sightseeing trips.

SCREEN WRITER SUED FOR AGENCY CLAIM

C. Gardner Sullivan, motion-picture writer, failed to pay 10 per cent of his salary of $1500 a week to Myron Selznick, Inc., who, it is asserted, acted as Sullivan's agents in obtaining his contract with Universal Pictures, and who yesterday sued him for $5775. The plaintiff corporation claims to be the "business manager and personal representative" of the writer, and as such to have earned the sum of $150 a week representing him during the past two years.

NOTE CAUSES DIVORCE

Refusal of a wife to sign a promissory note led to a parting, Mrs. Cleo P. Fenner yesterday told Superior Judge Bishop when she asked for a divorce from Remus Paul Fenner. Judge Bishop granted her a decree.

CLEAN-UP DRIVE SET TO START

Week of Beautification and Fire Prevention Will Open Sunday

Pledged the vigorous co-operation of civic leaders and organizations working for the betterment of Los Angeles, a clean-up and fire-prevention campaign is to be conducted by the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce from the 5th to the 11th inst., it was announced yesterday.

In other years clean-up week and fire-prevention week have been separately observed, but this year they will be made the basis of a joint drive. The 5th inst. has been designated church day, sponsored by the Church Federation of Los Angeles. Next Monday will be fire-hazard day, backed by the city fire department; Tuesday will be ordinance day, under the auspices of the police department; Wednesday, public health day, sponsored by the health department; Thursday, yard day, indorsed by the California Federation of Women's Clubs, and Saturday will be plant day, sponsored by the Park Commission.

Local Concern Finds September Business Heavy

That the business horizon is clearing rapidly is indicated by figures just released by Pacific Wholesale, Ltd., a local concern, which shows September business has increased 250 per cent over that of the previous month.

"This brings September sales volume to a point but little below that of records of last year, while there is a steadily rising trend," states Walter M. Fagan, firm president.

"I believe this rise to be due in part to intense reorganizing and rebuilding of the organization during the sluggish summer months. The rising volume of our sales are the result also of a steady advertising plan. Together these have attracted new business and retained our old to such an extent that we are working out a yet stronger advertising program."

Studio Sued by Oscar Straus in Salary Dispute

A dispute between Oscar Straus, Viennese composer, and the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio, concerning payments to be made Straus on his $50,000 contract, was disclosed yesterday, when the composer sued the studio for $7036.46, asserted to be the balance due for his musical work.

According to a contract signed January 29, last, Straus agreed to compose music exclusively for the defendants for a period of six months. To bind the contract $5000 was paid, and the rest was to be due in equal installments, it is asserted.

On only two other occasions did the big right-hander and Swarthmore alumnus appear in the slightest danger as he fooled the Cardinals with the zip on his fast one or had them lunging at his curves. In the seventh after he had strained his right ankle in making a putout play at first base, Earnshaw was momentarily wild, walking Mancuso on four straight balls. Hastily there was activity in the A's bullpen as Walberg and Quinn warmed up for possible relief duty but George quickly settled down and regained his control.

In the eighth Sparky Adams revived some hopes in the Red Bird breasts by starting with a line single but they were stifled when Dykes grabbed Frisch's drive and tossed to Foxx to double Adams.

The attack of the A's, as usual, was brisk, brief and effective. With two out in the first Cochrane hoisted his homer over the right-field wall, after which Al Simmons drove a single to

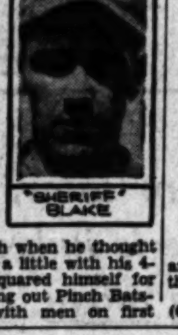
CUBS TRIM WHITE SOX, 4 TO 2

Sheriff Fred Blake Hurls Wrigley's Team to Victory as Kiki Cuyler's Home Run in Eighth Scores Three Winning Runs and Evens Series

CHICAGO, Oct. 2. (AP)—Sheriff Fred Blake had one of his best days today and, with the aid of an elaborate bit of solid hitting by Kiki Cuyler, hurled the Cubs to a 4-to-2 triumph over the White Sox, and an even break in the Chicago championship series.



"SHERIFF" BLAKE

During the gray, misty afternoon the White Sox batsmen collected just five hits off the Sheriff, and two of them came in the ninth when he thought he could ease off a little with his 4-to-1 lead. He squared himself for relaxing by striking out Pinch Batsman Campbell with men on first and third, for the final out, and letting about 25,000 spectators start for home.

The National Leaguers found Cecil Pat Caraway, southpaw of the Sox, a great puzzle until the eighth, when they disposed of him in rapid fashion. With the score tied at 1-all, Clarence Blair, who had fanned twice, singled to center. English cracked a single to right to send Blair to third, and Cuyler came up. With the count two balls and a strike he crashed a home run into the left-field seats for three precious runs. Cuyler also contributed the fielding gem of the game—a great running one-handed catch of Tate's blast to right in the third inning.

Riggs Stephenson, Woody English and Charlie Grimm were back in the line-up, and the batting of the

CARDS HAVE NO ALIBIS

"Beaten by Better Team," Says Frisch; "Mackmen Simply Overpowered St. Louis"

BY FRANKIE FRISCH

Second Baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals

SHIBE PARK (Philadelphia) Oct. 2.—We have no alibis after today's game. The Philadelphia team simply overpowered us, doing everything right. Earnshaw, after the first few innings, was a great pitcher, working behind a substantial lead and he received fine support.

When a team gets that combination, it is almost impossible to defeat it. Had we succeeded in taking advantage of the opportunities presented us in the first three innings, we might have brought about a different outcome. We scored only one run in those early innings and we left four men on the runways, three of these in scoring position.

FRANKIE FRISCH

Undoubtedly, Earnshaw, by pitching out of those holes, bolstered his own confidence. He had fine speed all afternoon and once past the second round, he appeared to be able to throw the ball almost any place he desired.

Earnshaw became so effective against us as the game rolled on that we got only two hits off him in the last seven innings after we had grouped four hits on him in the first two sessions. We, therefore, totaled only six hits for the afternoon and did not get a man into scoring position after the third frame.

Unfortunately, Flint Rhem was not his usual self on the hill. I don't believe he was as fast as he was at the top of his game and his hook was less baffling than the curves he usually pitches.

The pitching thrown at the Athletics by Jim Lindsey and Syl Johnson, was beautiful, but before they entered the game, the damage was done.

I take my hat off to the Mackmen for their ability to come through with hits when scoring chances were offered. The hits so far in the series have been as timely a batting club as I've seen in a long time. Almost every time they have placed a runner near the plate, they have driven him across. That kind of hitting is one of the best tonics known to pep up a team's confidence.

CLUBMEN FACE FIRE TEAM

Olympic Club football players are scheduled to arrive here this morning from San Francisco for a gridiron scramble tonight at the Coliseum with the Los Angeles City Fire Department team.

The game, which starts at 8 p.m., may be one of the hardest-fought contests of the season to date. The clubmen, because of their past reputation will rule favorites to defeat the Smoke-eaters but the Firemen, coached by Bill Blewett, are confident they will upset the dope bucket and hand the Winged O forces a neat thumping.

BILL BLEWETT

Blewett is starting a 200-pound line in which are such familiar football faces as "Chang" Artman, former Stanford great; Hank Reisner of Santa Clara, Russ Striff of Oregon State fame, and Lawrence Casey. In the backfield will be Don Moses of U.S.C. Milt Nolan of Loyola Les Grimes and Boots Beyers.

Lacey will start his first string against the Firemen, he announced, and from all accounts the invading clubmen will need them. The Firemen ran rough shod over the San Jose State College team last Monday night and they are set to gather bigger prey in the Olympic Club.

Louie Tesreau, Earl Pomeroy and Cal Boberg will do the ball packing for the club team. Tesreau will best be remembered as a member of the Washington Huskies. He is one of the hardest men to stop on a football field, the experts claim.

ATHLETICS VINDICATE MANAGER'S CONFIDENCE

BY EDDIE COLLINS

Captain of the Athletics

(Copyright, 1930, by North American Newspaper Alliance)

SHIBE PARK, PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2.—Before the present series started, Manager Mack called all the Athletics' players together in our clubhouse and outlined the campaign against the Cardinals. At the conclusion of the discussion he said:

"Boys, I am not at all concerned over our opponents in this coming world series. My only thoughts are about my own team. I have every confidence in you. I only want you to play the game I know you are capable of playing.

"Don't get careless. Keep in there hustling and think only about making some runs. You don't have to do any worrying about our pitching. I'll do the worrying about that and I don't expect to lose any sleep over it either."

So far in the series the Athletics have more than vindicated our manager's confidence. That we have had excellent pitching is answered emphatically enough by the performances of Bob Grove and George Earnshaw.

If Manager Mack did have any concern about what Big George would do, it was because of Earnshaw's closing work of the season, but regardless of what he may have lacked in the last weeks of the regular season, there was no doubt about his being a great pitcher today.

Now, with two games to our credit and a day of rest in traveling,

Grid Players Deluge City

Los Angeles was to be practically deluged by football players today, no less than four teams being scheduled to arrive for local engagements. Oregon State, which faces the Trojans in the Coliseum tomorrow, is expected to check in on the West Coast Limited at 8 a.m., as the first to arrive. The Olympic Club, which encounters the Firemen tonight, and the San Mateo Junior College, which will face Santa Ana Junior College, were to come in an hour later on the Lark. And the Arizona Wildcats, who play Caltech tonight in the Rose Bowl, were due on the Argonaut at 10:15.

Here's What Big Four Did

Fifth inning: Popped to Dykes.
Eighth inning: Lined into a double play.

Third inning: Struck out.
Sixth inning: Popped to Bishop.
Eighth inning: Fouled out to Dykes.

MICKEY COCHRANE

Thirty-four Performers in Schissler's Party

Versatile Squad Threatens S.C. Supremacy

BY BRAVEN DYER

Paul Schissler and his "mystery team" from Oregon State College pull into Glendale at 8 o'clock this morning heralded as the strongest grid combination produced at Corvallis in seven years. This is quite a mouthful and whether the visitors are powerful enough to pull the wool over the eyes of Howard Jones's Trojans will be known along about 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Coliseum.

PAUL SCHISSLER

Schissler and his gang will stop at the Huntington Hotel in Pasadena. The players will work out at the Coliseum this afternoon. During the morning Schissler and his aides will play a round of golf with Howard Jones and his staff. Last year Schissler won the golf game and Jones took the football fracas. Something tells me Jones will cop the links battle today, but I don't have any such feeling about the grid struggle tomorrow.

LONG ABSENCE

Incidentally, if you don't see tomorrow's game it will be quite a spell before you will have the opportunity of lamping the Trojans against a conference opponent. Next week Washington State at Pullman. Utah Aggies here after that. Stanford on the 25th. Denver here on

TOILERS PICKED TO COP CONTEST

Blewett's Line Will Be Deciding Point

Santa Ana Favored to Beat Roosevelt Eleven

Redondo Likely to Trounce Pathfinders

BY IRVING ECKHOFF

Just how strong the Manual Arts Toilers are will be found out this afternoon when Coach Jim Blewett's charges take on the Long Beach Jackrabbits, defending Southern California prep champions, on the Toiler field in the feature practice game of the week-end.

DICK HAMON.

Quite a crowd is expected to view the struggle, as today is homecoming day at the Toiler institution, and a special program will be given.

The Toilers are slight favorites to turn back the invaders, chiefly because of the fact that Blewett has a powerful veteran eleven ready for battle, while Verne Landreth's champions lost most of their first-string players through graduation.

While the Jackrabbit backfield is on a par with the Toiler ball packers, the Manual Arts line is heralded as being much stronger than its foes.

With Dick Hamon and "Kelly" Gregory at the end positions, Nebb Elduayen and Dave Anderson, tackles; Stan Smith and Capt. Ned Jones at guards, and George Dalton at center, the Toilers are expected to come through with the victory.

Herb Faegan, Dave Lukoff, Ted Haston and Bill Howard started against Inglewood last week, when the Sentinels were defeated, 46-7. Louis Lazarivitz and Wilmer Mathews, who were hailed as sure bets for backfield jobs last week, are on the bench nursing injuries. Both may see action today, however.

Leading lights on the Long Beach eleven include Norman (Red) Franklin, last year's captain, and this season's leader, Russel Sweet. Both are backfield men.

Seven other City League schools are scheduled to see action today, with the Roosevelt-at-Santa Ana game and the Fremont-at-Redondo tussle looming as the best of the lot. The Saints, headed by Alvin Reboin, should turn back the Rough Riders, while the beach Sea Hawks led by Walt Schell are favored to drub the Pathfinders.

Other games on the list find Venice at Poly, Washington at Garfield, Fairfax at Burbank, Belmont at Santa Monica, and L. A. High at Riis.

Five other practice games are listed, all for out-of-town elevens. The South Pasadena-Pasadena struggle heads the list. The Tigers and the Bulldogs are old rivals and meet every year. Quite a lot of rivalry exists between the two schools and a big crowd is expected to be on hand to view the fun.

The four others find Loyola at Pomona, Alhambra at Huntington Park, Wilson at Gardena and Fillmore at Van Nuys.

Play starts today in the San Fernando Valley circuit with three games carded. The feature tilt finds the San Fernando eleven at Beverly Hills. The two others are Owensmouth at University and North Hollywood at Eagle Rock.

EVANS LOST TO ROMAN FOOTBALL ELEVEN

A rather hard blow was dealt the football hopes of Coach Horace Bresee's Los Angeles High Romans yesterday when school officials declared Wilson Evans, new backfield ace, ineligible. Evans, who transferred to the Roman institution from Chaffey, is a brother of Piggy and Hoggy Evans of California grid fame and was headed for local stardom, prep fans aver. Officials claim he is a nine-semester man.

Lincoln Scores 7-0 Win Over Redshirt Team

Coach Jim Tunney's Lincoln High Tigers humbled Hollywood High with a 7-0 victory in a practice game held on the losers' field yesterday.

The lone score was made after the teams had battled to a standstill for over three quarters. Aprado, star Lincoln halfback, started the drive for a touchdown with a 25-yard run, placing the ball on Hollywood's 22 yeard line. A trick pass and several line plays gave Lincoln a first down on the 3-yard stripe. The Redshirts held for three downs but Aprado went over on the last. Garbo kicked a perfect place kick for the extra point.

With the exception of Aprado neither team's offense seemed to function properly. The Lincoln squad failed to show up as the title threat that it has been considered so far. Hollywood failed to show any spark and was repeatedly off side. This cost them twenty-five yards in one quarter alone.

POETS READY FOR ARIZONA

Flagstaff Teachers to Play Whittier Saturday

WHITTIER, Oct. 2. — Having survived the heavy artillery of the U.S.S. Oklahoma on Hadley Field Saturday night in the first scheduled football game of the season, and having been able to hold the husky sailors to a 7-7 tie, Coach Newman's Whittier College gridders will take on the Arizona State Teachers' College players Saturday night in the second of the series of preconference games.

These games are for the primary purpose of pointing the team for the big Tiger-Poet clash, October 11.

While the Whittier-Oklahoma game was nothing to write home about, both touchdowns, that of the college and also that of the sailors, being the result of fumbles, it gave Coach Newman an eyeful of what his men possessed and what they lacked.

It also disclosed the fact that he has two sets of backfield players who function well with either quarterback, namely "Whitey" Edwards or Claire Jobe. The backfield sets are Krueger, Sinatra and Martin; Mashburn, Mifflin and Ograin.

It will be recalled that it was Ograin who kicked himself into prominence last season and is doing equally well this year. Newman has another sweet punter, Grunsky, six-foot end, whose kicks, to date, average 60 yards.

The Poets are not taking the Arizona game lightly, as dope discloses the fact that the visitors have been champions of the Southwestern Conference for the past two years, and in their opening game with the New Mexico School of Mines this year won a 71-to-0 victory.

Coach Valik is bringing a squad of twenty-four players, and will arrive in Southern California Friday.

COMPTON LOSES TO SAN PEDRO ELEVEN

In a nip-and-tuck game, the San Pedro Pirates nosed out the Compton High eleven, 8 to 6, yesterday on the former's field. It was anybody's game until the last quarter when the Pirates blocked the visitors' attempt to punt and then threw the Lion ball carrier behind the goal line for a safety. San Pedro scored first in the second quarter on a short pass, Raslovich to Jansen. Compton also relied on a pass to tie the score, the play being Hulpon to Lawrence. The line-ups:

Eric Pedley Due Tuesday

When Eric Pedley, the White Knight of West Coast polo returns to his own Los Angeles Tuesday morning he will be tendered a welcome by Southland sportsmen such as has never been put on before for a polo player. This was assured yesterday when a delegation of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and other civic officials got together on plans for Pedley's welcome. Eric is the first Californian ever to make an international team representing America's "big four." His playing at No. 1 for the United States in the recent international series has never been equaled before all of the critics agree. Pedley will arrive on the Lark Tuesday. He will be greeted at the station by Chamber of Commerce and city officials and then will be taken to the California Club at the head of a parade. From there he will go to the Biltmore where he will be the guest of honor at a luncheon tendered by the Junior Chamber.

CALTECH FACES ARIZONA ELEVEN

Rival Grid Teams Meet in Rose Bowl Tonight

Heavier Visiting Squad Is Favored to Collect

Stanton Will Exhibit New Lateral-Pass Idea

Caltech and Arizona resume rivalry at the Rose Bowl tonight, when the Engineers attempt to avenge a defeat suffered in Tucson last year. The contest will start at 8 o'clock.

Arizona was scheduled to arrive this morning at 10:40 on the Argonaut, and Coach McKale probably will send his athletes through a limbering-up drill. Eleven of the twenty-four visiting gridders were members of the team that last year lost but one game during the entire season.

Hargis, halfback, and Leiber, fullback, will be remembered here for their great work when the Wildcats conquered Occidental in the Rose Bowl. Co-Captains Dieus and Sager are the ends, and are hailed as a pair of exceptionally good ends.

Stanton will introduce his new lateral-pass offense tonight, with the heaviest backfield he has had in some seasons. It includes Bennett, Capt. Dickey, Eastman and Watson. Bob Shuler, 180-pound tackle, who received all-Coast mention from "Pop" Warner last year, is expected to sparkle on the line.

Redwings Win Little World Series Title

PARKWAY FIELD, LOUISVILLE (Ky.) Oct. 2. (AP)—The Rochester Red Wings, champions of the International League for three successive years, this afternoon achieved their ambition of winning the little world series baseball championship by whipping the Louisville Colonels, American Association pennant winners, 8 to 1, in the eighth game of their series.

The Wings were thwarted last year by the Kansas City Blues and the year before by the Indianapolis Indians. Their victory today annexed the title for the International League for the first time since 1926, when Toronto won the crown. The 1930 series opened at Rochester, where the Wings won three games and the Colonels one. They divided the series with the Colonels at Parkway Field, each team winning two games.

George Grant, sturdy right-hander, went the route for the Wings, and although the Colonels walloped him for eleven hits he made them innocuous by keeping them neatly scattered.

Roy Wilkinson started for the Colonels but was retired in the third after the Wings had touched him for a total of five hits. Ken Penner replaced him, but the Wings batsmen found him vulnerable.

TROJAN FROSH PLAY

It will be the second game of the season for Coach Aubrey Devine's Trobabes, who defeated Chaffey Junior College last week by a 7-to-0, score and the third contest for the Compton boys who have victories over the U.S.S. Mississippi sailors and Santa Monica Jaysee.

McCARTHY MAY BOSS BOSTON RED SOX

BOSTON (Mass.) Oct. 2. (Exclusive)—From President Bob Quinn at Philadelphia tonight came word that he had offered a blank contract to Joe McCarthy, deposed Cub manager, in an effort to get McCarthy to manage the Red Sox next season. Instead of being mysterious about it, President Quinn has come right out into the open and is bidding against the New York Yankees for McCarthy's services. McCarthy and Quinn got together on the first day of the world series, but nothing definite came of that conference. The outcome indicated that the Yankees had the inside track. Now comes the word from Quinn that he has made it a "money no object" matter. Quinn's unexpected declaration came after he had been told that the Yankees had offered McCarthy $25,000 a year to steer the Yankee team.

BRUIN HOCKEYISTS DEFEAT HOLLYWOOD

The Los Angeles Bruins and the Hollywood Monarchs opened the ice hockey season in the Palais de Glace last night, with the former skating off with an 8-to-5 victory in a hotly-contested fracas. Dave Patrick, with two goals, sparkled for the winners, while Buster Smith and Jack Roland, also with two each, starred for the losers.

SIDNEY WOOD DEFEATED IN BAY CITY NET PLAY

BERKELEY, Oct. 2. (AP)—Sidney Wood, Jr., young New York tennis star, went down to defeat before Cranston Holman of San Francisco, 7-5, 8-6, in the quarter-final round of the Pacific Coast tennis championships here today, to provide the biggest upset in the tournament to date.

Tomorrow Holman meets George Lott, Chicago Davis Cup star, who advanced into the semifinals today by defeating Clifford Sutter of New Orleans, intercollegiate champion, 6-3, 6-3.

Edward G. Chandler, State titleholder, continued his march by running over Bobby Sellers, defending Pacific Coast champion, 6-2, 6-0. Chandler's point-winning placements were more than Sellers could overcome.

LIEB SWITCHES LOYOLA BACKS

Hannon Gets Fullback Job for Pacific Contest

New Find Scintillates on Varsity Outfit

Strutzel Goes to Halfback Position Saturday

In a final effort to strengthen his backfield before Saturday's game with the College of the Pacific, Coach Tom Lieb yesterday made two very important changes in his backfield. The northern eleven meets Loyola at Wrigley Field Saturday, boasting one of the strongest aggregations in the history of the school, and consequently Lieb is anxious to strengthen all of his weak spots before that time.

TOM LIEB

The changes find Jim Strutzel replacing Vaugn Buge at the right halfback position and Dick Hannon taking over the fullback position left vacant by Strutzel. Hannon is a new star that Lieb has uncovered and has been the best ground gainer on the Del Rey turf this fall. He is fast, heavy and tricky. The Lion mentor expects Hannon to trouble the Pacific Tigers plenty in Saturday's fracas.

With the revised backfield Lieb now has a smooth machine. It consists of light and fast men who are capable of pulling many deceptive passing attacks. The reserve material is still weak and is the Lion mentor's only worry.

On the Pacific eleven are a number of veterans who are all-star players and capable of giving any eleven trouble. Two of these are boys from Southern California. They are Bill Ijams and "Bud" Wilmarth. Ijams is from Van Nuys while Wilmarth hails from Pasadena.

Last Saturday the Pacific eleven opened its season against Modesto Junior College and showed unexpected power by defeating the Modesto eleven to the tune of 25 to 0. The Pacific Tigers made sixteen first downs to their opponents' one and not once was their goal line threatened.

They have a star ball carrier in Bill Hamilton. He is a fast individual who specializes in end runs. He scored three of the touchdowns against the Modesto eleven as well as being the only reliable ground-gainer. He will be a dangerous man to Tom Lieb's Lions and may find the Loyola ends for a few good runs.

The game Saturday will be played in the afternoon due to the fact that the Hollywood Stars are playing a crucial series with Oakland Saturday night and were unable to let the Lions have the field. All other Loyola games will be night contests and they will all be played at Wrigley Field.

BLACKHAWKS CAPTURE FIRST HOCKEY BATTLE

The Los Angeles Blackhawks defeated the Hollywood Pirates in the opening hockey game of the season at the Winter Garden Ice Palace last night.

The score was 6 to 5, Collett scoring the winning goal in the last three minutes of play. Abbey Newell of the Blackhawks was the star of the game.

STANTON DEVELOPS NEW SYSTEM

Uses Lateral Passes Exclusively as Offensive Weapon; Fox Has Fair First String Combination, But Lacks Reserves; Caltech Plays Four Conference Games

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

(This is the seventh and last of a series of articles dealing with football teams of the Southern California Conference.)

If you want to get an eyeful of something new and unique in the way of offensive football, flivver out to the Rose Bowl this evening after tiffin, where Coach W. L. (Fox) Stanton's Caltech athletes will spring something different in the way of lateral passes on the University of Arizona.

"FOX" STANTON.

Stanton, you know, has been coaching football at Caltech for a good many years, and there is no keener gridiron strategist in the West. He is the dean of Southern California porkskin mentors.

Fox was one of the first coaches in the country to take the lateral pass seriously. Reminiscing yesterday, Stanton recalled using laterals against California in 1916, when he was coaching at Occidental. Oxy defeated California, 14 to 13, that year.

NEW SYSTEM

The Southern California championship team of 1923 also made use of laterals and almost knocked off Stanford. Caltech led the Cards, 7 to 6, until the last few minutes of play when an unknown youngster by the name of Biff Hoffman pounded through a tired Caltech line for the winning touchdown.

In the meantime, Stanton has done considerable thinking about the lateral pass, and has finally evolved a system which uses this type of pass as a threat in every play. It is a mighty interesting venture, and Caltech may furnish a surprise, or two, this season.

Stanton doesn't figure to beat Arizona, as the visitors are both big and fast and play a hard game of football, but he will at least make the Wildcats work to win.

That 6-to-6 tie Caltech played with Santa Barbara State can be discounted as school only opened Monday and Stanton had only a skeleton team to use against the Staters. Up until this week, Fox has not been able to get two teams together and his first string played against Santa Barbara for forty-five minutes without a substitution being made.

VETERAN TEAM

Stanton has almost a veteran team back for this year, but that is about all that can be said for the Engineers. Fox has weak substitute strength and injuries are playing havoc with the center of his line.

Caltech will have letter men for every position against Arizona tonight except three. In the backfield, Stanton has George "Red" Watson at fullback, Capt. Walt Dickey and Sam Eastman, halfbacks, and Ed Bennett, quarter. Watson has been out of school for two years. He played with the ineligibles last year, and is a fine type of plunging fullback. Red is the heaviest man on the team, weighing 185 pounds. Dickey scales 175, while Eastman and Bennett are lightweights, the former weighing 156 and the latter 152.

INJURED LIST

Both of Stanton's regular running guards, N. Gunderson and Bill Schultz, are down with the flu. George Rice, a good tackle, has a broken collarbone, and Sam Johnson, a backfield man, is also on the injured list.

Stanton has almost no capable reserves to back up his first team. Clark Goodman has looked good at quarter at times and Mathewson may see some service at halfback. Randall Maass is almost on par with Hayes and Crawford at end.

Caltech plays only four conference games this season, meeting Occidental, Pomona, San Diego State, and La Verne. In addition, the Engineers take on an old rival in U.C.L.A.

"TIMES" BOWLERS OPEN BATTLE FOR TROPHIES

With sixteen teams matched on a thirty-week schedule the 1930-31 bowling league of the Los Angeles Times and Times-Mirror Company opened at Bimini alleys last night. In addition to thirty team and individual trophies $840 in cash prizes will be awarded during the tournament for place and point honors. The following teams will be represented in the annual league: Times-Mirror Cylinders, Times Circulation, Times Display Advertising, National Advertising, American Engraving, Composing Room, Times Press Room, Times Stuffers, Times-Mirror Office, Times Business Office, American Foundry, Times Editorial Department, Times Classified Advertising Department.

BRUIN FROSH ELEVEN MEETS PASADENA J.C.

Coach Freddy Oster's U.C.L.A. freshman football team will make its second appearance tomorrow afternoon on the Westwood gridiron when it clashes with the Pasadena Junior College eleven at 2:30 o'clock. The Bruin yearlings, heralded as the most powerful frosh ever to represent the local university, are heavily favored to defeat the junior collegians.

The Bruin frosh looked strong potentially last Friday against the Glendale Junior College eleven, and were more superior to the Pirates than the 9-to-7 score indicated. The yearlings' offensive rolled up nine first downs to two first downs for the junior college eleven.

RECORD PERCH CATCH HOOKED BY YOUNGSTER

HERMOSA BEACH, Oct. 2.—One of the largest catches of perch reported this year on the Olympic barge, anchored two miles offshore here, was brought in yesterday by Roy Child, a student at Fremont High in Los Angeles. Child had an even dozen of the tasty little flat fish.

Capt. J. M. Andersen, skipper of the Olympic, is looking forward to a great winter fishing season. Large catches of bonita, sand dabs and mackerel are being brought ashore daily by visiting anglers.

THE NOTRE DAME SYSTEM

TALK about football turnouts!

This is just part of the system that makes Notre Dame pre-eminent in the football world.

There are other wrinkles.

The traveling varsity is composed of forty men. Three men come up each week from the scrubs to replace three varsity squad men who go down.

That means an incessant and bitter fight to keep one's place on the varsity. College boys like to take those trips that Notre Dame teams make.

But that isn't all. The teams that are left behind—the fourth, fifth, sixth and so on down the line—are busy each Saturday. They have regularly scheduled games with out-of-town teams on Cartier Field.

It's a great system. No other institution in the country has it, and under that system—and with Rockne—you can always place the Irish eleven right up at the top—or near it—season after season.

A REAL MAGNET

THERE is some evidence that Dynamite Gus Sonnenberg will hang up a new "gate" record before he retires or is retired as the heavyweight mat king.

Even Jack Dempsey with the palmiest records of the fight game in his possession cannot touch the earning capacity of the former Dartmouth gridiron hero.

In the twenty-one months he has held the title Sonnenberg, it is estimated, has performed before crowds which have paid over $4,000,000 for the privilege.

Although he is booed and razzed by the fans for his rough tactics he has proved to be a remarkable magnet at the box office.

Although I have no idea of what his manager's cut amounts to, Sonnenberg in less than two years must have climbed into the millionaire class.

And he passes up no opportunity to add to the old bank roll.

Not even in his former racket, professional football. He will return to the old love for fifteen minutes in one game this fall, being guaranteed $2500 to play that length of time with his old team, the Providence Steam Rollers.

CORBETT IS SPARK

YOUNG CORBETT, the literally uncrowned welterweight champion of the world, put new blood in the boxing game at the Olympic the other night.

He raised it right out of the doldrums in one fell swoop, and by a classy although not one-sided defeat of Sammy Jackson enthused the fans over a sport which had been going in reverse gear.

The turnout was virtually 10,000 strong to see Corbett and Jackson, and now the local promoters are pricking up their ears again.

However, you must give the Corbett crowd credit for knowing their onions. Corbett was offered a guarantee of $5000 for the Jackson bout.

"Nothing doing," said Larry White, one of the managers. "We'll gamble on a percentage." They did, and Corbett dragged down over $6000. It was his second largest purse, the take for the Jackie Fields bout last February being over $10,000—an outdoor fight.

MACK WINS OVER HOOD IN FEATURE

Ernie Hood, suffering from a bad cut over his eye, was unable to respond for the fifth round in the main event at Pasadena last night, and Jimmy Mack was awarded a technical knockout over his rival. Physicians refused to permit Hood to continue. Young Ralph knocked out Louis Wooley in two rounds in the semifinal. The four-rounders: Jack Leyza outpointed George Starr; Auriel Austudillo outpointed Melvin Bobo; Harry Alton outpointed Honest Murphy; Kurt Becker knocked out George Simpson, one round.

MAX SCHMELING AIDS OLYMPICS WITH GIFT

BERLIN, Oct. 2.—Max Schmeling, who Sunday celebrated his twenty-fifth birthday, today handed the German Amateur Boxing Association $250 for its Olympic fund. All amateur organizations planning to send teams to Los Angeles in 1932 intend to start drives for the same purpose.

CASANOVA IN SHAPE FOR O'DAY RING GO

Sandy Casanova, Mexican light-heavyweight who returns to the ring at the Main Street Club tomorrow night after a long lay-off, is in great shape to start on his campaign for a place among the front rank 175-pounders. Casanova meets Eddie O'Day, a ringwise veteran of 200 battles.

ATHLETICS COP SECOND IN ROW

center and galloped home on Jimmy Foxx's booming double to center.

The heavy artillery was up again in the third but it would not have had a chance to continue the barrage except for a rank error by Frisch on Cochrane's grounder. Instead of being the third out, as it should have been, this put Cochrane safely on first and the A's, quick to seize any opening, produced another run on Simmons's two-base smash to right. Foxx was purposely passed, much to the disgust of Rhem, who reluctantly obeyed his orders from the bench, but the strategy failed to work. Bing Miller rapped a single to left and Simmons raced home.

KNOCKOUT WALLOP

Dykes handed the knockout wallop to Rhem in the fourth, scoring Boley, who had singled, and Bishop, who had walked, with a double to center.

Lindsey came to the rescue and the rally was abruptly closed when Gelbert grabbed Cochrane's drive on the run and retired Dykes at second with an unassisted double play.

Lindsey, who singled on his one and only turn at bat, was retired in favor of a pinch hitter in the seventh, George Fisher, after Mancuso had walked and been forced by Gelbert. Fisher merely lived up to the reputation of world's series pinch hitters of recent seasons by striking out with considerable vehemence, swinging in vain at two fast balls and a curve.

Johnson walked two A's, Bishop and Cochrane, in the seventh, but regained control, retired the dangerous Simmons, fanned Foxx, and then subdued the Mackmen in order in the eighth.

Frisch's double in the first inning was his forty-third hit in the world's series competition and gave him a new record, breaking the tie he established at forty-two yesterday with Eddie Collins, now the nonplaying captain of the Athletics.

The Fordham flash tried desperately at every turn to lift the Cardinals out of their slugging slump, but he played a lone hand except for the one circuit blow delivered by Watkins and he had no support whatever from Hafey and Bottomley.

These two heavy hitters, like most of their mates, spent the day popping up and out. Bottomley has yet to make a hit. So conspicuous was the way Earnshaw had the Red Birds "skying" their shots that there were only four putouts at first base on infield plays, three by Foxx and one by Earnshaw himself.

GLENDALE TRIUMPHS OVER MUIR ELEVEN

Coach Russ Cripe's Glendale Dynamiters exhibited quite a lot of pigskin prowess yesterday afternoon by drubbing the Muir Tech eleven, 19-7, in a practice tilt held on the Tech field in Pasadena. Capt. Bill Barton, starred for Glendale, scoring the first touchdown and passing to Brunning for the second. Cochrane, a sub backfield man, tallied the third score. A pass, Hoeffner to Gooden scored for Tech in the fourth quarter.

REDLANDS LEAVES FOR FRESNO GAME

REDLANDS, Oct. 2.—Coach Lee Trine of the University of Redlands set sail with a badly crippled football team to play with Fresno State at Fresno tomorrow night. For the roster of men out with injuries right now, the luck of the game having seemed to hit all in a bunch, reads like the first team. It includes Bell, star end; Keele, backfield; Holliday, backfield; Rabun, fullback, and Pete Beiden.

Beiden will probably play part of the game. Bell and Holliday are out with twisted knees, Rabun and Keele have broken hands. Beiden has a trick knee that is giving him more than usual trouble just now.

ANDERSON WINS

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2. (AP)—Joe Anderson, Covington, Ky., won a close decision from Vincent Forgione, Philadelphia, in a fast ten-round fight at the arena tonight. Anderson weighed 166½, four pounds more than Forgione.

SAGEHENS FACE AZTECS

Pomona College Eleven Takes on San Diego Gridders on Claremont Field Tonight

CLAREMONT, Oct. 2.—Fighting to remain in the championship race, Pomona and San Diego State College football teams open the Southern Conference season here tomorrow night on the most even terms they have met in recent years. The tilt is scheduled for 8 o'clock, and it will dedicate the new $4000 Pomona lighting equipment.

AL. PUTNAM

Because of past performances, and a strong bunch of letter men, the Sagehens are favored to open the schedule with a victory. Ten veterans, and a good-looking bunch of reserves, form the backbone of the Blue outfit, which this season is determined to regain the conference throne, occupied for the past two years by Occidental.

The Blue margin is slight, however, for the visitors boast a strong bunch of men. Gordon Cox, all-conference tackle, and voted the most valuable man on the Aztec squad last season, is an outstanding linesman, while Johnny Yamamoto, tricky halfback, is classed as one of the leading ball-packers in the circuit.

Indications today were that Jack Rimmel, transfer from Santa Ana Junior College, will start tomorrow in the Pomona backfield, in place of Hal Hager. Hager is a bit under the weather, but he may see action before the end of the fray. Rimmel, a speedy man, has looked good in practice.

Capt. Al Putnam, who will wear jersey No. 13, will call signals for the Sagehens. Putnam was one of the hardest-hitting backs in the circuit last year, and he is the latest of many brilliant Sagehen backs who have been shifted to the number-mumbling position.

Nixon was far from jubilant over the showing in practice of his squad. "I don't know what kind of a team we have," he said, "but I'll find out tomorrow."

The San Diego line, averaging 176 pounds, will outweigh the Sagehen forward wall, which averages about 174 pounds. Both backfields average the same, 164 pounds. The San Diego team average is 171 pounds, three pounds to the man more than Pomona.

Many of the visitors are new men, although several veterans have returned for duty. Tomorrow's tilt marks the debut in Southern Conference ranks of Coach Walter Herreid, former all-Coast tackle at Washington State. Herreid has the record of producing several championship elevens while a high school mentor on the Coast.

The probable starting line-ups:

Wt.	San Diego.		Pomona.		Wt.

Injuries Hit Oxy Gridders

Old man injury landed with a bang at Occidental yesterday and before he left three varsity players were on the shelf, while one of the best freshmen prospects was also through for the season. During a stiff scrimmage last night Jack Schurch, star guard, broke his nose, Capt. Jerry Chappell had his ear half torn off, while Art Elliott, flashy halfback, was laid cold for nearly an hour. Phil Linn, star frosh fullback, broke an ankle and will be on the sidelines until next fall.

Luckily the Tigers have a bye this week-end but will encounter stiff opposition next Friday night in the Rose Bowl when they face the Whittier Poets.

WILL ROGERS FOUR TO MEET UPLIFTERS

Polo with a real western flavor will be served up to the polo fans at the Uplifters' field next Sunday afternoon when Will Rogers's Cowboy polo team engages the Uplifters' four in a special match. Unless something prevents, Will plans to play No. 1 on the Cowboy team with his offspring, Will, Jr., in the No. 2 position. Snowy Baker has been asked to fill the pivot No. 3 berth, but as yet no selection has been made for the back position.

T. Lyell Puckett, Hal Roach, Lionel Pedley and Clair Brunson will represent the Uplifters for the day and they should be able to make a good job of it. Roach is one of the few left-handed players in the game, the only one in Southern California, and is among the highest-rated players at the Uplifters. He should add much to the strength of the team.

VON PORAT TO MEET SNYDER

CHICAGO, Oct. 2. (AP)—Otto Von Porat and Angus Snyder of Dodge City, Kan., were booked by Promoter Jim Mullen today for an eight-round heavyweight bout at the Coliseum the 10th inst.

CATHEDRAL VS. EL SEGUNDO

Coach Mike Pecarovich's Cathedral High eleven will be facing the stiffest opposition they have met this year when they journey down to El Segundo for a practice game with the tough beach outfit today. Cathedral will play without the aid of their leader, Capt. Bob Thornton who is laid up at present with a bad shoulder. El Segundo is said to have a strong team and will likely extend Pecarovich's boys to the utmost.

Ebding and Stennett to Lead Gaels

MORAGA, Oct. 2. (AP)—Fred Stennett, backfield ace of St. Mary's College, and Harry Ebding, veteran right end, today were elected co-captains of the Gaels for the remainder of the season. The election came as a surprise as last year the players voted not to have a captain this season. Last night Coach Ed Madigan asked the men if they were still in favor of the plan and the result was the naming of the two stars. Stennett will be captain of the St. Ignatius, California Olympic Club and Santa Clara games, and Ebding will lead the squad in the U.C.L.A., Gonzaga, Fordham and Oregon contests.

REDBIRDS LOSE VICTORY HOPES

Sad Flock of Cardinals to Journey to St. Louis

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2. (AP)—The hopes of the Cardinals are tumbling, confidence is seeping away, and the cocky, carefree "let's-get-at-'em" spirit of the Redbirds is giving way to a mild case of the jitters, a sort of shell-shock brought on by the thunder of the Athletics' siege guns.

The Cardinals stumbled up from their underground dugout after the last putout of the second game of the world series like a squad of rookies emerging from a week in a shell-battered trench.

In a single day the Cardinals have changed from a boisterous, challenging, daredevil gang to a squad of ball players who look as though they think some one has been playing practical jokes on them.

PITCHERS WHIPPED

Today the long-range guns boomed again and their own bats were silent. Meanwhile two defeats have piled against them and the A's are rolling easily along treating the series as though it were just another set of ball games to be won as rapidly and easily as possible. Two of the Cardinals' best pitchers have been whipped, the hitters aren't hitting and the fielders aren't always fielding. The general result is that the Cardinals are just about licked.

Only little Sparky Adams, the mite third baseman who got his hit and turned in one of the fielding gems of the day in throwing out Jimmy Dykes at first in the opening inning, had a word of hope as he trotted into the dressing-room.

"We've just got to beat them in St. Louis, that's all," muttered Sparky, but there was more desperation than confidence in his face.

Gabby Street, loquacious pilot of the flock, was as close to absolute silence as he ever gets. There was a glint in his eyes that probably meant some one was going to hear uncomfortable things once that dressing-room door closed.

"They just beat us, that's all," he said, "Earnshaw pitched better ball than Grove did yesterday. We made some mistakes and they hurt. We aren't getting any hitting from the top of the line-up. That hurts, too. Bill Hallahan will pitch the first game in St. Louis."

EARNSHAW CHEERED

Down the runway that led to the Athletics' dressing quarters, everyone was trying at once to pat the shoulders of "Big George" Earnshaw, brilliant Mickey Cochrane, smiling Al Simmons, the youthful Jimmy Foxx. Connie Mack ducked the celebration and scooted away to his mountain retreat in the club tower as fast as his long 67-year-old legs would carry him.

The A's, while hardly a bashful lot, all were eager to pass along the honors to someone else.

"Earnshaw was marvelous today," Mickey insisted. "He had his fast ball working perfectly. My home run? A curve ball on the outside a little low."

EN ROUTE TO ST. LOUIS, Oct. 2. (Exclusive)—The Cardinals are winging their way west in the somber migration of autumn minus two of their most important tail feathers, which were blown off in a series of recent explosions. George Earnshaw, the big Athletic right-hander, picked up where Bob Grove left off the day before and pulled out the second Red tail feather referred to, using his right hand and right arm largely for this purpose. Earnshaw and Flint Rhem started together but they finished as far apart as the price you paid for stocks and what they are selling for today. And that's further than either Earnshaw or Rhem can throw.

The Athletics won the second game, 6 to 1, without expending any effort along the sunlit route of a pleasant afternoon. With a big lead to work on and Earnshaw stepping at top speed, they seemed to be loafing after the fourth canto, closing out a dull, unexciting and rather poorly played game that had little flame left after Cochrane, Simmons and Foxx fired their opening salutes in the first inning, yielding a two-run lead that was never caught.

NEED TWO MORE

As a result, the two episodes that occurred in Philadelphia, Wednesday and Thursday, the Athletics now need only two more victories to win aother world championship for the genial Mr. Mack, and all the Cardinals have to do to prevent this is win four out of the next five games from a club that has looked far more powerful in the first two. It may be the Cardinals will turn into hawks back home and come back with beak and claw to make a worthy battle, but they must first find some pitcher who can curb or suppress Cochrane, Simmons and Foxx and they must find some hitters who can assault Grove and Earnshaw, who will soon be ready for two more personal appearances in front of St. Louis bats.

The Athletics took a big jump toward the promised land by winning the first two games. Connie Mack had to take something of a gamble by risking his two pitching mainstays with little in reserve in case of trouble, but the gamble came through. Maybe the crafty Mr. Mack knew that it wasn't much of a gamble after all.

Grove came through with an off day to battle against the Cards, and Earnshaw was poison after the second inning. But there was a sad, wailing banshee note in the winds that blew over the quaint village of Rhem, carrying its dirge forward into the cypress swamps just beyond. The coral snake lurked in the silences. Part of this was Rhem's fault and part of it belonged to his support, which was just a bit lumpy in two fatal innings.

There were experts who figured that Rhem's curve ball would tie Athletic hitters into a number of true lovers' knots and he started out to that effect by retiring Bishop and Dykes in the first inning. Then, with two out, Cochrane hit a home run, Simmons singled, Foxx doubled, and there was the ball game, before you had brushed the first peanut hulls off your vest.

SAME OLD YARN

Apart from Earnshaw's fine pitching it was the old, old story of the last two years—Cochrane, Simmons and Foxx.

Tinker to Evers to Chance remains as one of baseball's famous chants and the same can be said of Cobb, Crawford and Veach. But for sheer poison, the first award must go to this Athletic trio who walk around loaded with dynamite, gun cotton and nitroglycerin, merely waiting for the first chance to light the fuse.

The National League and the Cardinals are now desperate. The American League has won fourteen out of the last fifteen world series games played since 1926. Yankees and Athletics have slaughtered Cardinals, Pirates and Cubs and there is a general National League feeling that something must be done about it.

Earnshaw was a trifle rickety at the start. He allowed four hits in the first two innings, one of them a home run. After that he began to bear down with fine speed, good control and a fast curve ball which left the Cardinals roosting in the depths of a dismal swamp. They could not hit him with a handful of shot at two paces. The big fellow was riding the crest of a good day, one of his best, and after the first three innings the Cardinals barely had enough pep to finish the pastime.

They lost four straight ball games to the Yankees in 1928 and now they have dropped two straight to the Athletics in 1930. When you have suffered six consecutive major operations there is little left to the system between the instep and the scalp.

Both teams looked to be a bit moth eaten in the second battle, but the power of the Athletics and the pitching of Earnshaw covered up the Athletics' mistakes in the field. The Athletics could afford to blow themselves to a few loose intervals where the Cardinals could afford to make no mistakes against a club that could present Cochrane, Simmons and Foxx about every third inning. This trio has carried the banner of Mack along the highway for two years and through two world series.

OREGON STATE ARRIVES TODAY

November 1 and then November 8 California here. Tomorrow's game deserves patronage; it will be a pulse-quickener no matter which team wins.

Schissler has a powerful squad this year. Art Taaffe, O.S.C. publicity director, is authority for the statement that Schissler's line averages 191 pounds per man. That's exactly the same as Southern California's poundage, which means that the visitors will be just as large as the bulky Trojans. Added to this, Schissler's men are more experienced; his reserve material is the best he ever had, and the fact that his squad is in prfect physical condition and you have all the outward signs of trouble for the Trojans.

Local fans will see a much more versatile club than Oregon had last year. The 1929 Corvallis eleven was considerably below par. Schissler's backfield material is so plentiful that he will hold out his ace-in-the-hole, Reg Rust, until an opportune moment calls for his insertion into the battle. Rust hails from Santa Ana and plays left half for the visitors. He is a man of great speed and gets a lot of help from this sophomore, Little, who plays fullback for Oregon. Little is as highly regarded in the Northwest as Jim Musick is here, which is just about top hole.

Troy's plans call for the presentation of a backfield far more versatile than that of last year. Maybe the players are no more skilled than those in the past, but at any rate Jones's offense is more diversified than anything he has shown before. For one thing every member of the S.C. backfield has been throwing passes in practice.

Also Erny Pinckert, who gives promise of becoming Troy's greatest siege gun, will pack the pigskin today—if his number is called. And when Pinckert gets rolling along it's going to take more than one tackler to bring down this 195-pound battering-ram.

Last night's workout consisted primarily of signal drill and dummy scrimmage against Oregon State plays. Marshall Duffield's injured hand was so much better that he was throwing passes with all his old skill.

TWO HALFBACKS

Jones is still somewhat undecided as to whether he will start George Kirkwood or Tom Mallory at Marger Apsit's left halfback berth. Mallory is the better blocker and has had more experience, but Kirkwood has been coming along gradually and will probably get the call.

MACKS LIVE UP TO PREDICTIONS

the edge is certainly all with us as we move west to resume the series in St. Louis. The rest is going to do our two winning pitchers the most good, and it will not be a surprise if they should pick up where they left off and win these next two games in St. Louis.

However, just whom Manager Mack expects to throw at the Cards in our opening game in St. Louis is more a mystery to me than the two selections he has made so far. Because of the unusual and unlooked-for order in which our pitchers worked last year against the Cubs, a great many were led to believe there would be some similar trick allotment this year, but personally I don't see how anyone could have failed to suspect our two opening pitchers this year. I will admit, however, the third game presents an entirely different angle.

Undoubtedly, Manager Street will try to change his luck so far by working a left-hander, probably Hallahan, against us next, but I don't see how it can make any difference in our game. With the exception of Whitehill and Stewart in the American League, left-handers have not been particularly effective against us this season. These two left-handers did beat us, but no oftener than we beat them, so I am really not at all worried over the prospect of having our club go up against a southpaw instead of a right-hander.

HERE'S HOW A'S WINGED RED BIRDS AGAIN

FIRST INNING

Cardinals—Douthit lifted a high fly to Dykes, who caught it near the pitcher's mound. Adams flied to Simmons. Frisch smashed a drive over Simmons's head for two bases. Athletics—Bishop lined to Douthit. Dykes was thrown out by Adams on a nice play. Cochrane hit a home run over the right-field wall, his second of the series. Simmons singled to center. Foxx doubled to center, Simmons scoring. Miller grounded to Bottomley. Two runs, three hits, no errors, one left on base.

SECOND INNING

Athletics—Bishop grounded to Bottomley. Dykes struck out. Cochrane was safe at first on Frisch's fumble. Simmons doubled against the right-field fence and Cochrane scored. Foxx walked. Miller's single to left scored Simmons and Foxx went to third and Miller took second when Rhem messed up the throw to the plate. Haas lined to Douthit. Two runs, two hits, two errors, two left on base.

FOURTH INNING

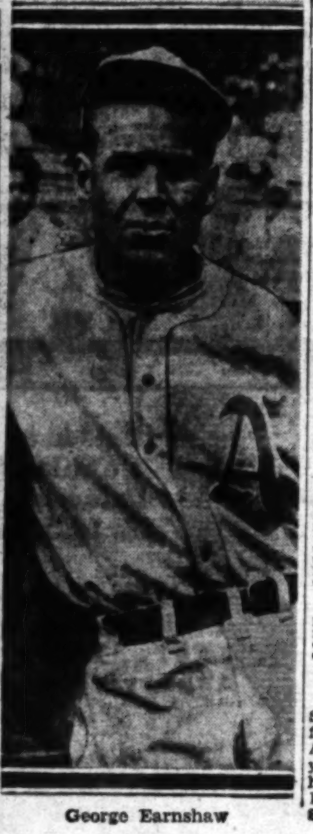
Athletics—Boley bounded a fast one off Gelbert's glove for a single. Earnshaw, after failing in two attempts to bunt, fanned. Bishop walked. Boley and Bishop both scored when Dykes doubled to center field. Lindsey replaced Rhem on the mound for St. Louis. Cochrane lined to Gelbert, who stepped on second before Dykes could get back to complete a double play. Two runs, two hits, no errors, none left on base.



George Earnshaw

EIGHTH INNING

Cardinals—Hafey grounded out, Boley to Foxx. Watkins went down swinging on a fast ball. Mancuso also struck out to end the game. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left on base.

Bruin Gridmen Incur Injuries

Two members of Coach Bill Spaulding's U.C.L.A. grid squad are laid up with injuries, and will in all probability be unable to play a week from tomorrow against the Pomona Sagehens in the Coliseum. Houghton (Fat) Norfleet, giant 235-pound tackle, and Dick Mulhaupt, end and star pass receiver, are the gridmen on the shelf.

"Fat" Norfleet had his tonsils removed this week, the organs having given him considerable trouble, and is suffering from the general after-effects of the operation. He will not be out for practice until the latter part of next week. Dick Mulhaupt incurred a severe side injury in the scrimmage with the frosh squad Wednesday, and will not risk a season of competition for one game.

Balm Plaintiff Sued by Wife

Mrs. Helen C. Shafer, whose husband, Fred L. Shafer, recently sued Fred W. Clampett for $75,000 heart balm, yesterday sued Shafer for divorce, asserting that her husband urged her to help him collect money from "a third party" by threatening an alienation suit.

Mrs. Shafer in her petition asserted that she refused to be a party to such a suit, and defied her husband's threats to "cause publicity" if she did not agree to aid him.

Shafer asserted in his suit against Clampett that the defendant promised to marry Mrs. Shafer if she would divorce her husband. Mrs. Shafer in her suit charges that her husband brought Vera Cross to his wife's apartment and made love to Miss Cross there. He also told Mrs. Shafer he didn't love her, she says.

TWO ROBBERS HOLD UP BANK

Florence-Avenue Institution Loses $3000

Burglar Alarm Found to Be Out of Order

Confederate in Car Blocks Path of Pursuer

Two young bandits yesterday obtained between $2000 and $3000 in a carefully planned and as well executed hold-up of the California Bank branch at 1548 East Florence avenue, a half-block from the Florence avenue substation of the Sheriff's office. A broken-down burglar alarm and a confederate in another automobile aided them in eluding capture.

The pair, described as about 26 years of age, entered the bank at 2 p.m., when few, save employees, were present. One stood at the entrance and produced a gun while the other stepped up to J. D. Farmer, manager, and commanded him and all others to throw up their hands. He then routed the tellers from their cages and helped himself to all cash in sight.

ALARM OUT OF ORDER

Meanwhile Farmer was stepping frantically on the burglar alarm button in a vain effort to make it ring. Inspection by Deputy Sheriffs Hart and Claxton later revealed all other buttons also out of order.

Gaining the street the bandits turned into Compton avenue, headed for their waiting Ford roadster. As they passed Miss Carmen Henderson, bank book-keeper, on her way back from lunch, one of them shouted: "Now try and get the Sheriff's office!" The two then sped away in their car.

PURSUER BLOCKED

Daniel Brenning, 1301 East Seventy-eighth street, started to give chase in his machine, whereupon, he reported, a man in a blue roadster appeared in front of him and zig-zagged across his course, preventing him from overtaking the fleeing bandits. Officers believe the blue roadster was a confederate car.

The branch looted yesterday was held up about two years ago, but the burglar alarm at that time worked successfully and resulted in capture of two men.

"LITTLE MAIDS FROM SCHOOL"

With Trojan Japanese Alumnis' Gift

From Old Nippon

Mary Oyama, special journalism student, and Yaeko Kusayanagi, senior in physical education, University of Southern California, present cloisonne vase, gift of Trojan Alumni Association of Japan.

Marking the fiftieth birthday of the University of Southern California, the Alumni Association of Japan has presented the Trojan college with a specially designed and made cloisonne vase, twenty-four inches high and twelve inches in diameter. It is being exhibited in Bovard Hall.

In a letter to Dr. Rockwell Hunt, dean of the graduate school, Prof. Richiro Honshi of Waseda University, president of the Japanese Alumni Association, said:

"Representing the University of Southern California Alumni Association of Japan, I wish to express our hearty congratulations to our alma mater on her golden anniversary. May we be permitted to express our heartfelt gratitude and indebtedness to the university whose kind instructors and inspirations are permanently ingrained in our personal make-up?"

An inscription on the vase says: "Presented to alma mater at semicentennial by the University Alumni Association of Japan."

The vase is inlaid with pictures of a Japanese persimmon tree with branches of heavy fruit. The Japanese Alumni Association, organized in 1917, has thirty members on its roster this year.

RIO GRANDE TO FEEL CURB

Boundary River, Long Source of Varied Troubles, Comes Under Flood-Control Bridle

BY J. D. HOLMES

The Rio Grande, the scene of many fights in the old days when the West was only a wide-open space—Indian against white man, cattleman against sheepman—is again the scene of battle. This time, however, it is neither a gun nor a legal battle being waged between individuals. It is a battle of individuals highly organized against the elements of nature and "Old Man River" himself.

This historical stream over which a treaty between two nations and a compact between three States was necessary to settle water disputes, is rapidly being conquered by an organization known as the Middle Rio Grande Conservancy District.

FLOOD CONTROL

The object of the district is to provide flood protection in the middle Rio Grande Valley for a population of 60,000 and to reclaim 125,000 acres of waterlogged land. The cost of the project will be more than $10,000,000.

It was not until August 26, 1925, that the organization was completed. In order to test the many constitutional questions involved, an appeal was expedited to the Supreme Court of New Mexico and a decision was rendered December 12, 1925, upholding the constitutionality and legality of the district in all phases. An appeal later was taken to the United States Supreme Court and upheld by that tribunal.

Flood control is the primary object of the project. The silt deposit from the Rio Grande tributaries has been for years filling up the main channel of the river until today the river bed in many places is much higher than surrounding territory.

RIVER RUNS WILD

This results in much of the land adjacent to the river being waterlogged. During the spring months when snow is melting in the mountains much overflow water sweeps down certain portions of the middle valley, damaging property and endangering lives.

The Rio Grande Valley is probably the oldest irrigated area in the United States. The first Spanish settlers found an irrigation system in use by the Indians. Historians differ as to age of the Indian system but it was in use in 1540, when Coronado first visited the country.

The Spanish settlers improved the system in use by the Indians and today there are sixty-seven irrigation ditches in the valley. These ditches are crudely built from an engineering standpoint and are inadequate.

EACH FOR HIMSELF

The present system in use was constructed without any central head, each community building its own ditch. There is much duplication of work, loss of water and time and misunderstandings between communities as to water rights.

Six canal systems now under construction by the Conservancy District will replace these sixty-seven ditches, furnishing more water at less cost.

Drainage ditches from eight to ten feet deep, ten feet wide at the bottom and approximately thirty feet wide at the top are now being excavated along the riverside.

The earth from these ditches is used in making a riverside levee, both operations being done at the cost of one. The drainage water will be turned back into the river and then diverted into irrigation canals. In this way seepage water which is now prohibiting the cultivation of land will be made to serve that purpose. About 400 miles of these drainage ditches will be excavated.

During the summer months the river south of Albuquerque is dry for a period of about forty days when irrigation water is most needed. Only partial crops are raised during an average crop year, but when water is scarce crops are almost a total failure.

To prevent such occurrences in the future the Conservancy District will build a dam on the Rio Chama, a tributary of the Rio Grande, which will have a capacity of about 300,000 acre feet of water. The dam site is in a narrow canyon and a natural basin just north of the site will be used for the storage of water.

The dam will be 1300 feet long, 175 feet high and 600 feet wide at the base. In addition to serving as a storage dam it will also serve as a detention dam, impounding flood waters during the early spring months. The estimated cost of this dam is $1,623,844. During the summer months water from this dam will insure cultivation of crops in the Middle Valley.

INDIAN AGRICULTURE

Indians are by nature and inclination, agriculturists and their reservations or land allotments along the valley are dotted with growing crops. The Indian, however, was up against the same proposition as the white man—seepage was ruining his irrigated land and from year to year his agricultural area was getting less.

For this reason the government appropriated $1,593,311 to take care of the Indian lands within the Middle Valley, making the Middle Rio Grande Conservancy District a Federal, as well as a State project.

Property within the district is assessed with a conservancy tax, industrials, corporations and urban properties paying 54 per cent and agricultural lands 46 per cent of the cost. Taxpayers are assessed in proportion to the benefits to be derived and the payments extend over a period of forty-five years.

BEST FOR ALL

By this method the taxpayers are given easy terms and the bond holders the desired security. The security of these bonds is that the State of Mexico is purchasing part of them.

In another four years the battle with "Old Man River" will be won—it will take that long to complete the job—and the victorious warriors can lay aside their picks and shovels, knowing they have conquered an empire.

OF THE COMMUNITY CHEST

TOM MAY SAYS:

"No business man of any discernment can say too much in favor of a Community Chest, the centralizing of charitable relief in all forms. From the standpoint of economy, alone, it saves to the use of actual human relief many sums of money that would otherwise need to be used for administration purposes.

"This year, more than ever, let those of us who have been tided over times of stress into the stride of prosperity again take heed for the many who are in want. Let us endeavor, this year more than ever, to give the utmost of which we are capable—both in recognition of the very real need—and as an expression in a very tangible way of our sincere thankfulness for our own present ability to give."

U.C. UNION HOME TO BE DONE SOON

Kerckhoff Building Will be Ready for Occupancy Next Spring

Kerckhoff Union Building, now under construction on the campus of the University of California at Los Angeles, will be completed about January 1.

The building which will be one of the major structures on the campus, is a gift to the university by Mrs. William G. Kerckhoff of Los Angeles, and is a memorial to her late husband. The cost will exceed $500,000.

In making the gift Mrs. Kerckhoff expressed two conditions, that the building be the most beautiful of the buildings on the campus, and that it be entirely adequate as a student union building. These conditions are being carried out.

Ample provisions are being made for the building to house the Students' Co-operative Store, the Students' Cafe, and furnish space for the various offices of the student body. Offices of the various student publications will be provided. The manager of the Associated Students will have ample quarters, as will the various coaches.

The structure will be used entirely for student affairs, with the exception of some space which will be devoted to quarters for the faculty club. Lounges for both men and women, as well as private dining-rooms, are being provided.

OHIO PICNIC SUNDAY

Former residents of Muskingum county, Ohio, will hold their semi-annual picnic Sunday, October 5, at Victor Park, Long Beach. All former citizens of Zanesville, O., are invited to attend and to bring their own lunches.

BARITONE FINDS WORLD AUDIENCES MUCH AKIN

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

"Audiences are the same everywhere. The listeners of every country like what they know," elucidated John Charles Thomas, one of America's most popular operatic and concert baritones, now singing here in opera. "When I sing an operatic aria in French and follow it with a song from 'Blossom Time' for an American audience and the 'Blossom Time' number gets the biggest hand—and then reverse the order in Paris, singing first 'Blossome Time' and follow it with the French aria, which gets the hand, it is not because Paris is more appreciative than America, but because Paris and America like what they know."

Thus does Mr. Thomas explain the difference in audience reactions. He has had an unusual opportunity to judge all kinds of listeners for this virile young singer of the distinctly Nordic-Saxon type began his career in the camp meetings of his Southern Methodist father, where he sang trios with his parents, graduating later from the Peabody Conservatory in Baltimore into the Winter Garden productions with Emma Trentini and becoming a light opera matinee idol. He put aside certain financial success in this field for the uncertainties and the politics of opera and is now leading baritone at the Theater Monale of Brussels, has sung with the opera companies of London, Berlin, Vienna and other European capitals and is now engaged for stellar parts for the Chicago Civic Opera.

Tonight Thomas sings an entirely different role from his magnetic Jokanaan of "Salome," for he appears with Clairbert as Germont in "La Traviata." He has sung often with Clairbert in Brussels and they are great friends.

John Charles Thomas has about the broadest shoulders ever seen outside of a tailor's window. He has a rather British aspect and, in fact, his parents were Scotch and English. From them he has inherited also a straightforward, expressive vocabulary, a direct blue eye and an aversion to intrigue and musical politics.

John Charles Thomas

His temporary home on a Hollywood hillside is gay with old friends from the motion-picture world who are welcoming him back. Thomas never expects to go back into pictures, however, for he does not expect opera to be a popular medium for the studios any time in the near future. His charming little wife is with him and the establishment is well guarded by Max, the Schnauzer Pinscher acquired five years ago at a Paris exhibition.

Pleas on Gas Vending Studied

Turning down the application of Wheaton & Townsend for permission to install gasoline vending machines where a customer pays 50 cents and gets a gallon can of gasoline, with the right to return the can and collect 25 cents, the Fire Commission was faced with a request for a permit for another gasoline vending apparatus from the Irby Vending Machine Company yesterday. It was referred to the fire chief.

The Irby apparatus enables automobilists to attach a hose on gas filling apparatus and buy 50 cents worth without the need of an attendant.

Filling Station Operation Cited

Charles Laws, operator of a gas filling station at 7323 South Western avenue, yesterday was cited by the Fire Commission to appear before it next Thursday and show cause why his permit should not be revoked following a report from the county bureau of weights and measures that he was convicted in Judge Wilbur Curtis's court of giving but six gallons and charging for eight gallons of gas.

Frank J. Berka, sealer of the bureau reported Laws pleaded guilty and was sentenced to thirty days.

Morrow's Aide Promoted

Salt Lake City Man Named as Ambassador to Mexico by Hoover

Retiring Diplomat Will Pay Embassy's Expenses to Help Successor

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3. (Exclusive)—J. Reuben Clark of Salt Lake City was appointed Ambassador to Mexico today, succeeding Dwight W. Morrow.

Behind this simple announcement issued from the White House late this afternoon, lies a story of public-spirited generosity probably unparalleled in the history of America's foreign relations.

Mr. Clark, who has served as counselor of the Embassy at Mexico City under Morrow, and as Undersecretary of State at Washington with special supervision over Latin-American relations, has been recognized as eminently fitted by training for this important post. He was the first choice of President Hoover and Mr. Morrow. But Mr. Clark, who has been in public service since 1906, is a comparatively poor man. He protested that he was financially unable to meet the expenses of maintaining the Embassy, it being well known that nearly all Ambassadors are forced to spend more than their salaries in meeting the social and other obligations of their posts.

MORROW TO PAY BILLS

Just as the President had about given up hope of inducing Clark to accept the post, even for a short time, in stepped Mr. Morrow. As his right-hand man in Mexico City for a long time, Mr. Clark had impressed Mr. Morrow strongly as one having a keen grasp of the problems in Mexico, and as one able to carry on the work of promoting friendly relations between the two countries along the lines Mr. Morrow had pursued. So Mr. Morrow offered to continue paying the running expenses of the Embassy out of his own pocket if Mr. Clark would accept the appointment. After a few days' thought, the offer was accepted and the appointment of Clark was announced.

It is understood that Mr. Clark agreed to serve for not more than eighteen months. He has been offered a partnership in a large law firm in New York and Washington and is anxious to accept it.

APPOINTMENT LAUDED

The appointment was hailed with satisfaction by those interested in preserving close relations between the United States and Mexico. His choice is in line with the Hoover policy of selecting men with wide experience in Latin-American affairs to fill diplomatic posts in the Latin-American countries.

After having been in government service almost continuously since
